

THE VIRGIN'S REVENGE

Chapter 9 The Guilt 2

"You know every single day, he paused in his speech trying to hold back the tears that were threatening to stream down, I live with this guilt Ehad of having ruined the life of a young girl.....she.....she.....his voice cracked.....she begged for us to stop but we.....we fucked up her entire life.....we fucked it all up," he finally broke down.

Ehad saw the overwhelming pain his friend was undergoing and for all the years they'd been close, not once had he seen Kyle show his emotions not even when he first confessed the crime to him.

But today he exposed all his feelings something that he had mastered the art of concealing, one would never know if he was happy or sad but he was venting it all out today.

Kyle's despondency made his heart twitch with pain, he moved closer and hugged him tightly he was out of words of comfort.

All he did was reassure him of how all would be fine and how it wasn't his fault.

After minutes of wailing, Kyle finally composed himself back to his calm demeanor.

Ehud broke the silence by asking "so why don't we start up a search for her."

"It's impossible to look for a person i barely remember."

"Huh."

"I have a vague image of her i've tried everything in my power to recall her but it's all in vain," he said massaging his temples.

Ehud sensed a headache and invited him out for a drink which Kyle agreed to saying he needed a breather.

Kyle returned home after a long day he found his brothers drinking a bottle of cabernet sauvignon while chatting happily.

He moved straight upstairs ignoring them, his actions infuriated Roshan who was sick and tired of his recent attitude towards them.

"Hey where the hell do you think you're going," he stopped him angrily.

Kyle furrowed his eyebrows "to my room where else would i be going to," he answered with a isn't it obvious look.

Leon sipped his wine and said "well we need to have some chit chat so come put your damn ass down the couch."

He knew his brothers wouldn't let him go so he headed back downstairs and sat next to Liam.

"Why don't you have a drink with us," Raphael said while pouring the wine in the goblet glass.

"No thank you the last time i drank with you guys i got my self into a lewd disdainful act," Kyle maintained his cold gaze that shot daggers at them.

They didn't get his point so they ignored him "well your loss this is the best wine all the way from Italy," Leon toasted happily with Roshan.

"Could you cut to the chase please i've had a long day and i'm exhausted."

Liam replied him "look Kyle we need an explanation as to why you act so coldly towards us and everytime you get back home from work you seem to be in a reverie and honestly speaking we are worried about you."

Though Liam was alot like his brother's in their ruthless character, he still had a soft spot for Kyle and was utterly concerned about him.

So he convinced them into finding out why he was to distant with them.
