

Chapter 795 Intense Altercation

As Julie and Liam nervously pounded on the door, the commotion inside escalated as two young boys fought over a toy.

Clutching a miniature Iron Man, Asher murmured, "Let it go. This toy was a gift from my father."

The toy held immense sentimental value for Asher, a cherished present received on his fourth birthday. It was not from Liam for he was still on Genesis Island back then.

Asher hadn't seen his father since he was born. Trying to console him, Julie told him Liam had sent the toy from another city. As a child, Asher couldn't discern the truth, readily believing it was from his father and cherishing it deeply.

Roy, an older and stronger boy and Julie's uncle's grandson, was the other child fighting for the toy. Seeing the toy in Asher's hands, Roy sought to take it for himself.

Noticing that Asher wasn't willing to surrender the toy, Roy said arrogantly, "You're in my family's villa. My dad took in your mom, that bitch. He's been kind enough to let you stay here. Shouldn't you give the toy to me?"

At the insult to his mother, Asher erupted in anger. He reluctantly released the toy, stood up and demanded, "You insulted my mom. Apologize!"

Roy, refusing to apologize, said arrogantly, "I won't! What I said is true."

Asher, incensed by the insult, pushed Roy forcefully.

Despite Asher's efforts, his push had no effect on the bigger boy.

Roy retaliated by slapping Asher's face hard.

There was a sharp sound, indicating a forceful impact as Roy struck Asher. Almost instantly, Asher burst into tears in response to the hit.

Witnessing the escalating fight, a woman on the sofa, part of the Cortez family and Roy's mother, intervened.

Initially unconcerned, she became furious after Asher pushed Roy.

Despite wearing a facial mask, her anger was apparent as she yelled, "How dare you push my son, you wretch!"

In tears, Asher defended himself, "Roy took my toy and insulted my mom!"

Roy's mother sneered and berated, "Did my son say anything untrue? Your mother is not just a bitch but also a slut. You're the bastard of that slut. Don't show up at our house like a stray dog again. You're not welcome here in the future!"

Asher tearfully protested, "I'm not! I have a father who will come for me!"

Enraged, Asher lunged at Roy's mother and bit her hand with all his might, prompting her to scream in agony.

"Bastard, how dare you bite me!"

Roy's mother erupted in a string of curses, her face contorted with fury. In a menacing gesture, she lifted her foot and forcefully kicked Asher away.

Naturally, a child couldn't endure such a forceful kick. Asher was promptly sent flying and crashed heavily into the sofa.

Outside the door, Liam, consumed by anxiety, kicked open the villa's door impulsively and rushed in alongside Julie, only to witness Asher being kicked.