

Chapter 696 Return

Meanwhile, after escaping from Sea God Island, Timothy went back to the Sandoval family's temporary fort in the delta region.

Honestly, that was the last thing he wanted to do. What happened at the island was a great fall out with Adelina that he didn't think they could recover from.

But since he came down here to cooperate with the Sandoval family and no one from the Hewitt family came here, he had no other choice but to return to their fort. They were his only way back to the mainland.

When he entered the fort, he didn't get the treatment he had prepared himself to receive. There was no mockery or insults, nor was he expelled.

On the contrary, as soon as Adelina saw Timothy, her usually unruly character was gone and was replaced with remorse as she apologized to him.

She looked so sincere as she sobbed. "Timothy, I was wrong for leaving you there alone. I was just so scared, but I shouldn't have left you there. I'm so glad that you made it out alive, or I would have regretted it for the rest of my life."

Timothy was left speechless. He couldn't help but wonder if someone else had also taken Adelina's place and posed as her.

In any case, he really didn't care. Not right now. He just wanted to stay here while he could and find a way to go back to Invone. So, of course, he didn't act resentful towards her.

He brushed her off with a few words and found an excuse to find refuge in his room. He wet himself earlier on the island, and although it was all dry now, he had to have a shower now.

Adelina looked at Timothy's fading figure and smiled slyly.

Half an hour ago, she had called her father, Abbott Sandoval, the head of the Sandoval family.

She told him everything that happened on the island, of course, her own twisted version. She accused Timothy of his incompetence and declared that she wanted to divorce him.

Abbott listened to her report and complaints without saying a word. He wasn't surprised, and he didn't blame Timothy.

After letting out a sigh of relief, Abbott said flatly through the phone, "All right, you can stop now. Do you really think I want this guy to inherit the assets of the Sandoval family? He is a Hewitt, not a Sandoval!"

After a pause, Abbott continued on different terrain, "But since you've already made your feelings clear, you should hurry up and get pregnant for him. Through the child, the Hewitt family will become a part of the Sandoval family."

At the fort of the Dark Night Organization in the delta region.

Liam took Annie to his place.

Vivian knew Annie and the relationship she had with Julie and Liam. So when she saw Annie, she acted stunned and went up in concern. "Isn't this Annie? Why is she in the delta region?"

Just seeing "Julie" come out filled Liam with disgust. And at the thought that she revealed his real identity to Timothy only intensified this feeling.

When Liam didn't answer her, Vivian felt the change in his attitude towards her. She got nervous and started overthinking. Had she done something wrong?

What happened? Was there something wrong?

Vivian's heart was heavy, and her expression betrayed the worried state of her mind.

However, Liam didn't pay her any mind. He just took Annie into the room. Fiona came in at this time, bringing with her the hemp rope that Liam asked her to bring.

"Tie her up," Liam ordered softly.

He wasn't cruel, but was doing it for Annie's sake. That way, if she woke up, she wouldn't run carelessly about and hurt people.

Liam was the only one who understood why he was doing this. An ignorant Fiona teased with a glint in her eyes, "S and M?"

She was making fun of Liam, but still did as he asked her to. Liam was not in the mood for explanation. He waved his hand and left the room.
