

Chapter 732 A Surprise Attack

In the hospital, Fiona received a message from her intelligence network.

The Ramirez family was in grave danger. The Duncan family and the others that had rallied with them were currently destroying the Ramirez family.

After she read the message, Liam's face folded into a deep frown. The Duncan family were acting much faster than he expected.

If the Duncan family successfully took possession of the rare metals of the Ramirez family, then the situation would be irreversible.

He couldn't let this happen, but he couldn't be of much help now. Not with the heavy blow his force just suffered. He couldn't restore enough strength right now to help the Ramirez family.

He gave it some more thought and made up his mind. He turned to Riel and said, "Tell everyone to stay here and have a good rest, no matter what happens."

After Riel's firm nod, Liam rushed out of the ward. When he walked out of the hospital a few minutes later, he was fully armed.

He couldn't let anything happen to the Ramirez family. He might be alone, but he still had to do something.

This time though, he was well prepared, not like what happened with his ruined wedding. This was a desperate last-ditch attempt. At least, he wouldn't have to worry about any of his loved ones getting hurt, and would focus on the mission.

In the Ramirez family's house.

The once beautiful huge mansion was now in ruins.

Some members of the Ramirez family were dead, and others were seriously injured. The only people still standing and fighting, were Sean and Javier.

However, they had already exhausted all of their strength.

A few days ago, this would have been unimaginable, but the Duncan family was now much stronger than the Ramirez family.

And with the four special soldiers, no one could stand against them.

Demetrius and Abbott stood aside, looking at the dead bodies lying around with an ominous feeling in their hearts.

They discreetly looked at Rohan with fear.

The only reason they became allies with the Duncan family was that they also had a lot to gain from the alliance.

But looking at how powerful and merciless Rohan was being, they couldn't help but tremble in fear.

The Duncan family was far more powerful than they had imagined. They might be in the same team now, but nothing guaranteed that they wouldn't one day end up like the Ramirez family.

Sean looked at his clansmen and the damaged buildings and cried without reserve.

They had built their family and wealth for hundreds of years, and now, in one day, it was all gone.

He wished he could do something, but he long understood that he stood not a chance against the Duncan family.

He had to protect all they had left. He turned to his son, Javier and shouted, "Javier, leave now. You can avenge our family in the future."

Javier's eyes were blurred with tears. "I can't leave, Dad. If you're going to die, then we'll die together."

Sean tried his best to be as firm as he could be in his state and scolded, "It's not the time for you to be stubborn, Javier. In the name of the master of the Ramirez family, I order you to go. Now!"

Rohan sneered at the scene and said, "You're asking him to leave? Am I just a decoration here?"

With a signal of Rohan's eyes, two of the Four Great Steelmen stepped forward to attack Sean.

Sean's heart sank as he saw them come for him. He used the only defence he still had and fired a light machine gun at the two monsters.

But of course, it was a waste of bullets as they just bounced off of them. In a split second, the two men stood in front of him and punched Sean hard.

The head of the Ramirez family was already seriously injured. This blow was the determining one. He spat out blood as the blow hit his heart.

"Go!" Sean shouted one last time to his son and finally gave up his last breath.

Javier was in shock as he stared at his father's dead body.

He pulled himself together and stood up to run out. The other two Steelmen had been waiting for this. They quickly blocked his way.

Javier knew that he couldn't escape. The only thing that awaited him now was death.

Out of nowhere, a dagger flew out.

One of the Steelmen punched the dagger back and instead broke the metal attached to his hand.

A figure jumped in, grabbing the dagger midair and without a word, attacking the Four Great Steelmen with the dagger like crazy.

Liam finally arrived!

He wasn't in his best state, but the element of surprise and his continuous and rapid attack made the four men constantly retreat.

As he fought them, Liam assessed the enemy.

Each of the four men was just as powerful as Cannon after his transformation. However, the dark dagger had a great effect on them, meaning that they had no rare metal in their bodies.

Their bodies were still very hard, but it was nothing compared to the dark dagger.

Liam was shocked by what he was discovering. Now, he really had to watch out for the doctor working for the Duncan family.

There were only four people now. But if the Duncan family had enough time and resources, they could make enough human weapons like these four men. If that happened, the Duncan family would really be invincible.

Liam pushed that thought aside. This wasn't the time to think about it. As his dagger flew in the air, his special pistol fired from time to time.

Although the four powerful men worked together, Liam still had the upper hand in the fight.

Liam was determined. It was only a matter of time before he
