Married at First Sight Chapter 2719-Shiloh didn't want to go, but her mother spoke, and Hayden was present. If she didn't send something to her father upstairs, Hayden would think she was an unfilial daughter.

Everyone in Jensburg knew that Matriarch Farrell loved her more than Kathryn.

It was said that her parents favored her, the fake daughter, and treated Kathryn, the real daughter, badly.

If she is not filial, she has no image at all.

Shiloh wanted to rely on the Farrell family and then marry into a wealthy family and become a young mistress.

So, following her mother's instructions, she prepared food and drinks for Holden and carried them upstairs herself.

Erika saw Shiloh going upstairs, exchanged glances with her sister-in-law, and then ate and drank from her as if nothing had happened.

Liberty noticed the eye contact between Erika and Anya and felt that these two women were hiding some secrets, but they asked Shiloh to do things, so they probably couldn't plot against her.

She also communicated with Kathryn as if nothing had happened.

Occasionally, she would talk to Hayden.

Hayden didn't talk much in front of outsiders and ate politely. Liberty felt it was a pleasure to watch her eat.

Grandma May was so awesome. The granddaughter-in-laws chosen by her were all the best.

Kevin would pick up food for Hayden from time to time and was considerate.

But Shiloh brought the food and drinks upstairs to her parents' room door. She freed her hand and knocked on the door, but there was no movement in the room.

She knocked on the door again, shouting as she did so: “Dad, open the door; it’s me.

Dad, I brought you some food. You don’t go downstairs to eat. Mom has invited some important people from the clan to come over for dinner. The banquet is very lively.”

There was still no movement in the room.

Shiloh knocked for a long time before the door was opened.

Holden’s face was red, and he was holding an unfinished bottle of wine in his hand.

The strong smell of wine stung her nose. Shiloh frowned, took two steps back, and said to her father, “Dad, why do you drink so much wine?”

Holden said nothing, turned around, and stumbled back to the sofa.

Shiloh was silent before carrying the tray in, walking to the sofa, bending down, and placing the meals on the coffee table one by one. There was also a bottle of wine that had not yet been opened.

She put the bottle of wine on the coffee table and said, “Mom asked me to bring you a meal. This wine is for entertaining guests tonight. It is all good wine. It is much better than the bottle Dad is drinking now.”

Holden said, “I’m just a visitor. I want status without status, status without position, money without money, and power without power. It’s good if I can have a bed to sleep on and a bowl of rice to eat. How dare you ask for good wine to drink?

My status means I can only drink this kind of wine. It’s better to ask your eldest brother for this bottle of wine. Your eldest brother drank half of the bottle.”

Holden said that and took another sip of wine.

Shiloh: “Dad, you must have drunk a lot. Your face is red, and you were stumbling when you walked just now.”

Holden said, "I didn't drink a few sips. I drank on an empty stomach and got drunk easily. I feel really hot now. Shiloh, sit down and have a couple of drinks with me."

With that said, Holden took out the wine glass and filled Shiloh with a glass of wine.

Put the glass of wine in front of Shiloh and ask Shiloh to drink with him.

Shiloh said, "Dad, I drank that bottle, but you drank this bottle."

Holden said, "I didn't just drink from the bottle. Why do you even dislike me? Yes, I'm useless. The best achievement in this life is to have a few children with your mother. Your mother can control me. D*mn it, you all see how dad lives his life."

Married At First Sight Chapter 2720-Holden added, "Your mother is old and busy at work. She spends all her time in the company and training Kathryn, but not on me. Although I'm also old, but my health is still very good, and I'm still in good health. I'm a bit needy, but if she doesn't fulfill her responsibilities as a wife, she won't allow me to have a quick meal."

Holden didn't know whether it was because he was drunk or because it was just the father and daughter, but he vomited out all his dissatisfaction with his old wife.

Seeing Holden's painful and angry look, Shiloh unknowingly sat down and drank with him.

Deep down, she still sympathized with Holden.

The banquet downstairs was very lively, but Holden, because he was visiting, had to hide upstairs and not dare to see anyone.

Just because he made a mistake that many men make.

Everyone downstairs was still eating, but they felt uncomfortable eating, mainly because there were three more distinguished guests.

They couldn't figure out why Matriarch Farrell wanted to hold this family dinner, and the atmosphere was not lively.

"Liberty, what business are you planning to invest in?"

Matriarch Farrell asked Liberty with concern. But in her heart, she thought that as long as Liberty invested, no matter what business she did, she would strangle Liberty's business in the cradle from the beginning.

Liberty couldn't be allowed to gain a foothold in Jensburg.

Let alone Liberty become a rich man in Jensburg.

Matriarch Farrell knew how the people in the clan felt about her. They would use Liberty to fight her, or they might actually support Liberty.

"We don't know yet; let's take a look first. It's hard to do business these days, so we have to examine the market before making a decision."

Liberty didn't tell the truth, but it left Matriarch Farrell speechless.

Matriarch Farrell said, "Yes, business is particularly difficult now. The business of our Farrell Group is getting worse and worse. Not only us, but even the Queen Enterprise may have also declined."

Matriarch Farrell said this and looked at Hayden.

Hayden sat steadily and did not answer the call or look at Matriarch Farrell.

As long as Hayden knows whether Queen Enterprise is going down or not, there is no need to explain it to Matriarch Farrell. Even if Queen Enterprise really declines, it can still be a few steps ahead of Farrell Group.

"Mr. Queen, I'm very interested in your project in the western suburbs. I wonder if we can talk about cooperation?"

Matriarch Farrell changed the topic and turned to the matter of wanting to cooperate with Hayden.

Hayden was still cold; her voice was low and cold: "Matriarch Farrell, you just said that my Queen Enterprise has gone downhill, and I am afraid that I am not worthy of cooperating with your company."

Matriarch Farrell choked and then smiled: "Business is not easy to do nowadays. This is a fact that everyone knows. Even large groups have difficulties. Mr. Queen, you're managing Queen Enterprise and know this better than me. However, even if Queen Enterprise has declined, it will still be the leader in our Jensburg business community, which is incomparable to a small group like ours.”

Hayden did not respond to Matriarch Farrell, but just picked up the wine glass and raised it to Kathryn.

Kathryn also picked up her wine glass, clinked it with Hayden, and then they both drank.

Kevin gave Hayden another dish and said warmly, “Hayden, don’t just focus on drinking. Eat more food to avoid getting drunk.”

Hayden put down the wine glass, and Liberty, who was next to her, picked up the wine bottle and filled her up with another glass.

Liberty also filled a glass of wine for herself.

“Ms. Hunt, you can learn about our Queen’s project in the western suburbs of Jensburg. If you are interested, you are welcome to cooperate.”

Hayden refused to cooperate with Farrell Group but turned around and invited Liberty to invest and cooperate, which made matriarch Farrell look a little ugly.
