

The Mans Decree Chapter 2396

Kai had lost count of the phantoms he killed with Dragonslayer Sword atop the unnamed mountain. At that point, he had already acquired eight marks on his body. One more, and it would be completed.

Unfortunately, regardless of how many phantoms he killed, the last mark simply wouldn't appear. "Does attaining the last mark require something special?" Kai was feeling rather dejected. If killing phantoms can't give me the final mark then there is no point in slaying more of them.

As he looked down at the humongous phantom over a dozen meters tall, he grew restless and wondered out loud, "If I kill that big guy, will the ninth mark finally appear?"

In the end, he leaped from his spot and dove toward the giant phantom. I'll give it a try right now. I have the Divine Bow, anyway. There's nothing these phantoms can do to me. If I can't win, I'll just run back to the peak.

He swung Dragonslayer Sword twice, cutting open a path for himself. Then, he swiftly arrived before the giant phantom. The humongous phantom growled in frustration when it spotted Kai because none of the other phantoms could do anything to him even though it had been days.

Evidently, it was pissed off. Without wasting time, Kai swung his sword in the direction of the giant phantom. Sparks flew when Dragonslayer Sword made contact with the phantom's tough armor.

Unfortunately, the weapon was still incapable of shattering the phantom's armor or causing the phantom any harm. The giant phantom roared and attempted to slap Kai forcefully. Kai was agile enough to evade that attack instantly.

Facing the giant phantom before him, Kai thought he should find its weak spot. A second later, he noticed a spot on the phantom's neck that he could stab the Dragonslayer Sword into. Hence, he leaped toward the phantom's neck with the glowing sword in hand and thrust the weapon into its throat.

Kai succeeded in piercing the phantom's neck, and the sword actually penetrated it completely. He was overjoyed upon witnessing that, thinking that was enough to eliminate the phantom.

To his utter surprise, the giant phantom didn't seem affected at all. That attack merely served to enrage it further. It howled as it tried to slap Kai again with both of its hands.

Terrifying lethal intents transformed into tornados, sending Kai flying into the distance. After he crashed onto the ground hard, he expeditiously rose and waved his hand, summoning Dragonslayer Sword back into his palm. Without delay, he bolted toward the mountain peak.

Sitting at the mountaintop, he peered at the phantoms below him and cursed at them. He was currently no match for the humongous phantom. Can I even kill that thing? Thank goodness for the Divine Bow. Otherwise, I would've been swarmed by phantoms. But still....

"Godd*mmmit! Why can't I just pull this stupid bow?" With the ranged weapon in his hand, he furiously attempted to draw the string again. Surprisingly, he succeeded that time. A golden arrow appeared on the weapon in a blink of an eye as he pulled the bowstring back.

Excitement danced in Kai's eyes as he stared at the Divine Bow. I can't believe I managed to draw the bowstring! As soon as he achieved that feat, the phantoms below the mountain turned around in fear and sprinted away.

Even the giant phantom desperately dashed away from Kai's line of sight. Without hesitation, he aimed the bow at the giant phantom and released the bowstring.

Whoosh! The golden arrow zipped through the air. In a blink of an eye, it pierced through the giant phantom. It couldn't even shriek before it dropped to the ground and morphed into a gust of lethal intent that flew straight toward Kai.

The minute that aura entered his body, his ninth Ultimate Force mark finally lit up.
