Married at First Sight Chapter 2392-Mr. Caron was surprised. Under the introduction of his daughter, he first got to know Julian, and then politely invited Julian into the house.

Kiera's brother hadn't come back yet.

After entering the house, Julian put down the generous gift he bought. After Mr. Caron asked him to sit down, he said to him: "Mr. Bucham, you're too polite."

Julian: "It's the first time I've taken the liberty to visit the door and disturbed Uncle Caron."

Mr. Caron heard that his daughter had rescued Julian with a smile on his face. While smiling, he said, "Our Kiera has always been chivalrous. Mr. Bucham, you don't need to worry about small things. Don't spend so much money when you come here in the future.

Kiera, go and make a pot of tea for Mr. Bucham."

Mrs. Caron came out of the kitchen wearing an apron.

Kiera introduced her mother to Julian.

Julian stood up when he saw Mrs. Caron coming out, and after Kiera's introduction, he politely said hello.

Mrs. Caron didn't hear the conversation just now, and thought it was her daughter who handed over her boyfriend and brought her back to meet her parents.

After a few polite words with Julian, she said with a smile, "Mr. Bucham sit down first, I'll cook, and you will have dinner together later."

Julian: "Auntie, you're busy first, I took the liberty to come here and disturb everyone."

"Don't disturb, don't disturb."

Mrs. Caron winked at her daughter. Kiera wanted to wash the teapot, so she took a set of tea sets and followed her mother into the kitchen to clean.

After the mother and daughter entered the kitchen, Mrs. Caron hurriedly asked her daughter, "Is that your boyfriend? When did you date and how long did you date? Why haven't I seen you go out on a date? Now you're bringing him back to see your parents?"

While asking her daughter a series of questions, Mrs. Caron took out her mobile phone and called her son. After the son answered the phone, she told her son: "When you come back, go and buy some cooked vegetables. Your sister will come back with her boyfriend to see us and please come back quickly."

"Mom, Mr. Bucham is not my boyfriend, he is here to learn martial arts from my dad, but it is okay to ask my brother to buy some cooked food. Anyone who comes is a guest. You have to add more food when guest come here.

Mom, ask brother to pack a shrimp cake and a pumpkin cake for me."

Mrs. Caron hung up the phone. She turned her head and stared at her daughter, "Isn't that your boyfriend?"

She thought her daughter had a handsome boyfriend without anyone noticing.

It's also her fault that her daughter kept it so tight and prepared a big surprise for them. So it turned out that he wasn't her future son-in-law?

Learned martial arts from Mr. Caron?

"Of course not. I have only known Mr. Bucham for a few days. How could he be my boyfriend?" Kiera briefly explained how she and Julian met.

After hearing her daughter's words, Mrs. Caron felt like a raging fire was hit by a heavy rainstorm, and her excitement was instantly extinguished.

She thought her daughter had a boyfriend, but it turned out that he was coming to learn martial arts from her husband.

She muttered: "For apprentices, just go to the martial arts hall and sign up. What is he doing at our house? He's dressed so well, and he came to the door with big bags, so I thought it was the future son-in-law who came to the door.

Kiera, it's a good thing you explained it, otherwise, once I made a phone call, all our relatives and friends would come over for dinner, and it would be embarrassing."

Kiera: "..."
