

The Mans Decree Chapter 2409 -

Kai stood before the mouth of the cave, not daring to push open the door and step in. He missed his mother every second of every day, but when it was time to meet her for real, he did not know how to face her.

Just when he was about to push open the door at the mouth of the cave, it swung open from inside. On the heels of that, a woman in white walked out. Their eyes met and held.

Although they had never met each other, the sense of familial bond that came from the same blood flowing through their veins promptly sparked to life within them at that very moment. "Kai, my son?" Beatrice ventured softly, her eyes pinned on Kai..

"Mom!" Kai cried out loudly. Tears streamed down his face, and he dropped to his knees before her. In a flash, Beatrice's face was also stained with tears. She hugged her son tightly, both crying their hearts out.

Witnessing such a scene, Cecilia and the others also shed tears. Roanna was similarly moved, understanding the depth of a mother's pining for her child. Shifting her gaze to Santiago in front of her, she gave him a hard kick.

"Look what you've done!" In her way of thinking, Kai might have been able to meet his mother long ago if Santiago had not kept Beatrice in Gate of Thunder's secret realm.

Hailey also glared at her father furiously, never having expected him to be such a person. Santiago wanted to explain things, but he had no way of defending himself then.

When Kai and Beatrice had wept for a while, the latter quickly ushered everyone into the cave. The inside of the cave was as warm as it was during spring, and the décor was exceedingly luxurious. Therefore, it would seem that Beatrice's life there had been pretty good.

In spite of that, Kai had no plans of letting Santiago off the hook. Ultimately, his mother had been confined there for a long time. If it were not for the man, he would have long since been able to meet his mother.

“It must have been difficult for you, Mom. I’ve killed Ryker and Edgar. I’ll never spare anyone who picked on you!” While saying that, he swung his eyes at Santiago, the look in them glacial.

“Don’t get things wrong, Kai! I didn’t do anything to your mother. I only kept her here out of consideration of her safety,” Santiago hastily clarified upon sensing the man’s murderous gaze.

“Indeed, Mr. Hargreaves didn’t do anything to me, Kai. Besides, things have been pretty good for me here all this time,” Beatrice seconded.

At her words, the murderous intent in Kai’s eyes slowly faded. “I came to take you away from here to return to Jadeborough, Mom. When we arrive in the city, you can enjoy life,” he declared. “Okay, I’ll leave with you!” Beatrice nodded. Then, she turned her gaze to Cecilia and the others before asking, “Who are these girls?”

“They... They are...”

For a moment, Kai did not know how to introduce Cecilia and the others. “We’re Kai’s girlfriends, Mdm. Deragon. After you return to Jadeborough, you can enjoy life with peace of mind, and we’ll take care of you,” Cecilia chimed in graciously, slowly stepping forward.

“All of you?” Shock inundated Beatrice. But in the next heartbeat, it transformed into delight. With a smile adorning her face, she remarked, “Good, good. Great, in fact! Since you have so many girlfriends, do I have lots of grandchildren now?”

Kai lowered his head, not quite sure how to answer his mother. If I were to say she hasn’t a single grandchild, would she be utterly disappointed?

Seeing that, Cecilia hurriedly spoke up for him, divulging, “Kai has never forgotten about you all this time, Mdm. Deragon. He vowed that he wouldn’t bed us before saving you. Hence, we’re still virgins right now.”

When Beatrice heard that, she eyed Kai and chastised, “Don’t you know how to weigh the situation, silly? Were you planning to remain childless for ten years if you couldn’t save me for that long? Let’s leave quickly. When we arrive back in Jadeborough, go all the way with them. With so many of them, I’ll likely have many grandchildren at once.”

The Mans Decree Chapter 2410 -

At Beatrice's words, Cecilia and the others flushed bright red. Meanwhile, Beatrice was beyond eager to leave and return to Jadeborough. Just as Kai was going to leave with his mother, Santiago blocked his path.

Initially, he wanted to entrust Hailey to Kai since the latter seemed to be a decent man. Regretfully, there was a bevy of women by his side then.

However, if Hailey did not leave with Kai, their entire family would end up dead when Brad and Claus came tomorrow. In the end, he had no other choice but to implore, "I hope you can take Hailey with you, Kai. If she were to stay, she'd definitely lose her life."

He was familiar with his daughter's temperament and knew that she would never agree to marry Claus. Brad and Claus would surely slaughter them all for that. "I'm not leaving, Dad, I want to stay and keep you both company."

Hailey shook her head in demurrals. She liked Kai, but she had never imagined her would have so many women around him. For a moment, she could not accept it.

No matter what, she was the heiress of Violet Cloud Palace. Thus, she was somewhat averse to sharing a man with multiple women. Unbeknownst to her, all the women by his side were once heiresses as well. "Let Kai take you away, Hailey. It's meaningless for you to stay," Roanna coaxed.

Sobbing bitterly, Hailey hugged her mother tightly. Upon seeing that, Beatrice inquired, "What's going on here, Kai?" Kai proceeded to tell her the matter about Gate of Thunder's secret realm. A slight frown marred Beatrice's countenance.

"If you have a solution, Kai, do consider lending Mr. Hargreaves a hand," she appealed. In truth, Kai had not planned on saving Violet Cloud Palace, for as far as he knew, his mother was imprisoned by Santiago.

But right then, he had ascertained she had been living a pretty good life. On top of that, she proposed helping the man. For that reason, he gave a bob of his head.

"You should just leave, Kai. I'd be grateful if you could bring my daughter along and treat her well. Brad's capabilities are above mine."

That aside, he has appropriated the whole of Gate of Thunder's secret realm and has thousands of disciples under him. Even if you were to stay and help me, Violet Cloud Palace is no match for Waxing Crescent Castle."

Santiago dissuaded Kai from staying to help because he knew the latter's capabilities. Besides, even if Kai and his party were to do so, it would merely be a drop in the ocean.

"Mr. Hargreaves, I naturally have a way to deal with Brad. As for Waxing Crescent Castle's thousands of disciples, I'll figure out another solution."

Kai had Divine Bow in hand, so it went without saying that he did not fear Brad. As for Waxing Crescent Castle's thousands of disciples, he racked his brain for ideas.

"What solution could there be? Brad and Claus are coming tomorrow. There's no time left." Santiago shook his head in resignation. He no longer had the will to fight, merely hoping that his daughter would be able to survive.

"There must be a solution." Determination was written all over Kai's face. He then said to Cecilia, "Cecilia, Evangeline, you all stay and take care of my mother here. I'll go and work something out."

Cecilia and the others nodded while Beatrice urged, "Don't put up a tough front if there's nothing you can do, Kai. Your safety takes precedence." "Don't worry, Mom. I'll accomplish any request from you, even if it means taking extreme measures!"

Having said that, Kai strode out. At that moment, he had to figure out where to get the sheer amount of backup needed. While he had a number of people in the mundane world, their capabilities were too low. If they were to come to the secret realm to battle, they would be nothing more than cannon fodder. That would be pointless.

In the hidden realm, Matthew and Yashur were relatively strong. Alas, their numbers were too few. It would be of little use for them to come over.

"Feenix? I can go to the demon beasts' secret realm to look for her, then lead the demon beast army here to help." All of a sudden, Kai thought of Feenix.

Ever since he fell into a coma after sustaining an injury and bedded her in his dreams, he had been worried about her. I wonder how she is right now after saving me.
