

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1483

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1483

Chapter 1483

Wayne pulled Rosalynn close and planted a soft kiss on her forehead.

“We’re going home tomorrow, are you nervous?” Rosalynn asked.

Wayne shook his head, “Not with you by my side.”

Rosalynn laughed and wrapped her arms around Wayne’s waist, “Ok, I’ll stick with you then.”

The next morning, Rosalynn and Wayne boarded a private jet headed for H City International Airport.

Rosalynn’s discovery of Wayne had a lot of witnesses. So, there had been a lot of chatter online about Wayne being alive.

‘Reliable sources say that Wayne has been recuperating on a beautiful island in Tranquil Bay. He’s doing well now. Rosalynn just sent her private jet to bring him home!’

The blogger also uploaded a flight path of Rosalynn’s private jet, showing it would be flying from Tranquil Bay to H City today. “April Fools’ was half a month ago, Labor Day is coming up, what are you guys talking about?”

This blogger’s info matches what I heard. Wayne’s already on his way home.”

The blogger replied, “Seriously, no one believes me!”

Someone responded, “Time will reveal the truth, don’t worry.”

Even though people online were skeptical, a broadcaster was live streaming from the airport waiting for Rosalynn.

Everyone joined the livestream.

According to the flight schedule, Rosalynn's private jet was due to arrive at the airport by 2 PM.

By 1:50 PM, the livestream was packed with viewers.

However, by 2:30 PM, there was still no sign of Rosalynn.

Viewers were getting restless.

Finally, the broadcaster returned, "Guys, we're not going to see her today. Rosalynn got off the plane and was whisked away right at the airport. She's probably home by now!

This became a joke and made its way to Twitter.

"Lol, are people online really this bored? They waited in a livestream for 40 minutes??"

"Am I the only one who finds this suspicious? Rosalynn usually comes and goes from the airport normally. Why did she get into a car right at the airport this time? Something must be up!

"OMG, did she really pick someone up? Can someone debunk this? Otherwise, I might start to believe it!"

"I have a friend who volunteered where Rosalynn was on a business trip. He said she got injured while dealing with a local dispute. Maybe that's why she used a special exit?"

Perhaps because Rosalynn's name was mentioned too much, it didn't trend. But #AbsurdLivestream and #WhySpecialExit did.

People online heatedly discussed this. After leaving the airport, Rosalynn and Wayne headed straight for the Jared Group Hospital

The medical team at the hospital was ready for them.

Paige Owens and Baillie Scott were in charge of picking up Cory and Ivy from school and bringing them to the hospital.

Hilaria Jared and the medical team waited for them at the hospital

Rosalynn helped Wayne out of the car. Hilaria was about to approach, but seeing Wayne so frail, her heart ached, and her eyes welled up.

“You’ve become so thin,” Hilaria said, heartbroken. She gently patted Wayne’s arm, ‘It’s okay, we’re home now. Everything will be alright once we’re home.’”

“It’s our grandma,” Rosalynn whispered to Wayne.

Wayne called out, “Grandma.”

Hilaria’s heart sank, “You really don’t remember anything from before?”

Chapter 1484

Wayne gave a somewhat apologetic nod.

“No worries!” Hilaria wiped her tears, her voice full of tenderness, There’s no need to remember the past. As long as we live well in the future, that’s enough!”

“Okay.” Wayne obediently nodded.

Not long after, Wayne was settled in a hospital room.

“We’ll stay here for a couple of days so you can finish all the tests you haven’t done.” Rosalynn sat next to Wayne, gently touching his cheek, “Then we’ll go home to rest. Your daughter has been busy planting fruit trees. It’s just the time for the fruits to ripen.” “Will they come to see me?” Wayne asked.

These days, Rosalynn had been showing him many videos of Cory and Ivy.

Wayne missed them terribly.

But he was worried his current appearance might scare the children.

“Of course, they don’t know you’re back yet. After school, Paige and Baillie will bring them over, to give them a surprise!”

Wayne’s throat moved, instinctively rubbing a scar on his face.

“It’s okay.” Rosalynn held his hand, “You’re still handsome.”

Paige had a particularly good mood today.

She picked up Cory with a big smile.

This stirred Cory's curiosity. "Paige, did you win the lottery?"

Paige looked at Cory mysteriously. "It's a secret, you'll know soon.

Cory didn't care much about such things.

A moment later, Paige joyfully hugged Ivy.

"Was my little sis good today?" Ivy held Paige, her ear against Paige's belly, then answered herself, "You're good? Awesome! I will give you a star, and when you're born, I'll exchange it for a gift for you!"

Paige burst into laughter.

Recently, Ivy had grown a lot taller, and looked more cheerful.

After getting in the car.

Ivy quickly noticed the car was not heading home.

"Aren't we going home?" Ivy asked.

"Not yet, we're going to the hospital to visit someone sick." Paige said seriously.

"Who's sick? Who's ill?" Ivy asked anxiously.

"You'll know when we get there." Paige ruffled Ivy's hair.

Ivy looked a bit worried.

Cory just glanced at Paige.

Recently, Cory has been preparing for a physics competition. He's completely in his own world, not aware of anything on the internet.

He knew about Rosalynn's injury.

Since they couldn't video chat, Rosalynn had him help deceive Ivy.

Could it be that mom's injury wasn't as light as she said?

No...

If that were true, how could Paige still smile? She should be crying

About ten minutes later.

The car pulled into the Jared Group's hospital and parked in a private spot.

Ivy was the first to jump out of the car when the door opened.

She instantly saw Rosalynn, smiling at her.

"Mom!"

Ivy shouted in surprise, immediately running over to hug Rosalynn,

Chapter 1485

Rosalynn's been gone for a while now.

Ivy's been up to her ears in work. She's got school and then she's gotta take care of the garden and orchard when she gets home.

Just a few days ago, Uncle Calvin told her the frogs started laying eggs in the lake.

So, every day after school, she's been snapping pics of the frog eggs with her camera.

She's been crazy busy.

But every night before she falls asleep, she misses her mom and dad,

Ever since Rosalynn got hurt, Ivy can't even FaceTime her anymore. She's stuck with just phone calls.

That's made her miss her mom even more.

Every day, she's counting down the days till her mom can come home and when she can go visit her.

So, when she finally saw Rosalynn, Ivy ran over and hugged her tight, then started bawling.

Rosalynn just laughed, lifted her up and patted her on the back. "You're in elementary school now, kiddo. Still such a crybaby, huh?"

"I miss you!" Ivy, her arms wrapped around Rosalynn's neck, sobbed. Even elementary students miss their moms!"

"I know, sweetie, I miss you and your brother too," Rosalynn reassured her, patting her back.

Ivy rubbed her cheek against Rosalynn's, "Why were you in the hospital? Are you sick?"

And then she saw the scar on Rosalynn's eyelid

it had already scabbed over

"What happened to your eye?" Ivy asked, her voice full of worry.

"That's a little accident, but it's all good now, look." Rosalynn closed her eyes and leaned closer to Ivy.

Ivy took a closer look and then gently blew on it, her heart aching.

She started crying again, scolding Rosalynn for being careless

Rosalynn turned to Cory.

Cory walked over and patted Ivy. "Ivy, you're gonna tire Mom out."

Ivy choked back a sob. "Yeah, I've grown... I've gotten heavier

With that, Ivy got out of Rosalynn's arms.

"Kids, I have something to tell you." Rosalynn squatted down, touching both Cory and Ivy's faces.

Ivy sniffled. "what is it?"

Rosalynn smiled gently, though her eyes were red and her voice choked up. "Dad's back."

Ivy and Cory froze.

"Dad got really hurt and was hidden by some bad guys. He lost his memory, so he didn't come home." Rosalynn tried to explain it as simply as possible. "Now Dad's in the room upstairs. You'll see him soon."

"Really?" Ivy grabbed Rosalynn's hand.

"Of course." Rosalynn nodded firmly.

Cory didn't say anything, but his eyes were bright red.

Ivy paused, then suddenly pinched her own arm hard.

She used a lot of strength, so a bruise immediately appeared on her fair arm.

“Ivy!” Paige exclaimed and rushed over.

“It hurts!” Ivy clutched her arm, hopping around.

Cory frowned at the bruise on her arm. “You pinched yourself so hard, of course it’s gonna hurt!”

“It hurts, so I’m not dreaming. Cory, this isn’t a dream, Dad’s back!” Despite the pain, Ivy started laughing, grabbed Cory’s hand, and shook it excitedly.

219-54

Rosalynn felt both happy and sad.

Paige was holding Ivy’s arm, blowing on it, and muttering to Rosalynn, “She’s definitely your daughter!”

“It doesn’t hurt anymore!” Ivy pulled back her arm, then grabbed Rosalynn’s hand. “Mommy, let’s go! Let’s go!”

“Before we go, Mommy has something else to say.” Rosalynn looked at Cory and Ivy. “Dad’s a little different now, he has some scars on his face. He’s worried you won’t like him, that you’ll be scared...

Chapter 1486

Rosalynn choked up again as she spoke.

She’d already chatted with a shrink.

The anxiety and fear Wayne was showing now actually came from his subconscious.

Deep down, he thought the kids wouldn’t like him and his wife would leave him.

This idea had been deeply rooted in his heart long before anything happened.

So, he’d been on edge for a long time.

“No way!” Ivy started crying too, swinging her arms around “we would never!”

I know it,” Rosalynn said, pulling both kids into her arms. “We’ll be there for Daddy’s recovery!”

Paige, who’d been laughing happily before, now also started crying.

After a while, the elevator arrived at the designated floor.

Rosalynn, holding one child in each hand, ran into Ableson as she stepped out.

“My lady, you guys are here!” Ableson’s eyes were red and swollen. Clearly, he knew about Wayne’s situation.

Rosalynn responded and led the two children towards Wayne’s ward

After she opened the door to the ward, Wayne, who had been standing next to the bed, immediately looked up.

He knew Rosalynn had gone to pick up the kids.

After some thought, he decided to get out of bed. He didn’t want to meet the kids lying down.

Cory and Ivy stood at the door.

Both were a bit taken aback when they saw Wayne.

Wayne moved his lips but couldn’t make a sound.

“Daddy!”

Just as he was about to lower his head, thinking his appearance had scared the kids, Ivy cried out and ran towards him.

Almost instinctively, Wayne reached out and held the child who had rushed towards him.

He held her tightly in his arms.

Ivy also held Wayne tightly.

Before they were separated, Wayne would often hold her like this.

He wasn’t this thin back then. He’s too thin now, Ivy could feel his bones when she held him.

Ivy, who was already very emotional, was now heartbroken.

“I’m sorry...” Wayne’s voice was hoarse. “I made you worry...”

The little girl, holding onto Wayne’s neck, shook her head vigorously.

“There’s no need to apologize, as long as Daddy’s back!” Ivy said through her tears.

Wayne's gaze fell on Cory.

Cory, who was not very expressive to begin with, slowly walked over to Wayne. His gaze eventually landed on his leg.

His little face quivered slightly and then he quietly said, "Ivy, his leg is hurt, get down."

Wayne was just about to say it was okay.

Ivy, startled, quickly and carefully got down from his arms.

"What's wrong with the leg? What happened to Daddy's leg?" She squatted down, looking at Wayne's leg, and asked anxiously.

"It's injured and hasn't healed yet. Daddy will recover soon, Wayne hastily promised. "Don't worry, okay?"

How could Ivy not worry? Her tears fell like rain.

Chapter 1487

Dad must've been through hell and back to get to them.

Rosalynn stood in the doorway, a teary-eyed smile on her face as she watched them.

Wayne looked up at her, his emotions a tangled mess.

He knew he loved these two kids to bits just from looking at their pictures before.

Now that they were face to face, he was totally losing it.

From then on, Ivy and Cory practically glued themselves to Wayne, following him every step of the way.

At meal times, they always had to be by his side, one on each side.

Ivy was especially mindful of what Wayne ate. She was worried that he might eat something bad and get hurt.

Wayne was all smiles throughout.

He let Ivy call the shots, what to eat and what not.

Rosalynn didn't stop her.

After all, the food was all stuff that Wayne loved. Ivy couldn't go wrong no matter how she arranged it.

After dinner, Ivy grabbed Cory and took Wayne for a walk downstairs.

It was camellia blossom season. There was an area in the Jared Group's hospital full of blooming red camellias.

Wayne, leaning on his cane, with a kid on each side, strolled leisurely ahead.

Rosalynn and Paige followed behind.

"Look at Cory, he can't take his eyes off his dad. Paige whispered to Rosalynn.

Cory wasn't one to show his emotions.

But from the moment he saw Wayne, there wasn't a moment when Cory took his eyes off Wayne.

Now, he was extra careful, worried that Wayne might trip and fall while leaning on his cane.

"That's good." Rosalynn murmured.

"Yes, it's good" Paige sniffed.

She never thought she'd get to see this kind of scene.

"Baillie said he can barely read right now, so the company's work..

"Take it slow." Rosalynn wasn't worried about it, "Bane Corporation's operations are basically stable now. News of his return is gradually being released. Those who want to stir up trouble should be afraid to act."

"That's right, after all, Wayne's name is quite intimidating!" Paige nodded.

"Mom!" At this moment, Ivy turned around.

Rosalynn immediately smiled warmly and walked quickly towards the front, "What's up, honey?"

"Don't always talk to Paige, talk to Dad more!" Ivy said seriously.

Rosalynn chuckled, "Okay, I got it. I'll talk to Dad more!"

Then, she arm in arm with Wayne, They used to love me the most, now they love you the most~"

Wayne was all smiles.

"It's okay, I love you the most." He whispered into Rosalynn's ear.

Ivy saw them whispering and turned back to smile at Paige.

Paige was already holding hands with Baillie.

Ivy loved to see the adults being all lovey-dovey.

She happily ran forward.

“I’m so happy! I am the luckiest kid in the world!” She threw her arms wide open and shouted with joy.

Wayne seemed very happy as well.

They walked for about twenty minutes before Wayne started to feel weak.

Back in the ward, Ivy began to prepare fruit for him.

She even thoughtfully fed him directly.

“Dad, if you ever need anything, just tell me as long as I’m around!” She said seriously while feeding him, “Just call me, and I right by your side!”

Wayne felt a lump in his throat.

“Ivy, you’re such a good girl.” He said gently.

“I’m not that good.” Ivy lowered her head as she spoke, almost crying, “I wasn’t good to you before!”

Chapter 1488

Upon seeing her on the verge of tears, Wayne panicked a bit, “That’s not it. Even though I can’t remember anything, every time I see your picture, I can feel the immense love you’ve given me. It’s true.”

“Ivy

Rosalynn walked in to see Ivy with reddened eyes.

She reluctantly stepped forward, “Ivy, what are you crying about now?”

“I’m not a crybaby!” Ivy widened her eyes, holding back her tears.

Rosalynn couldn’t help but laugh at her antics.

Then, Ivy wanted to feed Wayne again.

“Dad’s already eaten a lot, but now he can’t eat it anymore.” Rosalynn said helplessly.

Wayne would eat anything Ivy gave him, he never said no even if he was full.

“Alright... Ivy obediently nodded, then turned to feed Rosalynn, “Then I’ll feed mom, or else you’ll get jealous!”

Rosalynn laughed, “You little smarty. Look at the time, haven’t you done your homework yet?”

“Oh my God!” Ivy exclaimed.

“Go do it!” Rosalynn playfully tapped Ivy’s bum.

Ivy quickly scampered off.

Rosalynn sat next to Wayne, “Are you happy?”

Without hesitating, Wayne nodded, “Cory and Ivy are so cute!”

“Not only cute, your son and daughter are also...”

Rosalynn was cut off.

Ivy walked in with her backpack.

“It’s okay, you guys keep chatting, I’ll do my homework here!”

As she spoke, she took out her homework from her backpack and threw it on the floor. She quickly got down and started to work on it.

“Ivy, dad’s not going anywhere.” Rosalynn reminded her.

“Okay, I know”

Despite acknowledging, she still continued to do her homework on the floor, showing no signs of leaving.

Rosalynn and Wayne exchanged glances, both breaking into laughter.

That night, Wayne couldn’t be discharged from the hospital.

Originally, Hilaria and Paige planned to take Cory and Ivy home.

However, both kids refused to leave the hospital.

Hilaria had no choice but to have their pajamas delivered.

Late at night.

Rosalynn took some time to handle some piled-up work.

Ivy and Cory slept next to Wayne.

Ivy, having had an emotional roller coaster of a day, was exhausted. She had planned to chat with her dad after getting into bed, but she fell asleep almost instantly, snoring away like a little piglet

Wayne was deeply touched by her cuteness

He turned his head to check if Cory was asleep.

That's when he met Cory's gaze

"Cory, what's wrong? Wayne asked, realizing that Cory was looking at his scar.

"Does it hurt? Cory asked.

Wayne answered honestly, I can't remember

When he woke up, the wound on his face had already scabbed over and had turned into the scar it is now, and it didn't hurt anymore.

"I've read your medical reports Cory continued, "Your condition was serious, it's a miracle you survived"

Wayne had a rough idea that his son was very smart. He seemed like a genius.

He was even able to understand the medical reports.

"Yes' Wayne nodded

Cory looked at him, quietly saying. "Thank you."

Wayne was taken aback, "Why are you thanking me?"

Chapter 1489

"You barely made it back to us, you know." Cory looked at Wayne, his voice choked with emotion but he spoke earnestly.

How could he have possibly survived such severe injuries if he didn't have the determination to return to them?

He'd asked Jaime and Baillie. They said the people who saved their father didn't even take him to a hospital. They treated him in a place with terrible sanitation using the medical skills they'd learned themselves.

After hearing this, Cory played out countless scenarios in his head according to that report. He found that the chances of his father surviving were slim to none.

He couldn't imagine how much will to live his father must have had.

"Thank you," Cory said, his head bowed as he rested his forehead on Wayne's arm, choking back tears. "Thank you, Dad."

"Don't be sad," Wayne's voice was also choked with emotion.

Cory was always cold and distant towards Wayne because he didn't express his feelings.

To prevent Wayne from overthinking, Rosalynn had specifically told him that Cory hardly ever showed his emotions to others.

So, at this moment, the fact that Cory could say these things to him both shocked and saddened Wayne.

"I will get better soon, just like before... no, even healthier than before!"

Cory knew it would be difficult for his father to recover to his previous state, let alone become better.

But Cory still nodded.

Outside the room, Rosalynn was still in a meeting.

She didn't keep Wayne's return a secret from the company executives.

"For now, we'll just leak some rumors. There's no need for a direct response, I don't want Wayne to be disturbed," Rosalynn said casually.

"Understood!" everyone replied.

"The meeting about the island resort development project will be moved to Saturday morning, I'm sorry for making you all work overtime," Rosalynn continued.

According to the original plan, she should have called this meeting as soon as she returned.

But meetings about the resort would usually take at least four or five hours. Rosalynn wanted to wait until Cory and Ivy were on break so they could come and keep Wayne company.

Then she would feel comfortable leaving to attend the meeting.

Til arrange everything”

“Alright, you’ve all worked hard today. Get some rest.”

The video conference ended.

Rosalynn felt as if every bone in her body was stiff.

After standing up and stretching, she took a shower and gently pushed open the door to the ward.

Wayne was awake, waiting for her.

Rosalynn went over softly, both little piggies were already asleep.

What surprised her today was that Ivy was still clutching Wayne’s finger in her sleep. Cory was even more dramatic, he had his arms wrapped around Wayne’s.

Rosalynn couldn’t help but laugh. Then she leaned on the bed, leaned into Wayne, and kissed him twice, “I didn’t lie to you, they’re both angelic children, aren’t they?”

“Yes!” Wayne nodded, then said, “But I don’t think it’s my doing. I couldn’t have possibly raised such good kids.”

“I didn’t really teach them anything special, they’re naturally like this. They’ve been adorable since they were young. Rosalynn lay down next to her children..

The two of them chatted intermittently.

After a long day of work, Rosalynn quickly fell asleep.

Wayne looked incredibly happy.

Maybe because he had overslept the last few days.

He was the one who couldn’t fall asleep.

He would glance at his children from time to time, then gently kiss his wife.

Chapter 1490

Next day, crack of dawn.

Surprisingly, Ivy was the first to wake up.

And she woke up with a jolt.

She dreamed about walking hand in hand with her dad in the park, but then he suddenly disappeared.

Ivy sat up abruptly.

As soon as she saw Wayne, she flung herself into his arms.

Rosalynn, Wayne, and Cory all woke up one after the other.

Ivy, still half-asleep, buried herself in Wayne's arms, crying.

"Ivy, what's wrong?" Rosalynn gently patted her back.

Ivy didn't mention her dream about her dad disappearing, just shook her head.

Wayne looked helplessly at Rosalynn.

Rosalynn waved her hand: "She's probably not fully awake yet, maybe had a nightmare. Let her chill a bit."

Wayne nodded.

Cory sat there, looking clueless.

Rosalynn got up, lifted him off the bed: "Time to get up and wash up!"

While waiting for Cory to finish his morning routine, Ivy had cried herself awake.

She nestled herself into Rosalynn's arms again.

Rosalynn hugged her gently. "Did you have a bad dream?"

"Yes." Ivy nodded, "But I can't talk about it, don't ask, mommy!"

"Alright-Rosalynn readily agreed, "Feeling better now? Wanna wash up together?"

"Mommy, can I skip school today?" Ivy asked with difficulty.

"No way," Rosalynn shook her head, "do you remember our deal? You were gonna top the class to make daddy happy. Now that daddy's back, you should study even harder to keep your promise!"

“But daddy...

Ivy looked at Wayne tearfully.

Wayne looked uncomfortable, then told Ivy. “Listen to mommy, okay? I will pick you up from school later, how about that?”

Ivy’s eyes lit up immediately, she turned to Rosalynn: “Can you? Can daddy pick me up?”

“Of course!” Rosalynn responded matter-of-factly.

“Yay!” Ivy cheerfully raised her hands, then seemed to remember something, “Is daddy up for it? If it’s too tiring. I don’t want it. I’m a big girl, I can take the bus home!”

“Daddy’s fine. We’re at the hospital so the doctors can come up with a good recovery plan for him.” Rosalynn patiently explained to Ivy, “We’ll be able to go home in a few days”

Ivy trusted mommy’s words the most, so she immediately felt relieved.

After breakfast, Ableson took Cory and Ivy to school.

Wayne was going to do it himself.

But the hospital had him scheduled for a bunch of tests, so he couldn’t.

Despite the months passing by, Molly changed a lot.

But one thing hasn’t changed: Molly firmly believed that protecting Ivy and Cory was her job.

So, not only did Cory and Ivy not return to Moonlit Lake last night, even Molly didn’t head back to Moonlit Lake.

In the early morning, the three little ones hopped into the van together.

After being away for so many days, Rosalynn gave Felix a couple of days off. He swapped his suit for sportswear.

He was thrilled to drop Molly off at school.

“Felix, thank you for helping mommy find daddy.” Ivy thanked him seriously as she got in the car.

“Ivy, there’s no need to thank me, it’s what I should do.” Felix responded seriously, then handed Ivy a coconut bread.

Ivy loved coconut.

Seeing the roll at a store, Felix saved it for Ivy