

An Understated Dominance By Marina Vittori

Chapter 1908 -

Although Dustin Kate was angry, he did not dare to speak at the moment.

Although the two brothers rejected each other and neither one wanted to be the king, this throne could only be inherited by one of them.

He knew this very well and did not dare to think anything wrong.

Otherwise, Ji Yuanzun will be his fate.

"Okay, okay! You two bastards, how can you treat the throne like a prison sentence? Is it so hard to accept?!"

The attitude of his two sons made Rufus Rhys very angry, and he couldn't help but curse.

You don't want it, and neither do I. It makes his throne seem worthless.

In front of so many dignitaries, he was really embarrassed.

"I'm really not interested, you might as well pass it on to Thorian." Dustin shrugged.

"I can't afford it. This throne belongs to you, my eldest brother!" Thorian Rhys said firmly.

"Shut up, both of you!"

Rufus Rhys slammed the table and shouted in a deep voice: "I have the final say on this matter, and I won't tolerate your willfulness! Also, if I hadn't been in poor health, you would still have to hold the throne. Wait a few more years!"

Seeing Rufus Rhys getting angry, Thorian Rhys didn't say anything more, but his stubborn expression already showed his answer.

As for Dustin, he still looked calm.

Rufus Rhys took a few deep breaths and finally calmed down. He forced out a smile and said to everyone: "These guys are just kidding because I am not talented. We will discuss the throne later. Let's eat and drink well tonight. Let's have a good time."

Come on, come on, let's all drink!" Smith Richards smiled and smoothed things over.

He doesn't have any position, it's purely based on the prince's choice. No matter the choice, I support it 100%.

Soon, the previously deserted atmosphere began to become lively again.

But compared to the previous acquaintance, the people present have been divided into three camps.

Led by Patrick Jane, some people supported Dustin.

Led by Rigsby Wayne, others supported Thorian Rhys.

The remaining people, headed by Smith Richards, are in the neutral camp and are conservative.

They do not participate in the struggle for the right to inherit the throne. No matter who comes to power in the end, they will regard him as the master.

Although there are no benefits to this choice, there is no need to bear any risks.

After the celebration banquet, everyone went home.

Dustin, on the other hand, was called to the study by Rufus Rhys.

After ten years apart, father and son could finally have a peaceful chat.

Two cups of sobering tea were served on the table, and Rufus Rhys took the lead in opening the topic: "Logan, now that you have avenged your great revenge and fulfilled your long-cherished wish, isn't it time to come home?"

"Am I not back yet?" Dustin was holding the sobering tea and blowing on it gently.

"You understand what I mean. I mean settling down for a long time, not staying for a few days and then leaving." Rufus Rhys said.

"I still have something to do."

Dustin said without hesitation: "I promised Margaret that after wiping out the Dragon Guard Pavilion, I would help her find the dragon's source of energy. Now that the matter is over, it's time for me to fulfill my promise."

"I can find someone to do it for you. You don't need to go there yourself." Rufus Rhys advised.