so fast.

“Old man.” Suzi shouted.

Arron turned his head to look at Suzi: “What are you calling me?”

Suzi smiled: “It’s not mom, you will be fifty after the new year, and I’m only in my early forties. I’m not an old woman, but you are a real old man! I ask you. Your temples are gray, we Do you want to dye your hair on your wedding day?”

“No dye! I just want people to say that my old husband is marrying a young wife! I tell you, in the future, you will not dress me up!” Arron said, looking at his wife who looked ten years younger than him.

It’s unreasonable!

This old woman has never been old since she was young!

He is also forty years old when he is talking, why is he not old?

However, looking at his young wife, Arron became more and more happy.

He can’t wait for the day when he and his wife get married.

that day

sunny and sunny

clear sky

the weather is neither cold nor hot

There is no wind

On that day, two couples of newlyweds

In the biggest and best hotel in South City, hold a wedding for two people.

Those who came to attend the wedding gathered people from all walks of life in Nancheng and even the whole country.

There are not many relatives of Suzi, not many relatives of Arron, not many relatives of Galia, and not many relatives of Darius.

However, the relatives and friends of the four people together fully filled the large lawn of the Nancheng Hotel.

The two couples slowly walked into everyone's sight. Although they were not young people, they also had a different style.

Galia's parents couldn't close their lips together happily.

Their Galia is back.

In two years, after many repairs, Galia is already six or seven points similar to the previous ones, and the six or seven points of Yan's father and Yan's mother are enough to satisfy.

All the management and expenses of this grand wedding were paid by Suzi and Arron.

It is equivalent to Galia and Darius who just had a wedding.

Yan's father and Yan's mother also thanked Alyce: "Big sister, thank you."

Alyce looked at Yan's father and Yan's mother, then at his brother and sister-in-law, and said with a smile, "What's the matter, as long as the children are happy, it is the best."

Yes.

For Alyce, her children's lifelong happiness is her greatest wish.

Whether poor or noble.

No matter how many hardships you have endured, the hardships will always pass.

As long as the child can marry someone worthy of trust in the end, and live a happy life, it is the best.

Seeing the wedding host presiding over the wedding step by step, and seeing Arron kneeling in front of Suzi on one knee and putting on the wedding ring that had been stored for 18 years on Suzi's very solemnly, Alyce was excited. Tears.

"My only daughter, not only has both sons and daughters, but also has a considerate husband, and now she is finally married!" Alyce murmured.
