Chapter 134 Marry Me

Camila did not notice anyone in the living room until that moment

"It's you?"

In an instant, her eyes widened, and she ran toward him.

She grabbed him by the collar and yelled, "Why did you abduct my child? Bring him back to me now!" "I can give him back to you, but you have to promise me one thing," Jaylen said as he looked at her

"What is it?"

"You have to marry me."

"Have you lost your mind?" Camila's eyes turned red in frustration

Without panicking, Jaylen said, "Isaac has caused me so much trouble. If I do nothing, I will be a loser!"

Camila snorted, "He made you suffer. You should go and look for him. Why did you take my child? You still want to get married to me despite the fact that everything is beyond absurd. Are you insane, Jaylen?"

"I'm not insane. I have thought about it a lot since I took your child, and I am sure about it." When talking about this, Jaylen was a little bit excited. "I knew that Isaac liked you when he bought the painting at any cost. So, what would he do if I stole the girl he likes?"

Camila was speechless for a few seconds, and then she burst into laughter, tears almost flowing down her cheeks.

"No, you are completely mistaken about that. He doesn't like me anymore. You should go for Fidelia rather than me since it would be more useful for you. So, please return my child to me as soon as possible!"

"Camila!" "Do you think I am so easy to deceive?" Jaylen yelled at her this time

He learned about her and Isaac's good relationship not too long ago

He did not believe that Isaac didn't like her anymore
She violently shook her head. "No, I did not lie to you. I suggest you go and catch Fidelia. Use Fidelia to scare him. I think he will save Fidelia no matter what. It is pointless to catch me."

"That makes no difference. Anyway, I sort of like you. Even if I cannot get him worked up, it is still good for me to make you my wife." He held back his rage and said slowly, "I think you should be rational if you still want to see your child. You have one day to think about it.

Come to me tomorrow." #

Then he walked out

Camila quickly came up to him and said, "I beg you, give the child back to me..." "Marry me." Jaylen cut Camila off with a firm voice before she could finish her sentence

She was pissed off. "I don't like you. I will not be a good wife, even if we get married. Why the bother? Besides, you already know that I am a woman who has already had a child. I am not worthy of your love."

"It's not up to you whether you are worthy or not. I could not care less whether you have a child or not. Anyway, I just want you." Then he pushed her hand away and warned her, "I am waiting for your good news. You need to decide quickly, so your son will not suffer." 2

"Jaylen, if you dare to hurt my child, I'll fight you to the death!" Camila's fingernails were shattered from grabbing Jaylen's clothing so tightly. She did not feel any pain and just wanted Jaylen to give her child back to her

"For the time being, I will avoid harming him, but if we do not get married, I am not sure what will happen to him."

Jaylen was determined to reach his goal no matter what, and he would never give up!

"Give me back my child, or I will make you pay for what you have done. I'm a woman of my word!" Rowena came running out of the kitchen unexpectedly, carrying a knife and pointing it toward Jaylen

She was ready to put everything on the line. Marvin was dead. She had no one else but her daughter and grandchild. She must keep her grandchild and daughter safe!

Camila had never seen her mother be so brave. "Mom..."

"Mila, I will kill him if he does not give Joe back." Rowena's hands shook so much that the blue veins on the back of her hands were clearly visible when she gripped the knife's hilt. She was also nervous. But she owed her daughter a lot because she was weak before. She could no longer afford to be a coward. She had to stand in front of her daughter in the wind and rain to protect her.

"Mom," said Camila with red eyes. She sniffed hard and said, "Don't be impulsive." Killing people was against the law. Rowena would go to jail if she killed Jaylen. Camila feared her mom would end up in prison because of this.

Then, Jaylen said, "I promise the child will not be harmed. I like your daughter. Once we are married, I will treat her with respect and kindness. I promise to treat her better than Isaac did." Rowena was sober. "Don't lie to me. If you really like Mila, you will not force her, and you will not use her child to threaten her. You are selfish and only want to get what you want. How could you say that you like her?"

Jaylen was speechless. What Rowena said was true, and he had nothing to say to rebut her. He was not eager to elaborate and replied, "If you kill me, you will never see your grandchild again. If you kill me, you will end up in prison, and your daughter will lose both her mother and her child. Do you think she will be too depressed and crazy?"

Rowena was in shock. What if something happened to her and Joe at the same time? What about Mila?

"We will find a way to fix this. Do not act hastily," Camila said as she held

Rowena's hand

Tears welled up in Rowena's eyes as she stared at her daughter. "I'm sorry. I couldn't protect you and Joe well."

"It's not your fault." Camila carefully took the knife from Rowena's hand and said, "I want both of you to be well."

"Jaylen." When Camila turned to look at him, she said, "Since you have to do this, I will agree, but you have to promise that my child is safe.

Or I will kill you!" "I do not want you to hate me. So do not worry. I will take good care of him. If you marry me, I will return the child to you after the wedding." Jaylen tidied up his messy clothes. "I will have the date checked tomorrow. Just let me know what you need. I promise I can make you happy."

"I do not need anything. I agree to the marriage not because I like you but because I did not want my child to get hurt. So it does not matter to me what kind of marriage it is." She stared at Jaylen and spoke with a cold and harsh voice

But Jaylen did not care. He was the one who threatened her, to begin with

"It does not matter. As long as I get you."

Then he walked out of the house

Rowena reached out and grasped Camila's hand and said, "You don't like him

So you won't be happy with him. Besides, you haven't divorced Isaac, right?" "We've divorced."

Camila had finally made up her mind

Jaylen probably bought off Stevie

Stevie was either tempted by money or scared by Jaylen

Camila tried to get Rowena to calm down. "Mom, please do not leave. I need to take care of something."

"Where are you going?" Rowena asked worriedly

"Do not worry, mom. I promise to look after myself." After that, Camila left

She saw Aldrin who was on his way inside

Camila glanced at him but said nothing and turned sideways to brush past him

But Aldrin suddenly grabbed her wrist

She was startled and asked annoyingly, "What are you doing?"
