

The intimidating scene shocked everyone in the Crestfalls, especially the young ones who shuddered and their legs trembled.

Luna was also afraid, but the thought of Andrius being the cause of the situation and her being indirectly responsible for it made her clench her teeth and approach Randal.

“Y-Young Master Hanshu...”

Luna’s voice shook, but she mustered enough courage to continue, “I know it was Andrius’ fault at the club yesterday. I hereby apologize to you on behalf of him. Please can you let my family go?”

Luna did not see any emotion on Randal’s face except a frosty grin. She clenched her teeth again and said, “We can compensate you...”

She could make more money if she lost her wealth, but if she lost her life, it would be over.

However, her suggestion was made without confidence as she, too, could not come up with a suitable amount for compensation.

“Compensation?” Randal sneered in disdain. “The Crestfalls are tiny specks of dust, and your total assets are not even as much as my monthly expenses, and you suggest compensation? Can you even afford it?”

He sounded as arrogant as possible when he said those words, but he was speaking facts as well.

Luna was at a loss for words. She did not know whether she should step back or continue, so she froze on the spot.

Then, she gritted her teeth once more and asked, “Young Master Hanshu, what must we do for you to spare us?”

“Spare?” Randal sneered. “From the moment I came out from my place, I have never thought of sparing you people. Unless

His lips curled into a ridiculing grin. “Every one of you kneels before me and bows ten times. If it makes me happy, I’ll consider it.”

Then, Randal scanned over the Crestfalls with a ridiculing gaze.

Luna was both embarrassed and angry when she heard Randal. “Impossible!”

Apart from her, the other Crestfalls’ expressions changed when they heard Randal. Randal was toying with the family, insulting them as human beings.

However, none of them dared to voice their thoughts because they were afraid that they would exacerbate the matter beyond redemption.

Andrius suddenly scoffed. "Randal Hanshu, I'll give you a suggestion as well. Kneel before me and bow until I'm happy, and I will spare your life today."

His words shocked everyone at the scene. Every one of the Crestfalls looked at him as if he was an idiot.

Had Andrius lost his mind?

Why would he continue to provoke Randal after what he has done yesterday? Was he trying to get the entire family killed?

The hitmen Randal brought looked at Andrius as if he was a clown. Despite them being a whole group of merciless hitmen, Andrius still had the gall to threaten Randal in their faces.

The man must have lost his mind.

Randal was infuriated. He thought of the disgusting taste of urine from last night and he yelled, "Andrius Moonshade, kneel before me when you talk!"

Andrius scoffed and ignored him.

As the situation could not get any worse, two young Crestfalls stepped out.

"Andrius!"

"This is all your fault! If it's not for you, we wouldn't have ended up like this!"

"Young Master Hanshu wants you to kneel before him, so you kneel and apologize for what you've done. Or else, don't blame us for being rude!"

The two of them went up to Andrius and attempted to make him kneel. They were still young and did not want to die.
