

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1125

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1125

Chapter 1125

Planet Callisto in the Royal Region. This was where the Callisto family, the second-ranked family among the eight prominent families, lived.

Fergus was lying quietly inside a building far from the main residence of the Callisto family in Planet Callisto.

After returning to his family, he lost his worth since he was crippled, so his family arranged for him to stay here with a few random servants to look after him.

This was completely different from his previous treatment.

This was normal for some big forces.

When you had value, you would be waited on hand and foot.

However, when you lost your value, you would be abandoned.

Fergus used to be one of the top three heirs of his family, and he was a promising candidate to take over the head's position. He had a lot of support from the family's cores, so he would receive special treatment for everything.

Now that he was just a cripple, he lost his value and stopped getting attention from his family. 1

They just tossed him to a random place to run his course. Out of sight, out of mind.

Even the cores who used to support him began looking for other candidates. These days, Fergus suffered discrimination and humiliation from his family, especially the heirs whom he used to suppress. They finally got a chance to avenge themselves.

Even the servants who took care of him would look down on him.

Fergus was just a piece of trash that could not move. Even if he was a direct descendant, he lost all value.

Did they not see how his family had given up on him?

Fergus endured all these silently. To be honest, after the black-robed man injected him with the mysterious liquid and went through hellish pain, his body recovered. Not only had it recovered, but his combat power had also increased. Now, Fergus was not the same as he was before. He had gone through a complete change, and his strength increased by leaps and bounds.

However, he did not tell anyone about this. After he was rescued, Fergus learned everything from the black-robed man. The black-robed man who saved him was a Sangruil Sinner, and the Sangruil Sinners were working with galaxy beasts, specifically the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

The unknown liquid they injected into him were the genes of a Nine-Headed Serpent.

Right now, Fergus had the Nine-Headed Serpent's genes inside him, and it was fused together perfectly. If he did not use the Nine-Headed Serpent's power, he would be no different from an average human. No one would be able to tell as well.

Only when he was using the Nine-Headed Serpent's power would he look half human, half beast.

It was rare for someone to have a perfect match with the Nine-Headed Serpent's genes. There were only less than ten people among the Sangruil Sinners who succeeded. All of them were prioritized, and King Moe of Sangruil was one of them.

Therefore, Fergus was also highly valued by the Sangruil Sinners and the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

His status was pretty high in Sangruil right now.

Of course, Fergus' identity had to be concealed now. Once he joined Sangruil and was exposed to possess the Nine-Headed Serpent's genes, he would be chased and killed by the empire. Even if his strength increased, he would be doomed. Thus, he had to hide for the time being. Even if he was insulted, humiliated, and discriminated against, he had to endure everything and not expose himself.

Fergus could only enter the light once Sangruil worked with the Nine-Headed Serpent to overthrow the empire.

He came back to his family with Sangruil's mission. Even though it was dangerous working with Sangruil, Fergus did not care. Rather than staying in bed forever and leading a dog's life for the rest of his life, it would be better to take this bet.

If he failed, he would just die. It would be better than lying in bed like a dog.

If he succeeded, his identity and status would completely transform.

Since he could fuse with the Nine-Headed Serpent's genes so perfectly, he might be the ruler of the Milky Way in the future.

His future would be similar to the current Emperor Nimbus.

This was something he could not achieve if he stayed in the Callisto family.

Moreover, he still needed to avenge himself.

He wanted David to feel what it was like to live a life worse than death.

This was also why he could endure the gene fusing process.

Creak!

Someone pushed open the door of Fergus's room. Two young maids came in with food.

"Master Fergus, it's time to eat."

Fergus lay motionlessly in bed, his eyes staring at the ceiling blankly.

As an heir ranked top three in the Callisto family, it would surely be hard for him to accept suddenly turning into a motionless piece of trash. This expression was just right for his situation. After the two maids entered the room, they carried the food to Fergus and started feeding him. Fergus never said a word during the entire process. He only chewed on his food passively.

After eating, the two maids left.

They did not stay and interact with Fergus.

Honestly, they did not want to take care of Fergus.

What future would they have taking care of a piece of trash that would never stand again? Wouldn't they waste their entire life on him?

However, they had no choice. Fergus was a direct descendant, after all. Even if he was not valued after being crippled, he could still enjoy the rest of his life peacefully. Since they were chosen to care for him, they had no reason to say no.

|

Just when the two maids walked out of Fergus' room, two men came over and hugged them.

The two men were the guards who were responsible for keeping watch. "What are you doing? Master Fergus is still inside." "What are you scared of? He's just a piece of trash that'll never stand again. Look at him. He can't speak, so what can he do to us?" "Yeah?"

Why are you scared of him? If it's not him, do you think we'll be arranged to stay in the middle of nowhere?"

"But..."

"No buts. Do you want to leave this place?" "Yeah. I even dream of leaving this place."
"Then let's trigger him so that he kills himself." "Alright."

Fergus heard everything from the bed.

An eerie smile appeared on the corners of his lips. His chest rose and fell rapidly, and it was evident he was pissed. His scales started appearing vaguely as well. As the four people entered Fergus' room, they never once paid attention to him. Suddenly, a figure appeared behind them.

When the four turned around, the two maids immediately passed out from fear.

Right now, Fergus' entire body was covered in scales, and his hands and feet had turned into claws. A tail was swinging behind him, and there were horns on his forehead.

"M-Master F-Fergus." "Looks like you're having fun. You can continue having fun in hell," Fergus said with a smile. His smile looked so scary.

"N-N-No!"

"Ah!"

Fergus transformed into a Nine-Headed Serpent before eating the four. The galaxy beast, Nine-Headed Serpent, loved eating humans. Since humans were the most efficacious creatures, eating humans would help them grow. Since Fergus was fused with the Nine-Headed Serpent's genes, he naturally also picked up their habits.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1126

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1126

Chapter 1126 After Fergus ate the four, he licked his lips and was still unsatisfied. It was as if he had not had enough of the exotic delicacies, and he still wanted to continue eating. As the top three direct descendants of the Callisto family, Fergus had eaten so many things before.

He had even eaten many kinds of galaxy beasts.

Even though the ones he ate were ranked amongst the lowest galaxy beasts, like in the hundreds or maybe even more, they were still magnificent meals.

Not everyone could eat such things.

However, Fergus had never had this feeling before.

After Fergus ate the four, he felt like his strength had increased.

This feeling pleased him.

It was as if his body and soul were raised to a higher level.

Anyone would like it if they tried. "How do you feel?"

A voice entered Fergus' ears.

Unbeknownst to him, a black-robed man had appeared next to him.

Fergus was not surprised. It was as if he knew the black-robed man would show up. "Great! I'm filled with power, and I've never had this feeling before. It's so awesome," Fergus said with a grin. "You have a bright future since you can perfectly fuse with the Nine-Headed Serpent's genes. When Sangruil overthrows the empire and takes over the Milky Way, you'll be a Sangruilian and have unlimited power," the black-robed man said.

"I understand, Master. You gave me a new life. If not, I'll be lying in bed waiting for my death and getting insulted by these lowly servants. Now that I am in this stage, I can't go back anymore. Sangruil is my home." "It's good that you understand. We are on the same page, so make a move now. His Majesty said Emperor Nimbus got hurt recently, so we must seize this opportunity. Let's overthrow the empire and replace them as the ruler of the Milky Way. His Majesty has asked the Nine Headed Serpent Clan for help. When help arrives, we will attack Planet Royal immediately and destroy the Barlowe family to take back everything that belongs to Sangruil," the black-robed man said excitedly.

Clearly, the Sangruil Sinners had been waiting too long for this moment. They had been dreaming of this day for the past thousands of years.

However, as time passed, their hope became further and further away.

Finally, when all Sangruil Sinners thought they had no chance to make a comeback, King Moe decided to cross the perilous Zone of Nothingness to find allies in the Beast Galaxy.

Then, the Nine –Headed Serpents joined them. Even though the Sangruil Sinners became half human, half beast humans, they did not care. They were willing to sacrifice everything to overthrow the Milky Way Empire and become the ruler of the Milky Way.

These Sangruil Sinners became desperate to take back when they had.

They even promised the Nine–Headed Serpent Clan that after they wiped out the Barlowe family and became the ruler of the Milky Way, they would give 10% of the Milky Way to the Nine–Headed Serpents, and the humans in this area would be the Nine–Headed Serpent Clan’s food.

They could rear the humans in this area. By working steadily, little by little, they could catch and eat the humans there any time they wanted

The Sangruil Sinners were disregarding the lives of all humans in the Milky Way.

One would not be falsely accusing the Sangruil Sinners if they said the Sangruil Sinners were traitors of the human race.

Therefore, the Nine–Headed Serpent Clan was very supportive of them. As long as they helped Sangruil to be the rulers of the Milky Way, they could then come into the Milky Way authoritatively and fairly.

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 1127

I’m A Quadrillionaire chapter 1127

Chapter 1127

Even the Universe Convention would not stop the allies from moving around.

As for whether Sangruil would go back on their promise after they succeeded, the Nine Headed Serpent Clan was not worried about that.

They were that confident as they were ranked top ten among the galaxy beasts. “Master, His Majesty hurt Emperor Nimbus? Why didn’t His Majesty kill Emperor Nimbus? If he died, the Milky Way Empire would collapse at any time. Then, it’d be easier for us to take over. It will also be easier to handle the ones who want to resist,” Fergus said in confusion.

“Even though His Majesty injured Nimbus, Nimbus also injured His Majesty. Both sides suffered a loss, but since His Majesty has the help of Lord Severus of the Nine–Headed Serpent Clan, he will recover soon. On the contrary, Nimbus can’t. He needs some time to recover, so he won’t leave Planet Royal nowadays. This will be our chance,” the black–robed man answered

“If His Majesty can hurt Nimbus, then with Lord Severus from the Nine–Headed Serpent Clan’s help, they could kill Nimbus, right? Why do they still need help from the Nine–Headed Serpent Clan?”

“Your previous identity was too low, so you don’t know a lot about the core of the Milky Way. Since you’re a Sangruilian now and you can fuse with the Nine–Headed Serpent’s genes perfectly, you’re regarded as one of the cores of Sangruil. Therefore, I don’t mind telling you some things. To be honest, Nimbus is not the only one at partial Eternal Realm in the Barlowe family. Even if His Majesty worked with Lord Severus, they might not win.”

“What? Is there another one at partial Eternal Realm on the same level as Emperor Nimbus? Who?” Fergus asked in shock.

He always thought Emperor Nimbus was the strongest in the Milky Way

Not only him, almost all of the forces in the Milky Way thought the same.

The emperor’s reputation had a real impact on everyone. Back then, Fergus thought he was an invincible presence. Even after fusing with the Nine–Headed Serpent’s genes perfectly and increasing his strength, Fergus still looked up to the emperor.

Now, he found out there was another person on the same level as the emperor in the Barlowe family.

How would Fergus not feel shocked? “This person should be Nimbus’ uncle. According to the information collected by Sangruil, this person was ranked ninth among the previous generation of princes in the Milky Way Empire. His name is Wilfred Barlowe. Back then, he was also a stunning character. He was also not inferior to the previous emperor. However, it’s alleged that he never desired power. If not, there would have been a fierce battle during the last battle to be emperor. This level of conflict would have resulted in the empire losing a significant amount of firepower,” the black–robed man roared.

Chapter 1127

‘Wilfred Barlowe?’

Fergus had never heard this name before.

It seemed that his identity was indeed too low.

He had no idea about many things in the Milky Way’s core.

However, it was different now.

Fergus transformed into the Sangruil's core royalty.

He had the right to know all secrets of the Milky Way

After Sangruil overthrew the Milky Way Empire and took over the Milky Way, Fergus would be the master of this galaxy. When that happened, he would learn the deepest secrets of the Milky Way.

"I see! I got it, Master. Let's get a move on. We'll start from the Callisto family and then corrupt the other forces. Even if we can't defeat Emperor Nimbus, we can pave the way for His Majesty. When the Barlowe family is wiped out, we'll immediately take control of the situation," Fergus said. "Exactly! So, we have to move quickly. If we can't control the situation after we wipe out the Barlowe family and the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan's help arrives, His Majesty will get mad," the black-robed man agreed.

The black-robed man did not tell Fergus that even after they destroyed the Barlowe family, Sangruil would still be face a counterattack if they did not corrupt more than half of the forces in the Milky Way.

The main reason was the terms that Sangruil accepted. Once they destroyed the Barlowe family, Sangruil would give the Nine-headed Serpent Clan 10 % of the Milky Way. This would be betraying all the humans in the Milky Way.

If they were not careful, they would be opposed by everyone in the Milky Way.

This was no joke.

If there were enough ants, they could kill a galaxy beast,

If not, they would not need to go through so much trouble.

They could just wait for help from the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan to destroy the Barlowe family.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1128

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1128

Chapter 1128 David and Mia continued moving forward in the Octagon. Since they were getting closer to Planet Royal, the Octagon ran into more and more living planets.

They were almost at the most prosperous place in the area. If they continued moving forward, they would reach Planet Royal soon.

That was the heart of the Milky Way. At this moment, Mia suddenly got a piece of news. Someone wanted to sell one of the huge chambers of commerce.

The price would reach two trillion Galaxy Dollars.

Mia told David immediately.

When David heard two trillion Galaxy Dollars, he was intrigued.

That would be twenty thousand lavish points. Even though he could not break through his current rank yet, he would have a hundred lavish points if he completed two more similar transactions.

That way, David could take a step forward and surpass Emperor Nimbus to be the number one in the Milky Way. Plus, according to the history of the Milky Way, as long as one could reach Eternal Realm, they would be supported by the entire Milky Way and recognized as the Master of the Milky Way. By then, they could lead the Milky Way to become a level 4 civilization. This was what countless elders of the Milky Way worked hard for.

However, even if there were countless talented monsters in the history of the Milky Way, no one had ever done this.

Thus, it could be seen how difficult it was to break through to Eternal Realm and become the Master of the Milky Way. It seemed like partial Eternal Realm was the limit for the humans in the Milky Way. It was impossible for them to keep progressing. However, David was not restricted by that. He had a remnant of a God Tier Civilization, the super lavish system, so as long as he had enough lavish points, it would only take him half a day to break through to Eternal Realm. He was destined to be the first person to break this limit and continue progressing. David asked Mia to contact the person at once. No matter the price, he had to buy this chamber of commerce.

After Mia found out about the details, she found that the force controlling the chamber of commerce was on a planet not far from where they were.

David immediately decided to buy the chamber of commerce before going to Planet Royal. To him, even though lavish points were not that urgent, it was still necessary. Next, the Octagon changed its route and headed to its new destination. Planet Staub was a huge living planet.

At the same time, it was also a trading planet.

It was a planet for other forces to trade on. Planet Staub did not belong to any forces. Instead, many huge forces simultaneously managed it.

Since the daily trading volume on this planet was huge, none of the forces could take it down. Hence, everyone would just run it together.

There were a lot of similar planets in the Royal Region. Almost all of the chambers of commerce would be built and established on trading planets like this.

All kinds of things were sold here. A trading planet like this would be called a money-squandering establishment. As long as you had money, you could get anything you wanted. Of course, something like a Nine Turning Star Iron was not on the list.

was

Even if it was, no one would recognize it.

David's East League Chamber of Commerce had a market presence after he combined it with the few smaller chambers of commerce.

However, the smaller the chamber of commerce, the smaller its market presence. Therefore, their trading volume would also be small.

This was David's destination.

After the Octagon landed on Planet Staub's galaxy pier, David walked out with Mia. As for the others, they would stay to watch the Octagon. Mia contacted the seller in advance, and decided they were going to meet at an arena.

An arena was a place for entertainment.

There would be countless battles there every day.

It could be a battle between beasts or even humans. This was the first time David entered an arena. After paying a certain ticket fee, David and Mia could hear deafening roars the moment they walked in.

David frowned, and he was curious.

'How are we going to talk about business in this place?

'It's even noisier than a bar on Earth.'

To be honest, David did not like this place.

He preferred somewhere quiet.

The roars came from a tunnel, so David and Mia walked into the tunnel.

Then, they came to a tall platform. The platform was round, and there were stairs around it.

It seemed like a football stadium, but it was much bigger. The lowest platform was about ten meters above the ground.

“Kill it!”

“Kill it!”

“Go! Bite it!”

“Yeah, that’s right! Kill it!” Countless people were watching a battle between two beasts below. They were yelling and roaring with all their might. It was as if they wanted to vent their displeasure.

David did not know what breed the beasts were in battle.

One of them looked like a wolf, while the other looked like a crocodile. However, they only looked slightly similar. There were a lot of differences between them and regular creatures on Earth as well; for example, their fangs were longer, and they were about ten times bigger than the ones on Earth.

The two beasts looked as if they had been given stimulants. They were biting at each other while ignoring the wounds on their bodies.

The wolf – like beast’s front paw was bitten off, but it was still biting on its opponent while ignoring its wound. It was as if it could not feel any pain.

David and Mia’s presence did not attract anyone’s attention.

Everyone was watching the battle down below.

They had placed their bets.

Some of them not only placed their fortune in this battle, they even borrowed a lot of money.

If the beast they bet on lost this battle, they could only kill themselves.

David watched this battle for a while, but he was not interested. It was too noisy and not a good place for discussion.

He led Mia out of the tunnel.

Even though it was also noisy here, it was not as loud as inside. Now, he could hear what Mia was saying “Call the person and ask where we should go. How can we talk business here? Are they taking us for fools?” David said to Mia with a frown.

Right now, he was clearly displeased. “This is not a f*cking business negotiation. That person is taking us as a joke.” “Alright, David,” Mia quickly answered.

Then, she started contacting the other party.

She knew David was starting to get impatient.