

Read Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 201

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 201

She knew she couldn't depend on him!

"You want to settle this among ourselves. Fine." She took a deep breath.
"Give me back my grandma's project!"

Conrad stared at her for a few seconds in silence. "Sure."

In a certain high-class restaurant.

It was exclusively booked.

An expensive table was set in the middle of the dining hall. A man and a woman sat across from each other as they had their candlelight dinner.

"Conrad, I knew you still cared about me." When Esme left the station in the afternoon, she received Conrad's call about the dinner. She purposely went to a stylist and wore her best outfit to the dinner.

Conrad's eyes never fixed on her as he simply stared at the dancing flame on the candle.

"Your candlelight dinner," he said in a frigid tone, "is the last thing I'll do for you."

Esme could feel her chest tighten as she raised her wine glass.

"Let's drink, Conrad."

Conrad numbly raised his glass and clinked it with hers.

He gave it a sip and said, "From now on, no matter if you or the Mannings are in trouble, don't come to me."

"Why? Conrad, don't you know how important I am to you after all this?"

2/3

Esme still didn't understand what was happening. She thought he simply didn't care whether she hurt Fia or not, and only worried about her getting scared, and that was why she chose to settle this privately. Then, he asked her out for dinner as soon as she was discharged.

"At the end of the day, I'm the one that owes Fia on this." Conrad's grip on the wine glass tightened. "The only reason I asked Fia to settle this privately is not because I can't let go or want to protect you. I'm simply burying that girl that I liked a long time ago."

He raised his head and looked at Esme, his eyes without any warmth at all. Instead, it was terrifyingly cold.

"Esme, after this dinner, we'll go on our own paths. If you hurt Fia ever again, I'll make you pay double!"

Esme slumped on her chair and the glass in her hand fell, spilling her wine as the glass shattered into a million pieces.

Her tears rolled down and she asked in disbelief, "You really want to cut me off?"

"Yes."

"Have you forgotten the promise you made to me when we were young? That you'll marry me and love me forever."

"You said it yourself. We were young then. We're no longer young. We're no longer the same people when you refused the marriage and left the country."

After Conrad finished the wine in his glass, he got up and turned around, leaving without a second thought.

Esme sat at the table and began to sob. Her cries became louder and louder.

She thought her cries could make him stay, but when she looked at the door with her teary eyes, it didn't even slow him down... Forget about making him turn his head around.

Silas opened the door to the car and looked into the restaurant. He could see Esme crying like a fool.

“Silas, send me to the hospital. Fia is still waiting for me there.”

“Sure!” Silas was in a good mood. His boss had finally settled everything in one go. He no longer needed to feel guilty in front of the madam.

Eileen was at the ward to accompany Fia. She showed Fia the picture that the paparazzi took.

“Look, Fia! You’re at the hospital, yet he still went to see that homewrecker!”

Fia looked at the picture carefully and smiled.

e

“A candlelight dinner. Eileen, did you know? We’ve been married for three years. We’re husband and wife. but he’s never treated me to a candlelight dinner.”

Eileen frowned.

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 202

Eileen turned off her screen and gave Fia a hug.

“Once you’re discharged, I’ll take you to a candlelight dinner.”

Fia didn’t say anything. Sadness, disappointment, envy... She had a lot of bad emotions toward Esme.

And all of this was because of Conrad. Because she loved him.

“I’ll buy you roses and presents, okay?”

Eileen consoled her and placed her hand on Fia’s belly. “We can’t be sad for the child’s sake. You must protect yourself and your child.”

She regretted showing Fia the picture.

If she had known, she would have confronted Conrad and Esme

instead of showing it to Fia.

“I’m so sorry, Fia.”

“This has nothing to do with you, Eileen. I know you’re doing this for my own good because you’re worried that I’m being deceived.”

Fia tried her best to force a smile and said, “Eileen, after all of this, I don’t have hope that my marriage will end in happiness now. You have to work hard.”

Eileen frowned and said, “I... I’m not doing that well either. But we have to get it together and beat the people who want to see us give up.”

“Yeah, sure.”

Just then, Eileen’s phone rang.

It was her assistant, Lyn. She turned around and took the call, her face slowly turning white.

2/3

When Fia saw her face turn pale after receiving the call, she asked worryingly, “What happened?”

“It’s fine. It’s about work. Someone took my role as the female lead in one of the shows that I’m supposed to star in.”

“Then go look for help so you can get your role back.”

“Yeah. Rest well. Don’t look at your phone and just lie down and rest. I’ll treat you to a candlelight dinner later!”

“Sure!” Fia smiled. To her, Eileen’s care was like a ray of light in the darkness.

Eileen wore her hat and put on her mask, and then walked out of the ward. She didn’t expect to be surrounded the moment she walked out, but she was. They were all media reporters.

“Ms. Reid, can you explain the video on the internet of you and your boss?”

“Ms. Reid, are you your boss’ mistress?”

“No wonder you got popular so quickly! It’s because of Mr. Maxwell!”

Eileen looked at all the reporters who were like rabid dogs through her sunglasses. They kept on asking all the vile questions without giving her a chance to breathe or answer the questions.

But she knew that there was nothing left for her to explain.

That video was enough to explain everything. All her effort was for nothing because now everyone would think that her success was due to her sleeping with her boss!

When she came to visit Fia, she hid her tracks and didn’t see anyone. Seeing so many reporters waiting here, it was obvious that someone familiar with her knew that she would come and had prepared this trap for her.

“Homewrecker,” she mumbled. She wished she could tear Esme apart. Not only did she have time to seduce Conrad, she even had the time to set up a trap for her.

Fia had just gone to the washroom and wanted to check the time on her phone. And that was how she saw Eileen and Victor on tonight’s hot searches. Everyone was cursing Eileen.

She wanted to give Eileen a call. But when she remembered how her expression suddenly changed after picking up that call, she already knew that it was because of this.

She had a bad feeling. She immediately opened the door to her ward and saw Eileen being surrounded. They kept on questioning her and they even pushed her. Eileen had fallen down a few times.

“Eileen!” Fia shouted, but Eileen couldn’t hear her at all.

She looked around anxiously and spotted a fire extinguisher. She grabbed it and blasted the group with it.

The reporters around Eileen were stunned. When there was an opening, she quickly rushed over, pulled Eileen into her ward, and locked the door.

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 203

Everything happened so quickly. Fia sat back on the bed, gasping for air.

Eileen simply looked at Fia numbly and she almost wept.

When Fia saw how she was doing, she quickly gave her a hug.

"Don't be afraid. They can't come in. The hospital's security will get rid of them."

"Fia, you're pregnant! If something happened to you while you're trying to help me, I'd hate myself for it! This is because of me. You shouldn't have run into the mix!" Eileen bit her lips, trying her best not to cry.

"What are you talking about, Eileen? Every time something happens, you're the one beside me." The two girls hugged each other and became each other's light in the darkness.

When Conrad arrived at the floor that Fia was on, he noticed the group of reporters standing outside her door. He was so worried that he immediately ran over.

"What are you doing?! Move out of the way!"

The reporters stared at Conrad and bravely handed the microphone to him.

"Mr. Victor is your cousin, Mr. Conrad. Do you know of his sexual relationship with his actress?"

"Mr. Conrad, there are always rumors between you and your wife's cousin, meanwhile, your cousin slept with an actress from his company despite having a fiancée. You two cousins are acting quite similarly. How does the saying go again? The apple doesn't fall far from the tree, right?"

Conrad's amber eyes narrowed as he looked at all the reporters with burning eyes. He then glanced at the reporters' tags around their necks.

"How bold. I hope you can be just as courageous after this!"

After threatening them, he extended his hand and pushed away several of the reporters that were blocking the door. He knocked at the door nervously. "Fia! How are you, Fia?"

There was hope in Fia's eyes as she grabbed Eileen's hand tightly.

"Conrad's back, Eileen. He can definitely clear this up."

"Don't beg him for me," Eileen said to Fia in a no-nonsense tone. "I don't want to be someone that can be used as someone else's weakness!"

Fia was stunned. She didn't understand what she meant by that.

Eileen was worried that she had scared her, so she quickly said with a smile, "Victor started this, so he should solve this. Don't worry. I'll be fine."

"But so many people are cursing at you. I'm worried that they'll dox you or trace you or something."

"They can't. I have residences that are not under my name so I'll go. and hide for a while. Once this thing has blown over, I'll come visit you again."

"How long will it take?" Fia was becoming worried and anxious. For some reason, she had a feeling that once they separated, she didn't know when she would see her again.

"We can always keep in touch through the phone. I won't disappear, so trust me.”

Very quickly, under Conrad’s direction, Silas arranged for a group of bodyguards to guard the place. Jason had also appeared with the hospital’s security to get rid of the reporters.

When the door opened, Conrad held Fia’s shoulders and looked at her carefully. “Are you okay?”

“I’m fine, but Eileen...”

“I’m fine too.” Eileen cut Fia off with an icy demeanor. She looked at Conrad coldly and said, “But you should take good care of that dog. that wagged its tail at you!”

Conrad was no fool. He also recalled what happened at the bar. Just as he had met with Esme at the bar, he had seen Victor carrying a heavily disguised Eileen upstairs.

And the video that Victor and Eileen were in... He knew the place. It had the same finishings as the bar he went to.

“I’ll ask Esme about it. If she did it, I’ll bring her here to apologize to you!”

“No thanks!” Eileen smiled scornfully. “Rather than using this time to do all this, you should spend the time protecting Fia! Always remember that that homewrecker isn’t as innocent and kind as you think. She’s an angler fish that will swallow you whole if you let her!”

It was at this time that Lyn, Eileen’s assistant, finally made it in together with Victor.

“Eileen, let’s go.”

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 204

Eileen looked away and saw Victor standing outside. She would be lying if she said she wasn’t touched,

She knew that he had a very important meeting today and he needed to go to the country's capital city Lumenpolis to have a meeting. But to think that he would appear here with some fatigue visible on his face...

She couldn't help but walk over, wanting to speak to him.

However, Victor raised his hand, stopping her in her tracks. "Don't get too close. There are eyes everywhere."

Eileen's heart shattered at once.

She thought that he would at least console her, hold her, or say a few words, seeing that he had rushed over.

"Then why did you even come in the first place?"

Victor frowned and said, "You're my company's celebrity, so of course I have the duty to be here."

"You're worried that our relationship is going to get even more muddled?"

Victor could see the complicated emotions in her eyes and couldn't wait until there was no one else around. "My company has already dealt with the video. There's no trace of it on the internet."

"The people who were meant to watch it already had," Eileen sneered. She didn't want this. What she wanted was his compassion. The part that was true.

"As long as there is no proof it was you, we can make a video afterward proving that it's not you," Victor said with a stern expression. "Not to mention that I'm not married. I can love whoever I want. They can't destroy your reputation without making things up."

Chapter 204

2/3

"But it wasn't made up." Eileen smiled. "We all know that it wasn't made up."

“I’m very sorry,” Victor said. He was very regretful that he hadn’t locked the door and protected her.

She had been avoiding him lately. He was thinking too much about her and that had left an opening.

“Whatever. There’s no point continuing this conversation. Let’s leave this place first.”

Fia walked over and held Eileen’s wrist as she glared at Victor.

“You’re a man. A real man. You need to give Eileen an explanation !”

Jason could sense that the atmosphere was getting a bit awkward and felt that they shouldn’t be listening to any more of the conversation. So, he told the security to spread out and make sure no family members of the patients were close.

Victor massaged his head and said, “Even Eileen doesn’t dare to talk with me in that kind of tone.”

“I’m not your employee, and I’m not waiting for you to pay me my salary! There’s something that I need to make clear. You need to be responsible for this and think of her reputation!”

“What do you want?” Victor narrowed his eyes as he looked at Fia. She may be quite subservient in front of his cousin, but she was quite aggressive toward him.

“You either marry Sapphire and stop meeting with Eileen, or you leave Sapphire and be responsible for Eileen. Don’t think you can have the love of the two of them at the same time and become the protagonist of a harem story!”

Victor raised his eyebrow and looked at Conrad. “Conrad, have you not educated your wife? Look at how she’s speaking to me, your older cousin.”

Conrad said with a straight face, “Fia’s right. You should give both Sapphire and Eileen an explanation.”

“What? How interesting: Your hands aren’t that clean. What right do you think you have to be micromanaging me?”

Fia quickly pulled Conrad away when she saw that the two cousins were going to fight again and glared at him.

“Talk it out, would you? If you fight again, someone might take a picture or video of it!”

Victor snorted and looked at Eileen. “Do you want to go? Or do you want to sleep here?”

Eileen frowned. She really disliked how cold and mocking his tone was. She turned around, patted Fia’s hand, and said, “Take care of your health. I’ll visit you again when I have the time.”

“Eileen...”

“Don’t worry. They can’t kill me that easily!” Eileen gave Fia a brilliant smile before turning and leaving.

Fia stood there, stunned.

She suddenly wanted to cry.

Why must the two of them suffer so much? Loving people that they - shouldn’t? Suffering pain that they shouldn’t have to?

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 205

The world was huge. As long as they could let go of the men they desired, they would eventually find someone that loved them, right?

At the end of the day, it was because they treated themselves too cheaply!

“Fia, Eileen’s going to be fine.” Conrad walked over to Fia’s side and wanted to hug her, but she pushed him away, and she herself took a few steps away too.

When Jason saw what happened, he gave her a hand and helped her.

“Thanks, Evans. Sorry for being such a bother.”

“It’s fine. Go back to your bed and rest,” Jason said to her caringly. He had just finished a surgery. He had rushed over when he knew what was happening.

Fia turned around and went into the ward. When she thought of the things that Eileen was facing, her hands and feet began to shake.

She had seen too much of this kind of happening in the entertainment industry. If the crisis wasn’t managed well, Eileen’s career could be destroyed.

Worried that she would fall after climbing up the bed when he saw that she didn’t have much strength, Conrad quickly ran over to hold her.

“Let go of me!” Fia roared at him. When she remembered that he had just had a candlelight dinner with Esme before coming, she felt that he was filthy!

Conrad carefully put her down and stared at her.

“I can help with Eileen’s case, as long as you need me to.”

“How are you supposed to help? Do you know who did this? How did the reporters know that Eileen would visit me at the hospital today that they even camped right outside the door just waiting for her?!”

“What are you saying?” Conrad was stunned. “You suspect that it’s me?”

“You must have told Esme!”

Fia pushed his arm away. “It’s fine if you’re just hurting me, but why must you hurt my only friend too?! Do you know how difficult it is for her? You don’t, but I do! All you see her as is the most popular celebrity in Victor’s company and you assumed that she managed to rise up the ranks thanks to him! Did she not make her sacrifices? If she really is nothing, then even Victor couldn’t make her popular no matter how much power he has in the entertainment business!”

Conrad was getting a headache. “I was eating with Esme just now. I didn’t tell her that Eileen would be coming today. She didn’t have the time to call the reporters here either!”

“Oh, shut up!” Fia screeched. She didn’t want to hear him defending Esme.

Jason had been waiting outside the door for a little before coming in and looking Conrad straight in the eyes. “Mr. Maxwell, you’re making my patient’s emotions worse. Please leave!”

What Jason did obviously lighted up Conrad’s fury. He instantly turned it toward Jason.

“Why are you still here?! What’s my wife’s relationship with you?! Why do you keep appearing whenever something happens?!”

Jason frowned and said, “We’re friends.”

“Friends? Friends or lovers?!” Conrad began spouting nonsense.

Fia became furious and hurled her pillow at Conrad.

“Don’t just hurt anyone like a rabid dog!”

Conrad became even angrier and glared at Fia with dark eyes.

“Do you dare swear that he has nothing to do with you? Swear that he doesn’t like you?”

Fia was stunned. She was no fool. She also realized that Jason had been becoming too friendly when it was about her.

“The one in your womb...” Conrad didn’t want to say it, but his eyes were already on Fia’s stomach.

Fia was so angry that she almost coughed out blood. He was suspecting that the child was not his!

Conrad felt that the topic was too humiliating for both of them, so he took out his phone and selected some pictures, and showed them to

Fia.

“Take a look at these!”

All the pictures were of her and Jason together...

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 206

All the pictures taken were of her and Jason.

Every time she was in trouble, Jason would take care of her. The deep concern in his eyes. All the angles were just right. Her gentleness. Jason's compassion.

If it was not because she was the subject of the photo, she too would think that the man and woman in the picture had something going on between them.

"Anything else you want to say?" Conrad could see the clashing of emotions in Fia's eyes. "Anything else you want to argue about?"

Fia looked at Jason and said, "Doctor Evans, leave us."

It was too embarrassing. She didn't want to drag him into this mess.

Jason glanced at the pictures in Conrad's phone and knew what she was going to face. He didn't believe that leaving would be a good choice at this time.

"Mr. Maxwell. To be honest with you, I do admire Fia. But unlike you, I know where the line is drawn! Instead of wasting your time accusing me and Fia, why not reflect on what you did!"

"You!" Conrad looked at Jason angrily, wanting to crush him if possible.

Fia quickly said, "Evans, please, I beg you. This is between us husband and wife... Let us deal with this ourselves."

Jason frowned and turned to leave.

Fia recalled everything that had happened recently... And she began, "I'm very tired now. I can't even feel a little bit of joy from you knowing about me being pregnant."

☞

Conrad looked at her with a frown. "What are you saying?"

“I don’t want anything else other than my grandma’s project. Let’s get a divorce.”

Conrad gritted his teeth. “What about the child?”

“Didn’t you say the baby’s not yours? So, what does that have to do with you?”

Their eyes met. When Conrad saw the defeat and deep despair in her eyes, he began to get anxious and he held her hand.

“When... When I saw the pictures, I began blabbering.”

How could he have suspected her? She had never been the kind of girl to ignore the rules.

Fia took away her hand. Not only was she tired of trying to force herself to smile, but she was also emotionally tired.

“After falling from the stairs, I thought that I’d lose my baby. And the fear finally hit me.”

She looked away toward the window and the streams of sunlight beyond it. “Let’s get a divorce. I’m willing to let you two be, just so that I can have a peaceful life. I’m willing to do that.”

Conrad’s heart trembled as he asked the same question. “What about the baby?”

“There are many children born into unloving families in this world. There are also children that have to face their parents divorcing. Every child in this world has to face their own sufferings. I believe my child can make it.” Fia placed a hand on her belly and quietly apologized.

But she was really getting scared. She could give her life up, but she had to think about the baby.

Esme was becoming obsessed. If she stayed with Conrad, she didn’t

And this man was so indecisive. He would sometimes choose to stand with Esme. If that was the case, why must she force herself to stay in a cage of her own making?

“Let’s divorce!”

She raised her eyes and looked at Conrad. “Have Silas prepare the divorce papers and I’ll sign them. We can complete the procedure as soon as I’m out of the hospital.”

When she saw his silence, she said, “Since you know so many people, I can give you my documents. You can then proceed with getting the divorce papers done.”

“No!” Conrad’s eyes turned red. “I won’t divorce you. You’re carrying my baby. Even if you don’t acknowledge it, the baby’s still mine! You and I both didn’t have a whole family... We can’t let our child walk the same path we did!”

Fia’s eyes shook with indecisiveness and remembered the conversation between the two of them many years ago.

It was during an autumn outing that the school had organized. She had been sent by the other students to collect some firewood. She fell from the hill and hurt her leg, and had encountered Conrad there.

She was sobbing, and Conrad was cursing. “Oh gods, can you stop crying for once? All you do is cry and cry! There are so many boys in your class. Why didn’t you ask them to collect the firewood?” She then looked at him timidly and sobbed. “But they sent me...”

No data found.

No data found.

No data found.

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 210

“Sure,” Conrad agreed and asked, “Doctor, is there anything that I need to take into consideration?”

As long as he was not talking to Jason, his attitude toward a doctor was quite friendly.

Sally put her pen back into her pocket and stared at Conrad for a while before saying, “If you don’t have much to do, chat with your wife. Make sure that she’s feeling happy and don’t just let any random person appear in front of her.”

Conrad frowned. No matter how foolish a person was, he knew that he was being scolded.

After Sally left, Conrad sat down by the bed and gave Fia a massage. He then asked, “You’re close to that doctor?”

“What about it?” Fia asked as she glanced at Conrad coldly. “Do you think that Doctor Hall is the same type as my cousin and looks like a mature and beautiful woman?”

Conrad’s expression changed slightly and the strength of his massage increased along with it.

“Stop being ridiculous. It’s just that she seems to be giving you special treatment.”

“Doctor Hall is so pretty and so kind. She treats everyone gently.”

“It’s not because of Doctor Evans?”

Fia frowned. “She’s Evans’s colleague and they have a good relationship. She was the one that helped me with my body checkup.”

When Conrad heard her say Jason’s name again, he felt somewhat uncomfortable. He tried his best to ignore it and said, “Don’t you think she’s a good match for Doctor Evans?”

2/3

Fia agreed. “They’re both doctors and they speak the same language. They’re definitely suited for each other. However, that’s their business, so don’t interfere.”

Conrad’s massaging hands moved from her legs to her hands and then to her waist. He was intentionally brushing his skin against hers.

“I don’t want to suspect you and Doctor Evans too. But that doctor was quite good, so maybe you can make some chances for them.”

Fia also believed it to be so, that Sally was a good woman. But she was afraid after what happened with Lola. She had completely changed after introducing her to Jason.

She didn’t want to mess up again and caused someone as kind as Jason to end up in an unhappy marriage.

“We can never find out what’s inside a human’s heart. I’m not Cupid, so I shouldn’t just matchmake at will. If Doctor Evans and Doctor Hall are fated to be together, they’ll naturally get together.”

Conrad’s hand stopped and held Fia at the chin, forcing her to look at him.

“Is it because you’re reluctant?”

”

Fia rolled her eyes and couldn’t even be bothered to answer the question.

“Fia... Don’t make me doubt you.”

“As if you haven’t doubted me enough.” Fia’s tone was cold. “You can even suspect that our baby might not be yours. If there’s something wrong with your body and I accidentally got pregnant, it makes sense that you’re suspicious! But you have all these filthy ideas in your mind from just a few pictures! Why can’t I suspect that you had slept with Esme and had your own children?!”

Conrad couldn’t say anything back to her.

Fia smiled and held his hand that was holding her chin.

“And here you asked me to find a partner for Doctor Evans. Why don’t you find a partner for my cousin?”

The topic was becoming more and more aggressive. Just then, a gentle voice came. “Conrad, Fia, why are you fighting?”

It was Esme. She had come without an invitation. Her expression was filled with innocence and fearfulness.

“Fia, are you fighting with Conrad because of me? It isn’t worth it.”

She forced a smile as she approached the bed with a gift basket in her hand.

Read Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 202

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 202

Eileen turned off her screen and gave Fia a hug.

“Once you’re discharged, I’ll take you to a candlelight dinner.”

Fia didn’t say anything. Sadness, disappointment, envy... She had a lot of bad emotions toward Esme.

And all of this was because of Conrad. Because she loved him.

“I’ll buy you roses and presents, okay?”

Eileen consoled her and placed her hand on Fia’s belly. “We can’t be sad for the child’s sake. You must protect yourself and your child.”

She regretted showing Fia the picture.

If she had known, she would have confronted Conrad and Esme

instead of showing it to Fia.

“I’m so sorry, Fia.”

“This has nothing to do with you, Eileen. I know you’re doing this for my own good because you’re worried that I’m being deceived.”

Fia tried her best to force a smile and said, "Eileen, after all of this, I don't have hope that my marriage will end in happiness now. You have to work hard."

Eileen frowned and said, "I... I'm not doing that well either. But we have to get it together and beat the people who want to see us give up."

"Yeah, sure."

Just then, Eileen's phone rang.

It was her assistant, Lyn. She turned around and took the call, her face slowly turning white.

2/3

When Fia saw her face turn pale after receiving the call, she asked worryingly, "What happened?"

"It's fine. It's about work. Someone took my role as the female lead in one of the shows that I'm supposed to star in."

"Then go look for help so you can get your role back."

"Yeah. Rest well. Don't look at your phone and just lie down and rest. I'll treat you to a candlelight dinner later!"

"Sure!" Fia smiled. To her, Eileen's care was like a ray of light in the darkness.

Eileen wore her hat and put on her mask, and then walked out of the ward. She didn't expect to be surrounded the moment she walked out, but she was. They were all media reporters.

"Ms. Reid, can you explain the video on the internet of you and your boss?"

"Ms. Reid, are you your boss' mistress?"

"No wonder you got popular so quickly! It's because of Mr. Maxwell!"

Eileen looked at all the reporters who were like rabid dogs through her sunglasses. They kept on asking all the vile questions without giving her a chance to breathe or answer the questions.

But she knew that there was nothing left for her to explain.

That video was enough to explain everything. All her effort was for nothing because now everyone would think that her success was due to her sleeping with her boss!

When she came to visit Fia, she hid her tracks and didn't see anyone. Seeing so many reporters waiting here, it was obvious that someone familiar with her knew that she would come and had prepared this trap for her.

"Homewrecker," she mumbled. She wished she could tear Esme apart. Not only did she have time to seduce Conrad, she even had the time to set up a trap for her.

Fia had just gone to the washroom and wanted to check the time on her phone. And that was how she saw Eileen and Victor on tonight's hot searches. Everyone was cursing Eileen.

She wanted to give Eileen a call. But when she remembered how her expression suddenly changed after picking up that call, she already knew that it was because of this.

She had a bad feeling. She immediately opened the door to her ward and saw Eileen being surrounded. They kept on questioning her and they even pushed her. Eileen had fallen down a few times.

"Eileen!" Fia shouted, but Eileen couldn't hear her at all.

She looked around anxiously and spotted a fire extinguisher. She grabbed it and blasted the group with it.

The reporters around Eileen were stunned. When there was an opening, she quickly rushed over, pulled Eileen into her ward, and locked the door.

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 203

Everything happened so quickly. Fia sat back on the bed, gasping for air.

Eileen simply looked at Fia numbly and she almost wept.

When Fia saw how she was doing, she quickly gave her a hug.

“Don’t be afraid. They can’t come in. The hospital’s security will get rid of them.”

“Fia, you’re pregnant! If something happened to you while you’re trying to help me, I’d hate myself for it! This is because of me. You shouldn’t have run into the mix!” Eileen bit her lips, trying her best not to cry.

“What are you talking about, Eileen? Every time something happens, you’re the one beside me.” The two girls hugged each other and became each other’s light in the darkness.

When Conrad arrived at the floor that Fia was on, he noticed the group of reporters standing outside her door. He was so worried that he immediately ran over.

“What are you doing?! Move out of the way!”

The reporters stared at Conrad and bravely handed the microphone to him.

“Mr. Victor is your cousin, Mr. Conrad. Do you know of his sexual relationship with his actress?”

“Mr. Conrad, there are always rumors between you and your wife’s cousin, meanwhile, your cousin slept with an actress from his company despite having a fiancée. You two cousins are acting quite similarly. How does the saying go again? The apple doesn’t fall far from the tree, right?”

Conrad’s amber eyes narrowed as he looked at all the reporters with burning eyes. He then glanced at the reporters’ tags around their necks.

“How bold. I hope you can be just as courageous after this!”

After threatening them, he extended his hand and pushed away several of the reporters that were blocking the door. He knocked at the door nervously. “Fia! How are you, Fia?”

There was hope in Fia’s eyes as she grabbed Eileen’s hand tightly.

“Conrad’s back, Eileen. He can definitely clear this up.”

“Don’t beg him for me,” Eileen said to Fia in a no-nonsense tone. “I don’t want to be someone that can be used as someone else’s weakness!”

Fia was stunned. She didn’t understand what she meant by that.

Eileen was worried that she had scared her, so she quickly said with a smile, “Victor started this, so he should solve this. Don’t worry. I’ll be fine.”

“But so many people are cursing at you. I’m worried that they’ll dox you or trace you or something.”

“They can’t. I have residences that are not under my name so I’ll go. and hide for a while. Once this thing has blown over, I’ll come visit you again.”

“How long will it take?” Fia was becoming worried and anxious. For some reason, she had a feeling that once they separated, she didn’t know when she would see her again.

“We can always keep in touch through the phone. I won’t disappear, so trust me.”

Very quickly, under Conrad’s direction, Silas arranged for a group of bodyguards to guard the place. Jason had also appeared with the hospital’s security to get rid of the reporters.

When the door opened, Conrad held Fia's shoulders and looked at her carefully. "Are you okay?"

"I'm fine, but Eileen..."

"I'm fine too." Eileen cut Fia off with an icy demeanor. She looked at Conrad coldly and said, "But you should take good care of that dog. that wagged its tail at you!"

Conrad was no fool. He also recalled what happened at the bar. Just as he had met with Esme at the bar, he had seen Victor carrying a heavily disguised Eileen upstairs.

And the video that Victor and Eileen were in... He knew the place. It had the same finishings as the bar he went to.

"I'll ask Esme about it. If she did it, I'll bring her here to apologize to you!"

"No thanks!" Eileen smiled scornfully. "Rather than using this time to do all this, you should spend the time protecting Fia! Always remember that that homewrecker isn't as innocent and kind as you think. She's an angler fish that will swallow you whole if you let her!"

It was at this time that Lyn, Eileen's assistant, finally made it in together with Victor.

"Eileen, let's go."

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 204

Eileen looked away and saw Victor standing outside. She would be lying if she said she wasn't touched,

She knew that he had a very important meeting today and he needed to go to the country's capital city Lumenpolis to have a meeting. But to think that he would appear here with some fatigue visible on his face...

She couldn't help but walk over, wanting to speak to him.

However, Victor raised his hand, stopping her in her tracks. "Don't get too close. There are eyes everywhere."

Eileen's heart shattered at once.

She thought that he would at least console her, hold her, or say a few words, seeing that he had rushed over.

"Then why did you even come in the first place?"

Victor frowned and said, "You're my company's celebrity, so of course I have the duty to be here."

"You're worried that our relationship is going to get even more muddled?"

Victor could see the complicated emotions in her eyes and couldn't wait until there was no one else around. "My company has already dealt with the video. There's no trace of it on the internet."

"The people who were meant to watch it already had," Eileen sneered. She didn't want this. What she wanted was his compassion. The part that was true.

"As long as there is no proof it was you, we can make a video afterward proving that it's not you," Victor said with a stern expression. "Not to mention that I'm not married. I can love whoever I want. They can't destroy your reputation without making things up."

Chapter 204

2/3

"But it wasn't made up." Eileen smiled. "We all know that it wasn't made up."

"I'm very sorry," Victor said. He was very regretful that he hadn't locked the door and protected her.

She had been avoiding him lately. He was thinking too much about her and that had left an opening.

“Whatever. There’s no point continuing this conversation. Let’s leave this place first.”

Fia walked over and held Eileen’s wrist as she glared at Victor.

“You’re a man. A real man. You need to give Eileen an explanation !”

Jason could sense that the atmosphere was getting a bit awkward and felt that they shouldn’t be listening to any more of the conversation. So, he told the security to spread out and make sure no family members of the patients were close.

Victor massaged his head and said, “Even Eileen doesn’t dare to talk with me in that kind of tone.”

“I’m not your employee, and I’m not waiting for you to pay me my salary! There’s something that I need to make clear. You need to be responsible for this and think of her reputation!”

“What do you want?” Victor narrowed his eyes as he looked at Fia. She may be quite subservient in front of his cousin, but she was quite aggressive toward him.

“You either marry Sapphire and stop meeting with Eileen, or you leave Sapphire and be responsible for Eileen. Don’t think you can have the love of the two of them at the same time and become the protagonist of a harem story!”

Victor raised his eyebrow and looked at Conrad. “Conrad, have you not educated your wife? Look at how she’s speaking to me, your older cousin.”

Conrad said with a straight face, “Fia’s right. You should give both Sapphire and Eileen an explanation.”

“What? How interesting: Your hands aren’t that clean. What right do you think you have to be micromanaging me?”

Fia quickly pulled Conrad away when she saw that the two cousins were going to fight again and glared at him.

“Talk it out, would you? If you fight again, someone might take a picture or video of it!”

Victor snorted and looked at Eileen. "Do you want to go? Or do you want to sleep here?"

Eileen frowned. She really disliked how cold and mocking his tone was. She turned around, patted Fia's hand, and said, "Take care of your health. I'll visit you again when I have the time."

"Eileen..."

"Don't worry. They can't kill me that easily!" Eileen gave Fia a brilliant smile before turning and leaving.

Fia stood there, stunned.

She suddenly wanted to cry.

Why must the two of them suffer so much? Loving people that they - shouldn't? Suffering pain that they shouldn't have to?

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 205

The world was huge. As long as they could let go of the men they desired, they would eventually find someone that loved them, right?

At the end of the day, it was because they treated themselves too cheaply!

"Fia, Eileen's going to be fine." Conrad walked over to Fia's side and wanted to hug her, but she pushed him away, and she herself took a few steps away too.

When Jason saw what happened, he gave her a hand and helped her.

"Thanks, Evans. Sorry for being such a bother."

"It's fine. Go back to your bed and rest," Jason said to her caringly. He had just finished a surgery. He had rushed over when he knew what was happening.

Fia turned around and went into the ward. When she thought of the things that Eileen was facing, her hands and feet began to shake.

She had seen too much of this kind of happening in the entertainment industry. If the crisis wasn't managed well, Eileen's career could be destroyed.

Worried that she would fall after climbing up the bed when he saw that she didn't have much strength, Conrad quickly ran over to hold her.

"Let go of me!" Fia roared at him. When she remembered that he had just had a candlelight dinner with Esme before coming, she felt that he was filthy!

Conrad carefully put her down and stared at her.

"I can help with Eileen's case, as long as you need me to."

"How are you supposed to help? Do you know who did this? How did the reporters know that Eileen would visit me at the hospital today that they even camped right outside the door just waiting for her?!"

"What are you saying?" Conrad was stunned. "You suspect that it's me?"

"You must have told Esme!"

Fia pushed his arm away. "It's fine if you're just hurting me, but why must you hurt my only friend too?! Do you know how difficult it is for her? You don't, but I do! All you see her as is the most popular celebrity in Victor's company and you assumed that she managed to rise up the ranks thanks to him! Did she not make her sacrifices? If she really is nothing, then even Victor couldn't make her popular no matter how much power he has in the entertainment business!"

Conrad was getting a headache. "I was eating with Esme just now. I didn't tell her that Eileen would be coming today. She didn't have the time to call the reporters here either!"

"Oh, shut up!" Fia screeched. She didn't want to hear him defending Esme.

Jason had been waiting outside the door for a little before coming in and looking Conrad straight in the eyes. "Mr. Maxwell, you're making my patient's emotions worse. Please leave!"

What Jason did obviously lighted up Conrad's fury. He instantly turned it toward Jason.

“Why are you still here?! What’s my wife’s relationship with you?! Why do you keep appearing whenever something happens?!”

Jason frowned and said, “We’re friends.”

“Friends? Friends or lovers?!” Conrad began spouting nonsense.

Fia became furious and hurled her pillow at Conrad.

“Don’t just hurt anyone like a rabid dog!”

Conrad became even angrier and glared at Fia with dark eyes.

“Do you dare swear that he has nothing to do with you? Swear that he doesn’t like you?”

Fia was stunned. She was no fool. She also realized that Jason had been becoming too friendly when it was about her.

“The one in your womb...” Conrad didn’t want to say it, but his eyes were already on Fia’s stomach.

Fia was so angry that she almost coughed out blood. He was suspecting that the child was not his!

Conrad felt that the topic was too humiliating for both of them, so he took out his phone and selected some pictures, and showed them to

Fia.

“Take a look at these!”

All the pictures were of her and Jason together...

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 206

All the pictures taken were of her and Jason.

Every time she was in trouble, Jason would take care of her. The deep concern in his eyes. All the angles were just right. Her gentleness. Jason’s compassion.

If it was not because she was the subject of the photo, she too would think that the man and woman in the picture had something going on between them.

“Anything else you want to say?” Conrad could see the clashing of emotions in Fia’s eyes. “Anything else you want to argue about?”

Fia looked at Jason and said, “Doctor Evans, leave us.”

It was too embarrassing. She didn’t want to drag him into this mess.

Jason glanced at the pictures in Conrad’s phone and knew what she was going to face. He didn’t believe that leaving would be a good choice at this time.

“Mr. Maxwell. To be honest with you, I do admire Fia. But unlike you, I know where the line is drawn! Instead of wasting your time accusing me and Fia, why not reflect on what you did!”

“You!” Conrad looked at Jason angrily, wanting to crush him if possible.

Fia quickly said, “Evans, please, I beg you. This is between us husband and wife... Let us deal with this ourselves.”

Jason frowned and turned to leave.

Fia recalled everything that had happened recently... And she began, “I’m very tired now. I can’t even feel a little bit of joy from you knowing about me being pregnant.”

☞

Conrad looked at her with a frown. “What are you saying?”

“I don’t want anything else other than my grandma’s project. Let’s get a divorce.”

Conrad gritted his teeth. “What about the child?”

“Didn’t you say the baby’s not yours? So, what does that have to do with you?”

Their eyes met. When Conrad saw the defeat and deep despair in her eyes, he began to get anxious and he held her hand.

“When... When I saw the pictures, I began blabbering.”

How could he have suspected her? She had never been the kind of girl to ignore the rules.

Fia took away her hand. Not only was she tired of trying to force herself to smile, but she was also emotionally tired.

“After falling from the stairs, I thought that I’d lose my baby. And the fear finally hit me.”

She looked away toward the window and the streams of sunlight beyond it. “Let’s get a divorce. I’m willing to let you two be, just so that I can have a peaceful life. I’m willing to do that.”

Conrad’s heart trembled as he asked the same question. “What about the baby?”

“There are many children born into unloving families in this world. There are also children that have to face their parents divorcing. Every child in this world has to face their own sufferings. I believe my child can make it.” Fia placed a hand on her belly and quietly apologized.

But she was really getting scared. She could give her life up, but she had to think about the baby.

Esme was becoming obsessed. If she stayed with Conrad, she didn’t

And this man was so indecisive. He would sometimes choose to stand with Esme. If that was the case, why must she force herself to stay in a cage of her own making?

“Let’s divorce!”

She raised her eyes and looked at Conrad. “Have Silas prepare the divorce papers and I’ll sign them. We can complete the procedure as soon as I’m out of the hospital.”

When she saw his silence, she said, “Since you know so many people, I can give you my documents. You can then proceed with getting the divorce papers done.”

“No!” Conrad’s eyes turned red. “I won’t divorce you. You’re carrying my baby. Even if you don’t acknowledge it, the baby’s still mine! You and I both didn’t have a whole family... We can’t let our child walk the same path we did!”

Fia’s eyes shook with indecisiveness and remembered the conversation between the two of them many years ago.

It was during an autumn outing that the school had organized. She had been sent by the other students to collect some firewood. She fell from the hill and hurt her leg, and had encountered Conrad there.

She was sobbing, and Conrad was cursing. “Oh gods, can you stop crying for once? All you do is cry and cry! There are so many boys in your class. Why didn’t you ask them to collect the firewood?” She then looked at him timidly and sobbed. “But they sent me...”

No data found.

No data found.

No data found.

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 210

“Sure,” Conrad agreed and asked, “Doctor, is there anything that I need to take into consideration?”

As long as he was not talking to Jason, his attitude toward a doctor was quite friendly.

Sally put her pen back into her pocket and stared at Conrad for a while before saying, “If you don’t have much to do, chat with your wife. Make sure that she’s feeling happy and don’t just let any random person appear in front of her.”

Conrad frowned. No matter how foolish a person was, he knew that he was being scolded.

After Sally left, Conrad sat down by the bed and gave Fia a massage. He then asked, "You're close to that doctor?"

"What about it?" Fia asked as she glanced at Conrad coldly. "Do you think that Doctor Hall is the same type as my cousin and looks like a mature and beautiful woman?"

Conrad's expression changed slightly and the strength of his massage increased along with it.

"Stop being ridiculous. It's just that she seems to be giving you special treatment."

"Doctor Hall is so pretty and so kind. She treats everyone gently."

"It's not because of Doctor Evans?"

Fia frowned. "She's Evans's colleague and they have a good relationship. She was the one that helped me with my body checkup."

When Conrad heard her say Jason's name again, he felt somewhat uncomfortable. He tried his best to ignore it and said, "Don't you think she's a good match for Doctor Evans?"

2/3

Fia agreed. "They're both doctors and they speak the same language. They're definitely suited for each other. However, that's their business, so don't interfere."

Conrad's massaging hands moved from her legs to her hands and then to her waist. He was intentionally brushing his skin against hers.

"I don't want to suspect you and Doctor Evans too. But that doctor was quite good, so maybe you can make some chances for them."

Fia also believed it to be so, that Sally was a good woman. But she was afraid after what happened with Lola. She had completely changed after introducing her to Jason.

She didn't want to mess up again and caused someone as kind as Jason to end up in an unhappy marriage.

"We can never find out what's inside a human's heart. I'm not Cupid, so I shouldn't just matchmake at will. If Doctor Evans and Doctor Hall are fated to be together, they'll naturally get together."

Conrad's hand stopped and held Fia at the chin, forcing her to look at him.

"Is it because you're reluctant?"

"

Fia rolled her eyes and couldn't even be bothered to answer the question.

"Fia... Don't make me doubt you."

"As if you haven't doubted me enough." Fia's tone was cold. "You can even suspect that our baby might not be yours. If there's something wrong with your body and I accidentally got pregnant, it makes sense that you're suspicious! But you have all these filthy ideas in your mind from just a few pictures! Why can't I suspect that you had slept with Esme and had your own children?!"

Conrad couldn't say anything back to her.

Fia smiled and held his hand that was holding her chin.

"And here you asked me to find a partner for Doctor Evans. Why don't you find a partner for my cousin?"

The topic was becoming more and more aggressive. Just then, a gentle voice came. "Conrad, Fia, why are you fighting?"

It was Esme. She had come without an invitation. Her expression was filled with innocence and fearfulness.

"Fia, are you fighting with Conrad because of me? It isn't worth it."

She forced a smile as she approached the bed with a gift basket in her hand.

Read Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 203

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 203

Everything happened so quickly. Fia sat back on the bed, gasping for air.

Eileen simply looked at Fia numbly and she almost wept.

When Fia saw how she was doing, she quickly gave her a hug.

"Don't be afraid. They can't come in. The hospital's security will get rid of them."

"Fia, you're pregnant! If something happened to you while you're trying to help me, I'd hate myself for it! This is because of me. You shouldn't have run into the mix!" Eileen bit her lips, trying her best not to cry.

"What are you talking about, Eileen? Every time something happens, you're the one beside me." The two girls hugged each other and became each other's light in the darkness.

When Conrad arrived at the floor that Fia was on, he noticed the group of reporters standing outside her door. He was so worried that he immediately ran over.

"What are you doing?! Move out of the way!"

The reporters stared at Conrad and bravely handed the microphone to him.

“Mr. Victor is your cousin, Mr. Conrad. Do you know of his sexual relationship with his actress?”

“Mr. Conrad, there are always rumors between you and your wife’s cousin, meanwhile, your cousin slept with an actress from his company despite having a fiancée. You two cousins are acting quite similarly. How does the saying go again? The apple doesn’t fall far from the tree, right?”

Conrad’s amber eyes narrowed as he looked at all the reporters with burning eyes. He then glanced at the reporters’ tags around their necks.

“How bold. I hope you can be just as courageous after this!”

After threatening them, he extended his hand and pushed away several of the reporters that were blocking the door. He knocked at the door nervously. “Fia! How are you, Fia?”

There was hope in Fia’s eyes as she grabbed Eileen’s hand tightly.

“Conrad’s back, Eileen. He can definitely clear this up.”

“Don’t beg him for me,” Eileen said to Fia in a no-nonsense tone. “I don’t want to be someone that can be used as someone else’s weakness!”

Fia was stunned. She didn’t understand what she meant by that.

Eileen was worried that she had scared her, so she quickly said with a smile, “Victor started this, so he should solve this. Don’t worry. I’ll be fine.”

“But so many people are cursing at you. I’m worried that they’ll dox you or trace you or something.”

“They can’t. I have residences that are not under my name so I’ll go. and hide for a while. Once this thing has blown over, I’ll come visit you again.”

“How long will it take?” Fia was becoming worried and anxious. For some reason, she had a feeling that once they separated, she didn’t know when she would see her again.

“We can always keep in touch through the phone. I won’t disappear, so trust me.”

Very quickly, under Conrad’s direction, Silas arranged for a group of bodyguards to guard the place. Jason had also appeared with the hospital’s security to get rid of the reporters.

When the door opened, Conrad held Fia’s shoulders and looked at her carefully. “Are you okay?”

“I’m fine, but Eileen...”

“I’m fine too.” Eileen cut Fia off with an icy demeanor. She looked at Conrad coldly and said, “But you should take good care of that dog. that wagged its tail at you!”

Conrad was no fool. He also recalled what happened at the bar. Just as he had met with Esme at the bar, he had seen Victor carrying a heavily disguised Eileen upstairs.

And the video that Victor and Eileen were in... He knew the place. It had the same finishings as the bar he went to.

“I’ll ask Esme about it. If she did it, I’ll bring her here to apologize to you!”

“No thanks!” Eileen smiled scornfully. “Rather than using this time to do all this, you should spend the time protecting Fia! Always remember that that homewrecker isn’t as innocent and kind as you think. She’s an angler fish that will swallow you whole if you let her!”

It was at this time that Lyn, Eileen’s assistant, finally made it in together with Victor.

“Eileen, let’s go.”

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 204

Eileen looked away and saw Victor standing outside. She would be lying if she said she wasn't touched,

She knew that he had a very important meeting today and he needed to go to the country's capital city Lumenpolis to have a meeting. But to think that he would appear here with some fatigue visible on his face...

She couldn't help but walk over, wanting to speak to him.

However, Victor raised his hand, stopping her in her tracks. "Don't get too close. There are eyes everywhere."

Eileen's heart shattered at once.

She thought that he would at least console her, hold her, or say a few words, seeing that he had rushed over.

"Then why did you even come in the first place?"

Victor frowned and said, "You're my company's celebrity, so of course

I have the duty to be here."

"You're worried that our relationship is going to get even more muddled?"

Victor could see the complicated emotions in her eyes and couldn't wait until there was no one else around. "My company has already dealt with the video. There's no trace of it on the internet."

"The people who were meant to watch it already had," Eileen sneered. She didn't want this. What she wanted was his compassion. The part that was true.

"As long as there is no proof it was you, we can make a video afterward proving that it's not you," Victor said with a stern

Chapter 204

expression. “Not to mention that I’m not married. I can love whoever I want. They can’t destroy your reputation without making things up.”

“But it wasn’t made up.” Eileen smiled. “We all know that it wasn’t made up.”

“I’m very sorry,” Victor said. He was very regretful that he hadn’t locked the door and protected her.

She had been avoiding him lately. He was thinking too much about her and that had left an opening.

“Whatever. There’s no point continuing this conversation. Let’s leave this place first.”

Fia walked over and held Eileen’s wrist as she glared at Victor.

“You’re a man. A real man. You need to give Eileen an explanation !”

Jason could sense that the atmosphere was getting a bit awkward and felt that they shouldn’t be listening to any more of the conversation. So, he told the security to spread out and make sure no family members of the patients were close.

Victor massaged his head and said, “Even Eileen doesn’t dare to talk with me in that kind of tone.”

“I’m not your employee, and I’m not waiting for you to pay me my salary! There’s something that I need to make clear. You need to be responsible for this and think of her reputation!”

“What do you want?” Victor narrowed his eyes as he looked at Fia. She may be quite subservient in front of his cousin, but she was quite aggressive toward him.

“You either marry Sapphire and stop meeting with Eileen, or you leave Sapphire and be responsible for Eileen. Don’t think you can have the love of the two of them at the same time and become the protagonist of a harem story!”

Victor raised his eyebrow and looked at Conrad. “Conrad, have you not educated your wife? Look at how she’s speaking to me, your older cousin.”

Conrad said with a straight face, "Fia's right. You should give both Sapphire and Eileen an explanation."

"What? How interesting: Your hands aren't that clean. What right do you think you have to be micromanaging me?"

Fia quickly pulled Conrad away when she saw that the two cousins were going to fight again and glared at him.

"Talk it out, would you? If you fight again, someone might take a picture or video of it!"

Victor snorted and looked at Eileen. "Do you want to go? Or do you want to sleep here?"

Eileen frowned. She really disliked how cold and mocking his tone was. She turned around, patted Fia's hand, and said, "Take care of your health. I'll visit you again when I have the time."

"Eileen..."

"Don't worry. They can't kill me that easily!" Eileen gave Fia a brilliant smile before turning and leaving.

Fia stood there, stunned.

She suddenly wanted to cry.

Why must the two of them suffer so much? Loving people that they - shouldn't? Suffering pain that they shouldn't have to?

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 205

The world was huge. As long as they could let go of the men they desired, they would eventually find someone that loved them, right?

At the end of the day, it was because they treated themselves too cheaply!

"Fia, Eileen's going to be fine." Conrad walked over to Fia's side and wanted to hug her, but she pushed him away, and she herself took a few steps away too.

When Jason saw what happened, he gave her a hand and helped her.

“Thanks, Evans. Sorry for being such a bother.”

“It’s fine. Go back to your bed and rest,” Jason said to her caringly. He had just finished a surgery. He had rushed over when he knew what was happening.

Fia turned around and went into the ward. When she thought of the things that Eileen was facing, her hands and feet began to shake.

She had seen too much of this kind of happening in the entertainment industry. If the crisis wasn’t managed well, Eileen’s career could be destroyed.

Worried that she would fall after climbing up the bed when he saw that she didn’t have much strength, Conrad quickly ran over to hold her.

“Let go of me!” Fia roared at him. When she remembered that he had just had a candlelight dinner with Esme before coming, she felt that he was filthy!

Conrad carefully put her down and stared at her.

“I can help with Eileen’s case, as long as you need me to.”

“How are you supposed to help? Do you know who did this? How did the reporters know that Eileen would visit me at the hospital today that they even camped right outside the door just waiting for her?!”

“What are you saying?’ Conrad was stunned. “You suspect that it’s me?”

“You must have told Esme!”

Fia pushed his arm away. “It’s fine if you’re just hurting me, but why must you hurt my only friend too?! Do you know how difficult it is for her? You don’t, but I do! All you see her as is the most popular celebrity in Victor’s company and you assumed that she managed to rise up the ranks thanks to him! Did she not make her sacrifices? If she really is nothing, then even Victor couldn’t make her popular no matter how much power he has in the entertainment business!”

Conrad was getting a headache. "I was eating with Esme just now. I didn't tell her that Eileen would be coming today. She didn't have the time to call the reporters here either!"

"Oh, shut up!" Fia screeched. She didn't want to hear him defending Esme.

Jason had been waiting outside the door for a little before coming in and looking Conrad straight in the eyes. "Mr. Maxwell, you're making my patient's emotions worse. Please leave!"

What Jason did obviously lighted up Conrad's fury. He instantly turned it toward Jason.

"Why are you still here?! What's my wife's relationship with you?! Why do you keep appearing whenever something happens?!"

Jason frowned and said, "We're friends."

"Friends? Friends or lovers?!" Conrad began spouting nonsense.

Fia became furious and hurled her pillow at Conrad.

"Don't just hurt anyone like a rabid dog!"

Conrad became even angrier and glared at Fia with dark eyes.

"Do you dare swear that he has nothing to do with you? Swear that he doesn't like you?"

Fia was stunned. She was no fool. She also realized that Jason had been becoming too friendly when it was about her.

"The one in your womb..." Conrad didn't want to say it, but his eyes were already on Fia's stomach.

Fia was so angry that she almost coughed out blood. He was suspecting that the child was not his!

Conrad felt that the topic was too humiliating for both of them, so he took out his phone and selected some pictures, and showed them to

Fia.

“Take a look at these!”

All the pictures were of her and Jason together...

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 206

All the pictures taken were of her and Jason.

Every time she was in trouble, Jason would take care of her. The deep concern in his eyes. All the angles were just right. Her gentleness. Jason's compassion.

If it was not because she was the subject of the photo, she too would think that the man and woman in the picture had something going on between them.

“Anything else you want to say?” Conrad could see the clashing of emotions in Fia's eyes. “Anything else you want to argue about?”

Fia looked at Jason and said, “Doctor Evans, leave us.”

It was too embarrassing. She didn't want to drag him into this mess.

Jason glanced at the pictures in Conrad's phone and knew what she was going to face. He didn't believe that leaving would be a good choice at this time.

“Mr. Maxwell. To be honest with you, I do admire Fia. But unlike you, I know where the line is drawn! Instead of wasting your time accusing me and Fia, why not reflect on what you did!”

“You!” Conrad looked at Jason angrily, wanting to crush him if possible.

Fia quickly said, “Evans, please, I beg you. This is between us husband and wife... Let us deal with this ourselves.”

Jason frowned and turned to leave.

Fia recalled everything that had happened recently... And she began, "I'm very tired now. I can't even feel a little bit of joy from you knowing about me being pregnant."

24

Conrad looked at her with a frown. "What are you saying?"

"I don't want anything else other than my grandma's project. Let's get a divorce."

Conrad gritted his teeth. "What about the child?"

"Didn't you say the baby's not yours? So, what does that have to do with you?"

Their eyes met. When Conrad saw the defeat and deep despair in her eyes, he began to get anxious and he held her hand.

"When... When I saw the pictures, I began blabbering."

How could he have suspected her? She had never been the kind of girl to ignore the rules.

Fia took away her hand. Not only was she tired of trying to force herself to smile, but she was also emotionally tired.

"After falling from the stairs, I thought that I'd lose my baby. And the fear finally hit me."

She looked away toward the window and the streams of sunlight beyond it. "Let's get a divorce. I'm willing to let you two be, just so that I can have a peaceful life. I'm willing to do that."

Conrad's heart trembled as he asked the same question. "What about the baby?"

"There are many children born into unloving families in this world. There are also children that have to face their parents divorcing. Every child in this world has to face their own sufferings. I believe my child can make it." Fia placed a hand on her belly and quietly apologized.

But she was really getting scared. She could give her life up, but she had to think about the baby.

Esme was becoming obsessed. If she stayed with Conrad, she didn't

And this man was so indecisive. He would sometimes choose to stand with Esme. If that was the case, why must she force herself to stay in a cage of her own making?

"Let's divorce!"

She raised her eyes and looked at Conrad. "Have Silas prepare the divorce papers and I'll sign them. We can complete the procedure as soon as I'm out of the hospital."

When she saw his silence, she said, "Since you know so many people, I can give you my documents. You can then proceed with getting the divorce papers done."

"No!" Conrad's eyes turned red. "I won't divorce you. You're carrying my baby. Even if you don't acknowledge it, the baby's still mine! You and I both didn't have a whole family... We can't let our child walk the same path we did!"

Fia's eyes shook with indecisiveness and remembered the conversation between the two of them many years ago.

It was during an autumn outing that the school had organized. She had been sent by the other students to collect some firewood. She fell from the hill and hurt her leg, and had encountered Conrad there.

She was sobbing, and Conrad was cursing. "Oh gods, can you stop crying for once? All you do is cry and cry! There are so many boys in your class. Why didn't you ask them to collect the firewood?" She then looked at him timidly and sobbed. "But they sent me..."

No data found.

No data found.

No data found.

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 210

"Sure," Conrad agreed and asked, "Doctor, is there anything that I need to take into consideration?”

As long as he was not talking to Jason, his attitude toward a doctor was quite friendly.

Sally put her pen back into her pocket and stared at Conrad for a while before saying, “If you don’t have much to do, chat with your wife. Make sure that she’s feeling happy and don’t just let any random person appear in front of her.”

Conrad frowned. No matter how foolish a person was, he knew that he was being scolded.

After Sally left, Conrad sat down by the bed and gave Fia a massage. He then asked, “You’re close to that doctor?”

“What about it?” Fia asked as she glanced at Conrad coldly. “Do you think that Doctor Hall is the same type as my cousin and looks like a mature and beautiful woman?”

Conrad’s expression changed slightly and the strength of his massage increased along with it.

“Stop being ridiculous. It’s just that she seems to be giving you special treatment.”

“Doctor Hall is so pretty and so kind. She treats everyone gently.”

“It’s not because of Doctor Evans?”

Fia frowned. “She’s Evans’s colleague and they have a good relationship. She was the one that helped me with my body checkup.”

When Conrad heard her say Jason’s name again, he felt somewhat uncomfortable. He tried his best to ignore it and said, “Don’t you think she’s a good match for Doctor Evans?”

2/3

Fia agreed. "They're both doctors and they speak the same language. They're definitely suited for each other. However, that's their business, so don't interfere."

Conrad's massaging hands moved from her legs to her hands and then to her waist. He was intentionally brushing his skin against hers.

"I don't want to suspect you and Doctor Evans too. But that doctor was quite good, so maybe you can make some chances for them."

Fia also believed it to be so, that Sally was a good woman. But she was afraid after what happened with Lola. She had completely changed after introducing her to Jason.

She didn't want to mess up again and caused someone as kind as Jason to end up in an unhappy marriage.

"We can never find out what's inside a human's heart. I'm not Cupid, so I shouldn't just matchmake at will. If Doctor Evans and Doctor Hall are fated to be together, they'll naturally get together."

Conrad's hand stopped and held Fia at the chin, forcing her to look at him.

"Is it because you're reluctant?"

"

Fia rolled her eyes and couldn't even be bothered to answer the question.

"Fia... Don't make me doubt you."

"As if you haven't doubted me enough." Fia's tone was cold. "You can even suspect that our baby might not be yours. If there's something wrong with your body and I accidentally got pregnant, it makes sense that you're suspicious! But you have all these filthy ideas in your mind from just a few pictures! Why can't I suspect that you had slept with Esme and had your own children?!"

Conrad couldn't say anything back to her.

Fia smiled and held his hand that was holding her chin.

"And here you asked me to find a partner for Doctor Evans. Why don't you find a partner for my cousin?"

The topic was becoming more and more aggressive. Just then, a gentle voice came. "Conrad, Fia, why are you fighting?"

It was Esme. She had come without an invitation. Her expression was filled with innocence and fearfulness.

"Fia, are you fighting with Conrad because of me? It isn't worth it."

She forced a smile as she approached the bed with a gift basket in her hand.

Read Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 204

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 204

Eileen looked away and saw Victor standing outside. She would be lying if she said she wasn't touched,

She knew that he had a very important meeting today and he needed to go to the country's capital city Lumenpolis to have a meeting. But to think that he would appear here with some fatigue visible on his face...

She couldn't help but walk over, wanting to speak to him.

However, Victor raised his hand, stopping her in her tracks. "Don't get too close. There are eyes everywhere."

Eileen's heart shattered at once.

She thought that he would at least console her, hold her, or say a few words, seeing that he had rushed over.

“Then why did you even come in the first place?”

Victor frowned and said, “You’re my company’s celebrity, so of course I have the duty to be here.”

“You’re worried that our relationship is going to get even more muddled?”

Victor could see the complicated emotions in her eyes and couldn’t wait until there was no one else around. “My company has already dealt with the video. There’s no trace of it on the internet.”

“The people who were meant to watch it already had,” Eileen sneered. She didn’t want this. What she wanted was his compassion. The part that was true.

“As long as there is no proof it was you, we can make a video afterward proving that it’s not you,” Victor said with a stern

Chapter 204

2/3

expression. “Not to mention that I’m not married. I can love whoever I want. They can’t destroy your reputation without making things up.”

“But it wasn’t made up.” Eileen smiled. “We all know that it wasn’t made up.”

“I’m very sorry,” Victor said. He was very regretful that he hadn’t locked the door and protected her.

She had been avoiding him lately. He was thinking too much about her and that had left an opening.

“Whatever. There’s no point continuing this conversation. Let’s leave this place first.”

Fia walked over and held Eileen’s wrist as she glared at Victor.

“You’re a man. A real man. You need to give Eileen an explanation !”

Jason could sense that the atmosphere was getting a bit awkward and felt that they shouldn’t be listening to any more of the conversation. So, he told the security to spread out and make sure no family members of the patients were close.

Victor massaged his head and said, "Even Eileen doesn't dare to talk with me in that kind of tone."

"I'm not your employee, and I'm not waiting for you to pay me my salary! There's something that I need to make clear. You need to be responsible for this and think of her reputation!"

"What do you want?" Victor narrowed his eyes as he looked at Fia. She may be quite subservient in front of his cousin, but she was quite aggressive toward him.

"You either marry Sapphire and stop meeting with Eileen, or you leave Sapphire and be responsible for Eileen. Don't think you can have the love of the two of them at the same time and become the protagonist of a harem story!"

Victor raised his eyebrow and looked at Conrad. "Conrad, have you not educated your wife? Look at how she's speaking to me, your older cousin."

Conrad said with a straight face, "Fia's right. You should give both Sapphire and Eileen an explanation."

"What? How interesting: Your hands aren't that clean. What right do you think you have to be micromanaging me?"

Fia quickly pulled Conrad away when she saw that the two cousins were going to fight again and glared at him.

"Talk it out, would you? If you fight again, someone might take a picture or video of it!"

Victor snorted and looked at Eileen. "Do you want to go? Or do you want to sleep here?"

Eileen frowned. She really disliked how cold and mocking his tone was. She turned around, patted Fia's hand, and said, "Take care of your health. I'll visit you again when I have the time."

"Eileen..."

“Don’t worry. They can’t kill me that easily!” Eileen gave Fia a brilliant smile before turning and leaving.

Fia stood there, stunned.

She suddenly wanted to cry.

Why must the two of them suffer so much? Loving people that they - shouldn’t? Suffering pain that they shouldn’t have to?

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 205

The world was huge. As long as they could let go of the men they desired, they would eventually find someone that loved them, right?

At the end of the day, it was because they treated themselves too cheaply!

“Fia, Eileen’s going to be fine.” Conrad walked over to Fia’s side and wanted to hug her, but she pushed him away, and she herself took a few steps away too.

When Jason saw what happened, he gave her a hand and helped her.

“Thanks, Evans. Sorry for being such a bother.”

“It’s fine. Go back to your bed and rest,” Jason said to her caringly. He had just finished a surgery. He had rushed over when he knew what was happening.

Fia turned around and went into the ward. When she thought of the things that Eileen was facing, her hands and feet began to shake.

She had seen too much of this kind of happening in the entertainment industry. If the crisis wasn’t managed well, Eileen’s career could be destroyed.

Worried that she would fall after climbing up the bed when he saw that she didn’t have much strength, Conrad quickly ran over to hold her.

“Let go of me!” Fia roared at him. When she remembered that he had just had a candlelight dinner with Esme before coming, she felt that he was filthy!

Conrad carefully put her down and stared at her.

“I can help with Eileen’s case, as long as you need me to.”

“How are you supposed to help? Do you know who did this? How did the reporters know that Eileen would visit me at the hospital today that they even camped right outside the door just waiting for her?!”

“What are you saying?” Conrad was stunned. “You suspect that it’s me?”

“You must have told Esme!”

Fia pushed his arm away. “It’s fine if you’re just hurting me, but why must you hurt my only friend too?! Do you know how difficult it is for her? You don’t, but I do! All you see her as is the most popular celebrity in Victor’s company and you assumed that she managed to rise up the ranks thanks to him! Did she not make her sacrifices? If she really is nothing, then even Victor couldn’t make her popular no matter how much power he has in the entertainment business!”

Conrad was getting a headache. “I was eating with Esme just now. I didn’t tell her that Eileen would be coming today. She didn’t have the time to call the reporters here either!”

“Oh, shut up!” Fia screeched. She didn’t want to hear him defending Esme.

Jason had been waiting outside the door for a little before coming in and looking Conrad straight in the eyes. “Mr. Maxwell, you’re making my patient’s emotions worse. Please leave!”

What Jason did obviously lighted up Conrad’s fury. He instantly turned it toward Jason.

“Why are you still here?! What’s my wife’s relationship with you?! Why do you keep appearing whenever something happens?!”

Jason frowned and said, “We’re friends.”

“Friends? Friends or lovers?!” Conrad began spouting nonsense.

Fia became furious and hurled her pillow at Conrad.

“Don’t just hurt anyone like a rabid dog!”

Conrad became even angrier and glared at Fia with dark eyes.

“Do you dare swear that he has nothing to do with you? Swear that he doesn’t like you?”

Fia was stunned. She was no fool. She also realized that Jason had been becoming too friendly when it was about her.

“The one in your womb...” Conrad didn’t want to say it, but his eyes were already on Fia’s stomach.

Fia was so angry that she almost coughed out blood. He was suspecting that the child was not his!

Conrad felt that the topic was too humiliating for both of them, so he took out his phone and selected some pictures, and showed them to

Fia.

“Take a look at these!”

All the pictures were of her and Jason together...

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 206

All the pictures taken were of her and Jason.

Every time she was in trouble, Jason would take care of her. The deep concern in his eyes. All the angles were just right. Her gentleness. Jason’s compassion.

If it was not because she was the subject of the photo, she too would think that the man and woman in the picture had something going on between them.

“Anything else you want to say?” Conrad could see the clashing of emotions in Fia’s eyes. “Anything else you want to argue about?”

Fia looked at Jason and said, “Doctor Evans, leave us.”

It was too embarrassing. She didn't want to drag him into this mess.

Jason glanced at the pictures in Conrad's phone and knew what she was going to face. He didn't believe that leaving would be a good choice at this time.

"Mr. Maxwell. To be honest with you, I do admire Fia. But unlike you, I know where the line is drawn! Instead of wasting your time accusing me and Fia, why not reflect on what you did!"

"You!" Conrad looked at Jason angrily, wanting to crush him if possible.

Fia quickly said, "Evans, please, I beg you. This is between us husband and wife... Let us deal with this ourselves."

Jason frowned and turned to leave.

Fia recalled everything that had happened recently... And she began, "I'm very tired now. I can't even feel a little bit of joy from you knowing about me being pregnant."

¶

Conrad looked at her with a frown. "What are you saying?"

"I don't want anything else other than my grandma's project. Let's get a divorce."

Conrad gritted his teeth. "What about the child?"

"Didn't you say the baby's not yours? So, what does that have to do with you?"

Their eyes met. When Conrad saw the defeat and deep despair in her eyes, he began to get anxious and he held her hand.

"When... When I saw the pictures, I began blabbering."

How could he have suspected her? She had never been the kind of girl to ignore the rules.

Fia took away her hand. Not only was she tired of trying to force herself to smile, but she was also emotionally tired.

“After falling from the stairs, I thought that I’d lose my baby. And the fear finally hit me.”

She looked away toward the window and the streams of sunlight beyond it. “Let’s get a divorce. I’m willing to let you two be, just so that I can have a peaceful life. I’m willing to do that.”

Conrad’s heart trembled as he asked the same question. “What about the baby?”

“There are many children born into unloving families in this world. There are also children that have to face their parents divorcing. Every child in this world has to face their own sufferings. I believe my child can make it.” Fia placed a hand on her belly and quietly apologized.

But she was really getting scared. She could give her life up, but she had to think about the baby.

Esme was becoming obsessed. If she stayed with Conrad, she didn’t

And this man was so indecisive. He would sometimes choose to stand with Esme. If that was the case, why must she force herself to stay in a cage of her own making?

“Let’s divorce!”

She raised her eyes and looked at Conrad. “Have Silas prepare the divorce papers and I’ll sign them. We can complete the procedure as soon as I’m out of the hospital.”

When she saw his silence, she said, “Since you know so many people, I can give you my documents. You can then proceed with getting the divorce papers done.”

“No!” Conrad’s eyes turned red. “I won’t divorce you. You’re carrying my baby. Even if you don’t acknowledge it, the baby’s still mine! You and I both didn’t have a whole family... We can’t let our child walk the same path we did!”

Fia’s eyes shook with indecisiveness and remembered the conversation between the two of them many years ago.

It was during an autumn outing that the school had organized. She had been sent by the other students to collect some firewood. She fell from the hill and hurt her leg, and had encountered Conrad there.

She was sobbing, and Conrad was cursing. “Oh gods, can you stop crying for once? All you do is cry and cry! There are so many boys in your class. Why didn’t you ask them to collect the firewood?” She then looked at him timidly and sobbed. “But they sent me...”

No data found.
No data found.
No data found.

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 210

“Sure,” Conrad agreed and asked, “Doctor, is there anything that I need to take into consideration?”

As long as he was not talking to Jason, his attitude toward a doctor was quite friendly.

Sally put her pen back into her pocket and stared at Conrad for a while before saying, “If you don’t have much to do, chat with your wife. Make sure that she’s feeling happy and don’t just let any random person appear in front of her.”

Conrad frowned. No matter how foolish a person was, he knew that he was being scolded.

After Sally left, Conrad sat down by the bed and gave Fia a massage. He then asked, “You’re close to that doctor?”

“What about it?” Fia asked as she glanced at Conrad coldly. “Do you think that Doctor Hall is the same type as my cousin and looks like a mature and beautiful woman?”

Conrad’s expression changed slightly and the strength of his massage increased along with it.

“Stop being ridiculous. It’s just that she seems to be giving you special treatment.”

“Doctor Hall is so pretty and so kind. She treats everyone gently.”

“It’s not because of Doctor Evans?”

Fia frowned. “She’s Evans’s colleague and they have a good relationship. She was the one that helped me with my body checkup.”

When Conrad heard her say Jason’s name again, he felt somewhat uncomfortable. He tried his best to ignore it and said, “Don’t you think she’s a good match for Doctor Evans?”

2/3

Fia agreed. “They’re both doctors and they speak the same language. They’re definitely suited for each other. However, that’s their business, so don’t interfere.”

Conrad’s massaging hands moved from her legs to her hands and then to her waist. He was intentionally brushing his skin against hers.

“I don’t want to suspect you and Doctor Evans too. But that doctor was quite good, so maybe you can make some chances for them.”

Fia also believed it to be so, that Sally was a good woman. But she was afraid after what happened with Lola. She had completely changed after introducing her to Jason.

She didn’t want to mess up again and caused someone as kind as Jason to end up in an unhappy marriage.

“We can never find out what’s inside a human’s heart. I’m not Cupid, so I shouldn’t just matchmake at will. If Doctor Evans and Doctor Hall are fated to be together, they’ll naturally get together.”

Conrad’s hand stopped and held Fia at the chin, forcing her to look at him.

“Is it because you’re reluctant?”

”

Fia rolled her eyes and couldn’t even be bothered to answer the question.

“Fia... Don’t make me doubt you.”

“As if you haven’t doubted me enough.” Fia’s tone was cold. “You can even suspect that our baby might not be yours. If there’s something wrong with your body and I accidentally got pregnant, it makes sense that you’re suspicious! But you have all these filthy ideas in your mind from just a few pictures! Why can’t I suspect that you had slept with

Esme and had your own children?!”

Conrad couldn’t say anything back to her.

Fia smiled and held his hand that was holding her chin.

“And here you asked me to find a partner for Doctor Evans. Why don’t you find a partner for my cousin?”

The topic was becoming more and more aggressive. Just then, a gentle voice came. “Conrad, Fia, why are you fighting?”

It was Esme. She had come without an invitation. Her expression was filled with innocence and fearfulness.

“Fia, are you fighting with Conrad because of me? It isn’t worth it.”

She forced a smile as she approached the bed with a gift basket in her hand.

Read Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 205

Stop It She's Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 205

The world was huge. As long as they could let go of the men they desired, they would eventually find someone that loved them, right?

At the end of the day, it was because they treated themselves too cheaply!

"Fia, Eileen's going to be fine." Conrad walked over to Fia's side and wanted to hug her, but she pushed him away, and she herself took a few steps away too.

When Jason saw what happened, he gave her a hand and helped her.

"Thanks, Evans. Sorry for being such a bother."

"It's fine. Go back to your bed and rest," Jason said to her caringly. He had just finished a surgery. He had rushed over when he knew what was happening.

Fia turned around and went into the ward. When she thought of the things that Eileen was facing, her hands and feet began to shake.

She had seen too much of this kind of happening in the entertainment industry. If the crisis wasn't managed well, Eileen's career could be destroyed.

Worried that she would fall after climbing up the bed when he saw that she didn't have much strength, Conrad quickly ran over to hold her.

"Let go of me!" Fia roared at him. When she remembered that he had just had a candlelight dinner with Esme before coming, she felt that he was filthy!

Conrad carefully put her down and stared at her.

"I can help with Eileen's case, as long as you need me to."

“How are you supposed to help? Do you know who did this? How did the reporters know that Eileen would visit me at the hospital today that they even camped right outside the door just waiting for her?!”

“What are you saying?’ Conrad was stunned. “You suspect that it’s me?”

“You must have told Esme!”

Fia pushed his arm away. “It’s fine if you’re just hurting me, but why must you hurt my only friend too?! Do you know how difficult it is for her? You don’t, but I do! All you see her as is the most popular celebrity in Victor’s company and you assumed that she managed to rise up the ranks thanks to him! Did she not make her sacrifices? If she really is nothing, then even Victor couldn’t make her popular no matter how much power he has in the entertainment business!”

Conrad was getting a headache. “I was eating with Esme just now. I didn’t tell her that Eileen would be coming today. She didn’t have the time to call the reporters here either!”

“Oh, shut up!” Fia screeched. She didn’t want to hear him defending Esme.

Jason had been waiting outside the door for a little before coming in and looking Conrad straight in the eyes. “Mr. Maxwell, you’re making my patient’s emotions worse. Please leave!”

What Jason did obviously lighted up Conrad’s fury. He instantly turned it toward Jason.

“Why are you still here?! What’s my wife’s relationship with you?! Why do you keep appearing whenever something happens?!”

Jason frowned and said, “We’re friends.”

“Friends? Friends or lovers?!” Conrad began spouting nonsense.

Fia became furious and hurled her pillow at Conrad.

“Don’t just hurt anyone like a rabid dog!”

Conrad became even angrier and glared at Fia with dark eyes.

“Do you dare swear that he has nothing to do with you? Swear that he doesn’t like you?”

Fia was stunned. She was no fool. She also realized that Jason had been becoming too friendly when it was about her.

“The one in your womb...” Conrad didn’t want to say it, but his eyes were already on Fia’s stomach.

Fia was so angry that she almost coughed out blood. He was suspecting that the child was not his!

Conrad felt that the topic was too humiliating for both of them, so he took out his phone and selected some pictures, and showed them to

Fia.

“Take a look at these!”

All the pictures were of her and Jason together...

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 206

All the pictures taken were of her and Jason.

Every time she was in trouble, Jason would take care of her. The deep concern in his eyes. All the angles were just right. Her gentleness. Jason’s compassion.

If it was not because she was the subject of the photo, she too would think that the man and woman in the picture had something going on between them.

“Anything else you want to say?” Conrad could see the clashing of emotions in Fia’s eyes. “Anything else you want to argue about?”

Fia looked at Jason and said, “Doctor Evans, leave us.”

It was too embarrassing. She didn’t want to drag him into this mess.

Jason glanced at the pictures in Conrad’s phone and knew what she was going to face. He didn’t believe that leaving would be a good choice at this time.

“Mr. Maxwell. To be honest with you, I do admire Fia. But unlike you, I know where the line is drawn! Instead of wasting your time accusing me and Fia, why not reflect on what you did!”

“You!” Conrad looked at Jason angrily, wanting to crush him if possible.

Fia quickly said, “Evans, please, I beg you. This is between us husband and wife... Let us deal with this ourselves.”

Jason frowned and turned to leave.

Fia recalled everything that had happened recently... And she began, “I’m very tired now. I can’t even feel a little bit of joy from you knowing about me being pregnant.”

☞

Conrad looked at her with a frown. “What are you saying?”

“I don’t want anything else other than my grandma’s project. Let’s get a divorce.”

Conrad gritted his teeth. “What about the child?”

“Didn’t you say the baby’s not yours? So, what does that have to do with you?”

Their eyes met. When Conrad saw the defeat and deep despair in her eyes, he began to get anxious and he held her hand.

“When... When I saw the pictures, I began blabbering.”

How could he have suspected her? She had never been the kind of girl to ignore the rules.

Fia took away her hand. Not only was she tired of trying to force herself to smile, but she was also emotionally tired.

“After falling from the stairs, I thought that I’d lose my baby. And the fear finally hit me.”

She looked away toward the window and the streams of sunlight beyond it. “Let’s get a divorce. I’m willing to let you two be, just so that I can have a peaceful life. I’m willing to do that.”

Conrad’s heart trembled as he asked the same question. “What about the baby?”

“There are many children born into unloving families in this world. There are also children that have to face their parents divorcing. Every child in this world has to face their own sufferings. I believe my child can make it.” Fia placed a hand on her belly and quietly apologized.

But she was really getting scared. She could give her life up, but she had to think about the baby.

Esme was becoming obsessed. If she stayed with Conrad, she didn’t

And this man was so indecisive. He would sometimes choose to stand with Esme. If that was the case, why must she force herself to stay in a cage of her own making?

“Let’s divorce!”

She raised her eyes and looked at Conrad. “Have Silas prepare the divorce papers and I’ll sign them. We can complete the procedure as soon as I’m out of the hospital.”

When she saw his silence, she said, “Since you know so many people, I can give you my documents. You can then proceed with getting the divorce papers done.”

“No!” Conrad’s eyes turned red. “I won’t divorce you. You’re carrying my baby. Even if you don’t acknowledge it, the baby’s still mine! You and I both didn’t have a whole family... We can’t let our child walk the same path we did!”

Fia’s eyes shook with indecisiveness and remembered the conversation between the two of them many years ago.

It was during an autumn outing that the school had organized. She had been sent by the other students to collect some firewood. She fell from the hill and hurt her leg, and had encountered Conrad there.

She was sobbing, and Conrad was cursing. “Oh gods, can you stop crying for once? All you do is cry and cry! There are so many boys in your class. Why didn’t you ask them to collect the firewood?” She then looked at him timidly and sobbed. “But they sent me...”

No data found.

No data found.

No data found.

Stop It She’s Remarrying by Stellar Strands Chapter 210

“Sure,” Conrad agreed and asked, “Doctor, is there anything that I need to take into consideration?”

As long as he was not talking to Jason, his attitude toward a doctor was quite friendly.

Sally put her pen back into her pocket and stared at Conrad for a while before saying, “If you don’t have much to do, chat with your wife. Make sure that she’s feeling happy and don’t just let any random person appear in front of her.”

Conrad frowned. No matter how foolish a person was, he knew that he was being scolded.

After Sally left, Conrad sat down by the bed and gave Fia a massage. He then asked, “You’re close to that doctor?”

“What about it?” Fia asked as she glanced at Conrad coldly. “Do you think that Doctor Hall is the same type as my cousin and looks like a mature and beautiful woman?”

Conrad’s expression changed slightly and the strength of his massage increased along with it.

“Stop being ridiculous. It’s just that she seems to be giving you special treatment.”

“Doctor Hall is so pretty and so kind. She treats everyone gently.”

“It’s not because of Doctor Evans?”

Fia frowned. “She’s Evans’s colleague and they have a good relationship. She was the one that helped me with my body checkup.”

When Conrad heard her say Jason’s name again, he felt somewhat uncomfortable. He tried his best to ignore it and said, “Don’t you think she’s a good match for Doctor Evans?”

2/3

Fia agreed. “They’re both doctors and they speak the same language. They’re definitely suited for each other. However, that’s their business, so don’t interfere.”

Conrad’s massaging hands moved from her legs to her hands and then to her waist. He was intentionally brushing his skin against hers.

“I don’t want to suspect you and Doctor Evans too. But that doctor was quite good, so maybe you can make some chances for them.”

Fia also believed it to be so, that Sally was a good woman. But she was afraid after what happened with Lola. She had completely changed after introducing her to Jason.

She didn’t want to mess up again and caused someone as kind as Jason to end up in an unhappy marriage.

“We can never find out what’s inside a human’s heart. I’m not Cupid, so I shouldn’t just matchmake at will. If Doctor Evans and Doctor Hall are fated to be together, they’ll naturally get together.”

Conrad’s hand stopped and held Fia at the chin, forcing her to look at him.

“Is it because you’re reluctant?”

”

Fia rolled her eyes and couldn’t even be bothered to answer the question.

“Fia... Don’t make me doubt you.”

“As if you haven’t doubted me enough.” Fia’s tone was cold. “You can even suspect that our baby might not be yours. If there’s something wrong with your body and I accidentally got pregnant, it makes sense that you’re suspicious! But you have all these filthy ideas in your mind from just a few pictures! Why can’t I suspect that you had slept with

Esme and had your own children?!”

Conrad couldn’t say anything back to her.

Fia smiled and held his hand that was holding her chin.

“And here you asked me to find a partner for Doctor Evans. Why don’t you find a partner for my cousin?”

The topic was becoming more and more aggressive. Just then, a gentle voice came. “Conrad, Fia, why are you fighting?”

It was Esme. She had come without an invitation. Her expression was filled with innocence and fearfulness.

“Fia, are you fighting with Conrad because of me? It isn’t worth it.”

She forced a smile as she approached the bed with a gift basket in her hand.