An Understated Dominance by Marina Chapter 1923

Chapter 1923

"Nonsense! This is imperial green glass, and it's also an antique, worth thousands of gold!" Leo Alexander said angrily.

"It's worth a thousand gold? It's indeed a good treasure!" The middle-aged man looked happy and quickly put the jade bracelet away carefully.

"I came out in a hurry and didn't prepare anything else. This jade bracelet is quite valuable. I hope you like it." Margaret smiled slightly.

"Miss, because you are so sincere, I will reluctantly inform you. As for whether the village chief is willing to see you, I have no control over it." The middle-aged man did not dare to finish his words.

"Thank you." Margaret nodded slightly.

"Okay, please wait a moment."

The middle-aged man said nothing, turned and walked into the yard.

Three minutes later, the middle-aged man went out again with a smile on his face: "Miss, our village chief promised to see you, but for safety, you can only bring one person in." "

Captain Leo, are you here? Here, Dustin and I will go in and take a look."

After Margaret warned, she took Dustin through the door.

At this moment, in the bedroom.

Feng Yao lay on the bed with a pale face, completely unconscious.

Village chief Zhao Ankang stood by and communicated with a village doctor about his condition.

"Lao Yang, is this young man really hopeless?" Zhao Ankang's face was a little solemn.

As the only person who came out of the oasis alive, Feng Yao was extremely valuable.

As long as it is used well, the village can make a lot of money.

"Village Chief, this person is seriously injured, and there is poison in his body. With my medical skills, I can't cure him at all." The village doctor shook his head.

He has no problem treating some minor illnesses, but he is completely helpless when it comes to difficult and complicated diseases. "It seems that we can only send him to the hospital." Zhao Ankang frowned.

"Village Chief, it takes at least a day's journey from our place to a large city hospital. With his current physical condition, he may not be able to survive." The village doctor sighed.

"We have to try no matter what, we have no other choice." Zhao Ankang felt helpless.

It is a pity that the money tree that was obtained is now on the verge of death.

"Village chief, my friend has superb medical skills, why not let him try it?"

At this time, Margaret, who walked to the door of the bedroom, suddenly spoke.

"I heard from Zhu Zhu that you are friends with this young man?" Zhao Ankang asked tentatively.

"I can't call him a friend. I just have some questions that I want to ask him." Margaret spoke truthfully.

"Yes, you are an honest person."

Zhao Ankang nodded with satisfaction: "If you dare to lie, then I will have to kick you out." "The village chief is wise and powerful, so naturally we dare not lie." Margaret I took advantage of the situation and flattered him.

“Hahaha... You girl, you are really good at talking.” Zhao Ankang couldn’t help but smile.

“Village chief, Feng Yao’s situation is very pessimistic. It’s probably too late to send him to the hospital now. My friend has been a doctor since elementary school and specializes in treating various difficult and complicated diseases. Maybe he can cure Feng Yao.” Margaret led Dustin.

“So young?” Zhao Ankang looked up and down, looking a little suspicious.

In their view, the older the doctor, the better his medical skills.

Dustin is only in his twenties, which is really unconvincing.

“Being young doesn’t mean you are incapable. I am confident that Feng Yao will wake up within a cup of tea.” Dustin said calmly.

Although his words were calm, he seemed very confident.
