I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1677—On the luxurious spaceship of the Lightfoot family, Cornelius saw no movements on the Fellowes family's merchant ship on the opposite side.

He murmured to himself, 'What is happening?

'Why haven't they brought Alba out by force?'

This time, he spent a lot of money to find out Alba's whereabouts and the strength of the guards around her.

He also hired two beginner Sovereign Rankers just to avoid any accidents.

However, one of them had been in the Fellowes family's merchant ship for so long and had yet to bring anyone out.

Logically speaking, Alba should not have the ability to resist.

Just when Cornelius was about to call the other beginner Sovereign Ranker to go in to check the situation, a sudden shrill scream could be heard from the Fellowes family's merchant ship, making Cornelius and the others shudder.

They could naturally hear whose scream that was.

Immediately afterward, before they could react, a huge golden phantom slowly rose with the Fellowes family's merchant ship as the center.

Someone was casting the Eternal Golden Body.

As for who it was, they had no idea since the golden phantom had not been formed yet.

However, Cornelius already had an answer in his mind.

When he recalled the miserable scream just now, he knew that the one who was casting the Eternal Golden Body now had to be the beginner Sovereign Ranker on board.

All eyes were on the golden phantom.

However, after only a moment, the golden phantom completely dissipated from everyone's view before it fully formed.

'Um...'

Cornelius was dumbfounded.

Another beginner Sovereign Ranker standing behind the Fellowes family's merchant ship was also dumbfounded.

The other people that Cornelius brought along were also dumbfounded.

There were only two possibilities for why a Eternal Golden Body would dissipate halfway.

One was when the caster stopped it themselves, and the other was because the caster was hurt, had a serious injury, or died.

Due to this, they could not maintain the Eternal Golden Body.

Judging from the situation, it was very likely that the beginner Sovereign Ranker's body was seriously injured, which caused him to fail to cast the Eternal Golden Body.

'What is hiding inside the Fellowes family's merchant ship?

'Even a beginner Sovereign Ranker went and never returned.'

This was the question in the hearts of all onlookers.

Cornelius' heart also rose to his throat at this moment.

The beginner Sovereign Ranker was the strongest combat power he brought along.

If Alba could kill one of them, it was possible she could kill another one.

However, Cornelius had no idea what was going on inside the ship.

The unknown was the scariest and most frightening.

At this time, Cornelius was ready to retreat.

The support of the employer was very important, but what was more important was his life.

He did not want to fall into the hands of that woman named Alba today.

As the second-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family, a bright future still awaited him.

Even if he failed to compete for the head of the Lightfoot family, he was still the second son of the Lightfoot family, so his position in the family was unshakable.

Another beginner Sovereign Ranker who was standing behind the ship was also feeling chills all over his body.

He also had no idea what happened on board.

However, his instinct told him that it was probably not good.

That scream was definitely due to him experiencing great pain.

If it could make a beginner Sovereign Ranker let out such a miserable scream, something terrifying inside the Fellowes family's merchant ship.

there had to be

After David killed the old man inside the merchant ship's control room with a wave of his sword, his body disappeared again.

This time, his target was the beginner Sovereign Ranker outside.

Now that he had decided to kill, he would kill all the members of the Lightfoot family and not spare a single one.

David thus left the control room.

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1678—Only a stunned crowd was left behind.

This time, Alba was completely shocked.

She misjudged David this time. She never expected David to be so strong.

That old man was a beginner Sovereign Ranker, and David killed him as soon as he said he wanted to. He did not delay at all.

Judging from David's appearance, this seemed to be an easy job for him.

In other words, his strength was at least equivalent to a mid-Sovereign Ranker.

Sure enough, he had been cultivated by a Sacred Saint.

He was so young, but he possessed such a great strength. Therefore, he was probably not much worse than the top geniuses in Star Kingdom.

Alba compared David to her fiancé whom she had only met once.

She figured that David was no worse than the other party, and that he might even surpass her fiancé in certain aspects.

“Miss, are you alright?” A maid came back to her senses and stammered.

They were quite frightened just now.

She thought that Alba was about to fall into the enemy’s hands.

She did not expect a god-like figure to come out of nowhere.

Not only did he save Alba, but he also killed a Sovereign Ranker effortlessly.

“I’m fine! How about you? Are you badly injured?” Alba asked back.

“Miss, don’t worry about us. These are just small injuries, so it’s nothing.”

“That’s good!”

“M Miss, w-who is he...’

“He is a friend of mine and also a distinguished guest of the Fellowes family. You must not breathe a word of what you saw or heard today to anyone. No one should say anything to anyone, otherwise, you will be punished according to the Fellowes family’s rules. If that happens, don’t blame me for not being merciful,” Alba said seriously.

“Yes, Miss! We understand!” Everyone replied at the same time.

Even if Alba did not tell them this, they would not have dared to tell anyone what had happened today.

David was so young, but he was so strong. Anyone would know he was not simple if they were not stupid. Furthermore, it was clear that he was not someone that the guards and maids could provoke.

At the back of the Fellowes family’s merchant ship, another beginner Sovereign Ranker sent by Cornelius, who was also an old man, stood quietly in the void.

Originally, he had been sent here to prevent Miss Alba Fellows from escaping.

Now, he just wanted to get out of there.

However, Master Cornelius did not give him any orders, so he did not dare to act recklessly.

The Sovereign Ranker felt an impending doom shrouding him.

The old man felt the hairs all over his body standing.

A great terror was approaching him.

At this moment, he could not care so much anymore.

'My life is more important!'

However, when he wanted to move, he realized he could not.

'How is this possible?'

The old man panicked.

'Why can't I move?'

'What the hell is this?'

He just broke through Sovereign Rank and his mind power was still in its infancy.

Naturally, he could not perceive that David's mind power had quietly approached him and was trapping him.

Since he was just a beginner Sovereign Ranker, he could not break free from the shackles of David's mind power.

After the old man tried several times to no avail, he tried to cast the Eternal Golden Body in desperation.

At that moment, he suddenly felt a sharp pain in his chest.

As he looked down, he saw the tip of a red sword suddenly appearing before his eyes.

'Is this...'

Before the old man could figure out what was going on, a countless amount of piercing sword energy began to destroy his body.

He felt his life force flowing away.

However, his body was unable to generate enough life force to compensate for this.

The old man knew that if this continued, he would surely die.

He wanted to save himself, but he could not exert even a little bit of strength from his body. Hence, he could only watch helplessly as death slowly approached.

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1679-It was unknown when David appeared behind the old man. While the old man was restrained by his mind power, David stabbed the old man's body while he was unable to move.

At the same time, the Evil-Splitting Sword began to wreak havoc in the old man's body with countless amounts of energy.

Soon, the old man's body slowly disappeared as he looked at David with horror in his eyes.

In the end, not even a trace of his ashes remained.

The old man did not know who it was that rendered him so helpless this entire time.

David was invincible in a battle where his opponent was of the same level as him if he was assisted by his mind power and the Evil-Splitting Sword.

He could even fight or kill someone a few ranks above him.

This was mainly because of David's powerful mind power and his insanely amazing first-rate Soulbound Weapon, the Evil-Splitting Sword.

Of course, what was even more amazing was his super lavish system.

This was because his system was the one who bestowed him his mind power and Evil-Splitting Sword.

After he got rid of two beginner Sovereign Rankers, David began to cast his gaze at the Lightfoot family's ship in the distance.

At this moment, David stood in the void whilst holding the long red sword.

He was emitting a dazzling light, like a God.

Cornelius was dumbfounded.

Just now, he was about to ask the beginner Sovereign Ranker to come back to protect him.

However, the old man was killed without any resistance, and his body also dissipated into the void.

He was totally dead.

Now, the old man's murderer was looking at him.

The opponent shot a murderous gaze at him, and Cornelius could not help but shudder.

As the second-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family, this was the first time Cornelius truly felt the danger of death after living for so long.

Cornelius tried to calm himself down and asked aloud, "Are you planning to kill me?"

"What do you think?" David asked back.

"Do you know who I am?"

"I don't care who you are, I just know that anyone who disrupts my plan deserves to die."

"I don't know what your plan is. Plus, we don't know each other and there is no enmity between us. I just wanted to invite Miss Alba Fellowes to have a drink with me on board, that's all."

"Miss Fellowes is a very important figure in my plan, and I will not allow anything to happen to her."

"Since that's the case! Today, I, Cornelius Lightfoot, admit defeat and I promise that I won't cause trouble for you and Miss Alba again. Let's just leave this, how about it?"

"Do you think I will believe you? I have seen many direct descendants of big families like you. Even if you bow your head now, you will immediately find a way to get back at us once you're safe."

"I can swear on the name of the Lightfoot family that as long as you let me go, I, Cornelius Lightfoot, will never trouble you and Miss Fellowes from now on."

David shook his head with a smile and said, “I don’t believe you!”

“So what do you want?” Cornelius asked with a frown.

At this moment, he was very calm on the surface, but his heart was beating violently. He was sweating profusely and the clothes on his body were almost drenched.

He clenched his fists tightly and his nails sunk into his flesh.

As he was facing the crisis of death, it was useless even if he had a very high status.

“I want you to die. In my opinion, only the dead can’t speak,” David replied.

His words caused Cornelius’ heart to tighten.

He was deathly afraid that David would take action if there was even a slight disagreement. After taking a few deep breaths to calm himself down, Cornelius said again, “If you want to kill me, you have to think clearly. I am the second-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family and I play an important role. My family not only has two True Saints and three Pre-Saints, but we also have an inseparable relationship with the Ginger family, who has a Sacred Saint and is also one of the six top forces in Star Kingdom. Don’t even think about escaping Star Kingdom if you kill me.”

David was also a little surprised after hearing this.

‘His family has two True Saints and three Pre-Saints, and even has an inseparable relationship with the Ginger family that has a Sacred Saint?’

“This guy does have the capital to be so arrogant.

“There are probably not many people with such a strong background in the entire Star Kingdom!”

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1680—However, Cornelius’ words strengthened David’s determination to kill him.

What was David most lacking now?

Time!

If he was given enough time, he would not be afraid of a Sacred Saint.

If he let Cornelius go, he would definitely seek revenge on himself judging by his personality.

If he managed to persuade his family to send over a Pre-Saint, David could only be slaughtered at his current state in Sovereign Rank.

He might be able to buy more time if he killed Cornelius.

Cornelius had no idea that the more he spoke about how powerful his background was, the more unlikely David was to spare him.

“Really? Who will know if I kill you now and then kill everyone in your family?” David narrowed his eyes.

The killing intent in his heart had already begun to pervade.

He could act at any time to silence everyone on board the Lightfoot family’s ship.

“You can’t fathom a Saint so don’t take chances. My grandmasters have a lot of ways to discover what happened here. You will be found no matter where you hide.”

David was a little scared.

If what Cornelius said was true, then it would be troublesome.

David had no knowledge about Saints.

All he knew was that Nek was very strong. If not for his strong mind power, he would have died in Nek’s hands long ago.

Cornelius seemed to see a trace of hope when he saw David staying silent.

His desire to survive greatly increased.

He added, “My friend, as long as you let me go today, I promise that I will not seek revenge on you, and I will not mention anything about what happened today. How about it?”

When Cornelius felt that there was still hope, an ill-timed voice sounded.

“David, don’t listen to Cornelius’ nonsense. Although I don’t know anything about Sacred Saints, I know Pre-Saints and True Saints can’t do what he said, and they can’t know what’s going on anywhere at any time. They’re not omnipotent. The signal here is blocked and we’re at a remote place in the Central Sacred Continent. So, Cornelius’ family won’t know even if you kill him here.”

Naturally, Alba was the one who said this.

Cornelius wanted to destroy her and the Fellowes family, so how could she miss the opportunity to kill Cornelius?

Plus, it was exactly as Alba said.

Saints were not gods.

“Alba, shut up!” Cornelius shouted angrily.

He still had a small chance to live, but that b*tch Alba jumped out to expose him.

How could Cornelius control his temper?

“My friend, listen to me...

Cornelius wanted to explain but there was no sign of David as far as the eye could see.

Immediately afterward, a strong impending doom approached him.

Cornelius was shocked.

‘Oh no!

‘He’s making a move!

“That b*tch! That rat!

‘Alba, you b*tch!

‘If she didn’t expose me, he wouldn’t have dared to do anything to me!’ “Activate the defense and retreat at full speed!” Cornelius yelled in terror.
