

The Miraculous Simone Gray by Opal Reese Chapter 341

Chapter 341 Unexpectedly Not Fooled.

After sending out the message, Melinda's phone quickly rang.

When the call connected, she cried and complained about her grievances in a flirtatious manner.

The main focus was on how Simone had bullied her.

She wanted the other person to help her seek revenge.

The man on the phone first comforted her with a deep and captivating voice.

His words sent shivers down Melinda's spine, electrifying her heart and body.

She couldn't help but relax her body and said in a sweet voice, "Darling, I miss you!"

The man hesitated for a moment and replied, "I miss you too."

Melinda acted like a young girl and said flirtatiously, "Honey, you have to come and see me soon."

The man cleared his throat and said, "Okay, I'll come see you in a little while."

He immediately changed the subject and said, "Ignore your nephew's situation. It's impossible to save him after his criminal behavior has been exposed."

Melinda pouted and said, "Not even you can save him?"

In her heart, this man was capable of anything.

He replied, "I can save him, but because it has caused such a big commotion, I might get implicated."

“Then, should I give it a try?” she asked when she heard that he might get implicated.

“No need; it’s his own fault. Let him suffer a bit and learn a lesson.”

She couldn’t bear to let her beloved help her nephew and get into trouble herself.

It was necessary for that trouble-making nephew to suffer a bit so she wouldn’t always have to dean up after him.

It must be said that love makes people biased.

The man on the other end casually comforted Melinda for a while and wanted to hang up

However, Melinda asked, “What should I do about this matter? Simone has gone too far. I must teach her a lesson.”

The man thought for a moment and asked, “What kind of lesson do you want to teach her?”

Melinda said, “Ruining her reputation.”

Then, she told him her plan.

The man sighed and said, “She’s a formidable geomancer and has good martial arts skills. If you let ordinary people kidnap her, it will only bring trouble upon yourself.”

This woman’s way of thinking was truly extraordinary.

If someone else said this, Melinda would definitely not listen.

She thought about it and thought he had a point, and she said, “Well, honey, what should I do?” she asked. “Are you willing to let me be bullied by her?”

The man remained silent for a moment and said. “If you want to deal with her, you have to use extreme methods. I’ll introduce a sorcerer to you. Contact him and ask for his help.”

“The cost of his services is not cheap; it should be around seven and a half million per transaction.”

Melinda’s eyes brightened. “The cost is not a problem; I’ll pay for it,” she added.

She could still afford seven and a half million.

“Is he really powerful?” She knew about witch doctors and felt they were much stronger than any geomancer.

The man nodded. “Yes, very powerful. There shouldn’t be a problem dealing with Simone. then.”

Melinda’s gloomy mood suddenly brightened. “You’re still the best, my dear husband.”

Indeed, in the end, it was only one’s loved ones who could be relied upon.

The man made a few perfunctory remarks and then hung up the phone.

Soon, a string of phone numbers was sent to Melinda via text message.

Thus tume, Melinda became clever. She asked her assistant to buy an anonymous SIM card for her, and she used this card to contact the witch doctor

After it was done, she will couldn’t swallow her anger.

So, she called Simone again, deliberately recording the conversation.

Simone liked to play with recordings, so this time, Melinda decided to turn the tables.

Simone was just about to go to sleep when she saw Melinda calling again. After some consideration, she decided to answer.

“Melinda, do you need something?”

Melinda deliberately spoke with anger, “Simone, you’ve gone too far by spreading rumors about our family online.”

She wanted to take the initiative..

By asking this way, Simone should admit to what she had done.

However, upon hearing this, Simone guessed Melinda's intentions.

This idiot was most likely recording the conversation.

Even if there was no recording, Simone wouldn't say anything that could be used against her.

"What are you talking about? I don't understand what you mean."

Melinda was taken aback. "The things online, weren't they done by you? You said you were going to deal with me, and then all these rumors about our family started spreading online."

Simone sneered, "Melinda, it seems like you have a problem with your brain. You should hurry up and have your husband take you to a psychiatrist."

Melinda was furious. This little girl actually said I am mentally ill.

In order to lure Simone into admitting what she had done online, she suddenly softened her tone, "Simone, I beg you, please don't do this. My nephew has already been caught. Can you the Stewards? As for the things online, as long as you take them down, I won't bother you again in the future. I won't interfere in the relationship between you and Leon either."

spare

She added with a pleading tone, "As long as you delete the evidence of those rumors, you can make demands. I will agree to anything."

Simone laughed. Melinda was becoming more cunning, emphasizing that the things online were just rumors.

If she admitted that she did it, Melinda would definitely upload the recording online to clear her name.

And it would expose her as a hacker who hacked into Banny's Facebook account and posted thence.

She said helplessly, “Melinda, I really don’t know what you’re talking about. Our phones can’t even access the internet. Not to mention sending things, I can’t even see the evidence you’re talking about online. It must be because your family has done too many bad things, so they were exposed. If that’s the case, then I can only say congratulations. Evil will be repaid, and now is the time.”

Hearing Simone’s sarcastic words, Melinda was so angry that she almost vomited blood.

This little fox is too cunning; she didn’t fall for it.

For some reason, even though Simone didn’t admit it, and their phones couldn’t access the internet during the live broadcast, she felt that Simone was the one behind this.

Her voice was no longer gentle but rather stern as she asked, “Do you really want to be our enemy?” This little girl actually congratulated them on their misfortune. How despicable.

Simone scoffed, “Clearly, it’s you who have been constantly targeting me. Your skill in shifting blame and defaming others is on par with Jodie. No wonder the two of you get along better than a biological mother and daughter.”

Melinda was speechless. This cunning little fox was too skilled at manipulating words, which was too infuriating.

“Fine. you asked for it, so just wait and see.” She coldly threatened, “I hope in a few days, you won’t be able to laugh anymore. I will definitely not let you off the hook.”

Simone smiled, “Alright, I’ll wait and see how you make me cry.”

This time, Melinda ended the call first.

Her recording was useless, so she didn’t care, but she didn’t know that when the call connected, Simone also pressed the record button.

Everything she said, including her threats, was recorded.

In the inn, Simone felt that Melinda's tone of speech today was arrogant and aggressive.

She exuded an air of overbearing confidence.

There was only one possibility: Melinda wanted to take action against her, and she had already made preparations.

She saved the recording of their conversation.

As long as Melinda tried to harm her, she could use this recording as evidence.

She also wanted Melinda to experience the feeling of being outsmarted when her plans failed.

At the same time, she became more cautious in her heart.

Chapter 342 Butting In Too Much

Cebros.

The more Melinda thought about it, the angrier she became, and then she received a message from the sorcerer.

After reading it, she immediately called Salma and poured her heart out to her.

She continued to sow discord between Salma and Simone, hoping to completely sever their mother-daughter relationship.

She wanted Salma to feel more resentment and dislike towards Simone.

At the same time, she asked Salma for a favor.

The next day.

Simone's group went to set up a booth for physiognomy fortune-telling again.

Since Bailey didn't participate yesterday, Simone asked him to go first today.

Bailey looked a bit helpless, "Simone, I don't enjoy doing physiognomy fortune-telling for others. This time, it's because of your insistence. I'll read for three people."

He had distanced himself from worldly matters and didn't want to get involved in too much cause and effect.

If it weren't for Simone's constant monitoring, he wouldn't have helped at all.

Simone could sense his resistance.

And her own speculation deepened.

"Alright, I don't want to force you either. Let's just read for three people. When the time comes, we'll draw lots. Whoever gets chosen is in luck's hands now. Today, I'll only read for ten people."

With the income from today and yesterday, it would be enough to cover the expenses for the remaining two days.

Bailey nodded. "Okay."

The group continued to set up their booth in yesterday's location.

Leon and Aaron were still assisting Simone.

Because Simone's physiognomy fortune-telling was so accurate yesterday, and word got out that Bailey would be helping today.

So, they especially rushed over from elsewhere.

As soon as the booth was set up, many people lined up to have their fortunes told.

Simone looked at the crowded crowd and said, "Today, we will only read thirteen people's fortunes in total."

She pointed to Aaron behind her and said, "I'll read ten fortunes. Those who want me to read for them, come over here and draw lots from him. The ten chosen people will line up and wait for their turn."

Then she pointed to Leon and said, "Those who want my Bailey to read for them, come over here and draw lots. The three chosen people will line up and wait for their turn."

Simone's fans, as well as those who witnessed her skills yesterday, all lined up at Aaron's side.

And those who came for Bailey's looks and his reputation went to find Leon.

Soon, the chosen ones were drawn.

Simone gestured to Bailey and said, "Bailey, please!"

Bailey nodded, "Okay!" Then he started reading for the person in front of him.

Just like Simone, he examined the person's facial features and then revealed their situation.

This person was seeking guidance.

Bailey took out three ancient coins from his pocket and asked the person to silently pray their request in their heart, then toss the coins six times.

for

Simone's gaze fell on those three ancient coins.

They were indeed ancient artifacts, emitting a strong aura of good luck.

Following Bailey's instructions, the other person threw the divination coins.

Bailey analyzed each divination result and made some calculations.

Simone had been observing him all along.

She noticed that when he was making calculations, he exuded a mysterious and ethereal

aura

As if he could transform into a celestial being at any moment.

His divination technique was also very ancient.

Bailey was impressive. After the other person threw the coins six times, he spoke up.

He voluntarily revealed the information the other person was seeking.

This left the person who asked for the divination wide-eyed and shocked.

Bailey had already figured it out without the person saying a word. He was truly amazing.

It was not in vain that he rushed here from Cebros overnight.

Soon, Bailey interpreted the divination for this person.

The person became even more respectful towards him and paid him satisfactorily before giving way to the next person.

Next, Bailey easily and effortlessly provided divination for the other two individuals.

He also gave some profound guidance to the last person.

The person was so grateful that they almost burst into tears and wanted to kneel down.

The viewers in the live stream room also praised Bailey, calling him a master.

They marveled at how impressive he was, being Simone's brother-in-law.

After Simone finished watching Bailey's divination and guidance for the three individuals, she completely confirmed her guess.

There was no need for further probing.

She then proceeded to provide divination for ten more people and gave advice on a character for another person.

Because there were fewer people to see today, they closed up shop during lunchtime.

Bailey was very familiar with the ancient city.

So, Simone asked him to take them, along with the viewers in the live stream room, to explore the ancient city.

Bailey was indeed knowledgeable and knew the ancient city like the back of his hand.

It was as if it was his own place.

After having dinner with the other two groups, everyone returned to the inn together.

When they arrived at the inn, the livestream for the day ended.

On her way back to her room, Simone ran into Salma coming down from upstairs.

And it seemed that Salma deliberately sought her out.

Simone pretended not to see her and was about to pass by and go upstairs.

Salma's gaze was fixed on Simone the whole time.

Seeing that Simone noticed her but pretended not to, her chest, which was already in pain, now hurt even more from anger.

She frowned and spoke to Simone, "You saw your birth mother, and you didn't even say hello?" Simone turned her head to look at her and coldly replied, "We severed our relationship a long time ago, so where does this birth mother come from? Mrs. Gray. I hope you will show some self-respect."

Salma: "...” She took a deep breath. “Fine, if you don’t recognize me as your mother, I won’t force it. I just want to ask: did you do those things online? You and Leon were once together, and no matter what, his mother is your elder. Aren’t you being too aggressive?” Last night, Melinda and I had a video call, and her eyes were swollen from crying.

Melinda said she was threatened by Simone.

And because of her nephew’s matter, Simone took it out on her and retaliated.

That was why the Facebook incident happened, and most of it was just rumors.

Then she vented to Salma and wanted Salma to help talk to Simone.

Melinda meant that she could apologize and make amends as long as Simone would leave the Fosters alone.

Salma looked at her friend’s appearance and felt uneasy.

She also thought her daughter went too far.

Originally, Banny made a mistake. Why did Simone take it out on Melinda and continue to attack her?

Upon hearing Salma’s words, Simone found it amusing. “Mrs. Gray, are you being too lenient?” “Besides, I’m currently filming a variety show in the ancient city. How could I have done the things you mentioned?” “The brain is a valuable asset, and I hope you can bring yours with you in the future.

Simone noticed that Salma looked exhausted, and even her facial features had changed.

Geomancers usually didn’t read themselves or their relatives because their vision was often unclear.

However, Simone and Salma had already ended their relationship, and Simone’s understanding of her own abilities had reached a new level.

Now, she could vaguely perceive certain things about Salma.

Salma's facial features had become harsher, and she had a look of intense obsession.

There was also a faint bluish hue on her philtrum, indicating that if she continued in this state of mind and condition, there might be a disaster.

Simone could clearly sense that Salma's dislike for her was growing stronger.

There was even a clear sense of resentment and anger.

Salma was helping her so-called best friend question her.

In reality, it was also Salma's way of expressing her dissatisfaction with Simone.

Being criticized by Simone in such a harsh manner, Salma's face darkened.

"Even if you don't recognize me as your mother, I am still your elder, right? Is this how you treat your elders?"

Simone smiled. "If you want me to show respect to my elders, I understand. But that elder also has to be deserving of my respect!" She looked at Salma and hinted, "Clearly, you do not fall into that category."

Salma choked, feeling a pain in her chest. "You!" She didn't know what else to say.

She had been hesitating whether or not to help Melinda.

But after being criticized and mocked by her own daughter, she no longer had any doubts.

Then her gaze fell upon the strand of hair on Simone's shoulder.

Chapter 343 She Doesn't Believe

Salma took a deep breath when she noticed the hair on Simone's shoulder.

Suppressing her last bit of hesitation, she reached out and lightly patted Simone's shoulder as if she were brushing off some dust.

Then she quickly grabbed the strand of hair and held it in her hand.

Upon seeing Simone's gaze, Salma felt a twinge of guilt and said, "I noticed some dust on your clothes, so I thought I'd help you brush it off."

Simone looked at Salma with a cold stare.

"Is that so? Then why did you take my hair?"

She grabbed Salma's hand as she was about to retract it and took the hair back.

When Salma looked at her shoulder with a conflicted expression, Simone realized that something was amiss.

She also noticed the hair on her shoulder.

It wasn't actually her hair; someone had accidentally brushed it onto her clothes earlier.

But she couldn't let Salma take it away and potentially harm someone else.

As a geomancer, Simone attached great importance to her hair and blood.

She couldn't let them remain on her clothes and be taken away by someone.

The reason Simone didn't stop her initially was to see if Salma would choose to take it.

In the end, Salma did, which surprised Simone but also seemed expected.

Salma was caught off guard and suddenly felt a bit panicked.

She didn't expect Simone to be so perceptive and notice her small actions.

She awkwardly smiled and said, "I noticed some hair on your clothes, so I wanted to pick it up and throw it away for you."

Simone looked at her firmly and said, "If you look in the mirror now, you'll see that your eyes and face betray a sense of guilt, Melinda asked you to take it, didn't she?"

Being directly exposed by Simone, Salma felt even more embarrassed.

She shook her head and denied, "No, Melinda didn't ask me to take your hair. You've misunderstood. I simply saw some dust on your clothes and wanted to help you remove it."

Simone no longer held any hope or affection for her biological mother.

Otherwise, this kind of thing would be quite hurtful.

She looked at Salma coldly and said, "Whether I misunderstood or not, you know the truth. very well. You've always wondered why I don't recognize you and want to sever our relationship. In addition to Melinda's influence, there are also these recent events."

da, and use it

have the

She sarcastically added, "So, you actually wanted to take my hair, give it to against me. Are you my real mother or my enemy? After all that you did, audacity to act superior in front of me. What happened to your dignity?" Salma wouldn't just randomly grab her hair, which meant it was instigated by Melinda.

Her own mother didn't just take Melinda's side when it came to her and Melinda, but now she took Melinda's side as well.

She didn't expect this before.

But fortunately, she stopped caring a long time ago, so she wouldn't be upset anymore.

When Simone bluntly stated it, Salma's expression changed.

She originally wanted to continue denying it, but when she saw the sarcasm and coldness in Simone's eyes, she couldn't bring herself to say it anymore.

Salma remained silent for a moment and said, "Yes, Melinda did ask me to bring her a strand of your hair."

She pursed her lips and continued, "She said that you might have been cursed before. It's like being possessed by something unclean, which is why you became heartless and indifferent towards us."

"As long as I give her a strand of your hair, she can ask a geomancy master she knows to perform a ritual to cleanse you of the curse."

She looked up at Simone with a hopeful look, "I want the old you back; that's why I agreed. Please, give me back my daughter?" She truly wanted her obedient and considerate daughter back.

This prickly, cold, and heartless Simone was not her daughter.

Simone suddenly laughed, "You still like to deceive yourself. Do you really think I've been possessed by something impure? Can't you even recognize your own daughter?" She found it truly ironic, "Deep down, you know that I'm still me. It's just that you can only accept the obedient and considerate side of me. And you can't accept that you hurt me, causing me to sever ties with you and completely change my attitude towards you. You're just a hypocrite who holds different people to different standards."

III

She then changed the subject and said, "Do you truly believe that Melinda wanted my hair to help me get rid of a curse? If you truly believed it, why were you hesitating just now? So, you also had doubts and suspicions that Melinda wanted my hair so she could use it against me. Just because I didn't comply with you and instead confronted you. You convinced yourself that helping me remove the curse was for my own good and you did nothing wrong. Mrs. Gray, am I right?" Salma could discern everything about Mrs. Gray's mindset.

The more she realized this, the more fortunate she felt for severing ties with her biological mother.

Otherwise, who would dare to desire such a twisted form of family affection? When Simone revealed her inner thoughts, Salma's expression changed.

Her eyes flickered, “I am your biological mother, so how could I possibly want to harm you? Besides, you are so capable; how could you be harmed?”

She didn’t fully believe Melinda’s words.

She had a slight suspicion that Melinda wanted to do something with Simone’s hair.

But she thought that since Simone was so powerful, just taking a strand of hair shouldn’t cause much harm.

At most, she would learn a lesson.

And if what Melinda said was true, it would be even better if her once considerate daughter could return.

So, she took action.

Simone chuckled, “Look, you’re still making excuses for your coldness and evil. I am capable, so I deserve to be manipulated by you?” She looked at Salma and said, “Mrs. Gray, we used to be mere acquaintances. But now you’ve crossed my boundaries. If you provoke me again, don’t blame me for any violent repercussions that might happen.”

With Salma’s temperament, as long as she wasn’t a close and obedient daughter, she would always hold a grudge.

It was only a matter of time before she provoked her again.

When that happened, her counterattack would be justified.

Salma’s face turned red, embarrassed and indignant

35

What did it mean to call her cold and evil? How could anyone say that about their own mother? This daughter always managed to make her angry

She said coldly, “These are just fabrications; I don’t believe them.”

Simone shrugged nonchalantly, “Believe it or not, it’s up to you”

She said with a meaningful tone, "Now I understand why Jodie is so cold and heartless. Because she was raised by you since childhood, he learned from you. Like mother, like daughter."

Salma was so angry that her whole body trembled as she pointed at Simone.,"

"Y-You...

But she didn't know how to refute it.

What she despised the most now was being, told that she had raised Jodie to be this way.

Seeing Salma so furious, Simone's thoughts shifted.

She put on a friendly expression and said, "Considering our past as mother and daughter, let me remind you. I notice that your philtrum is turning purple. If you continue to associate with Leon's mother and become as mischievous as her... Then, you will face a series of unfortunate events. The worst outcome would be being abandoned by everyone."

Simone wasn't genuinely trying to kindly remind Salma but rather planting a seed of doubt in her mind.

She knew that Salma had always been very suspicious.

If it came true, Salma wouldn't blame herself but would definitely blame Melinda.

Melinda wanted to sow discord between her and Salma, but Simone didn't care.

However, she wouldn't allow the other party to continue causing trouble unchecked.

She would also plot and scheme so that no matter how good Salma's relationship with Melinda was now, their relationship would become extremely hostile in the future.

It would be quite interesting to witness two wealthy wives fighting each other.

Most importantly, given Salma's current state, she simply couldn't listen to what Simone was saying.

Sure enough, Salma was so enraged that her whole body trembled.

“You’ve gone too far, cursing me like that.”

She didn’t believe that she would encounter any misfortune or be abandoned by her loved ones.

Chapter 344 This Is Not Difficult to Do, Right?

Simone could sense from Salma’s expression that she was unwilling to accept her reminder. It was clear that she didn’t want to believe it. With a smile, Simone said, “If you don’t believe me, then forget it. Some people just can’t handle the truth. They insist on associating with malicious individuals and end up harming themselves.” Deciding not to say anything more to Salma, Simone walked back upstairs to her room.

Salma turned around and watched Simone’s figure disappear, her face turning pale. In a fit of anger, she went back to her room and messaged Melinda, informing her of her failure. She explained that she couldn’t help anymore because Simone had discovered her hair. Melinda replied, saying it was okay but secretly cursed Salma as useless. She couldn’t even obtain a strand of hair. As a mother, Salma is a failure. The warlock had instructed her to try her best to obtain Simone’s hair or blood, as it would allow them to deal with Simone more effectively.

Melinda pondered the situation and decided to contact Leon. She asked her youngest son to find an opportunity to obtain a strand of Simone’s hair for her. She used similar words to explain to Leon that Simone’s transformation was due to a curse. If the curse could be broken, Simone would return to her previous self and reconcile with him. However, Leon didn’t believe any of this. Instead, he suspected that his mother might have hired a geomancer to deal with Simone. Why else would they need hair? It just didn’t seem normal. He not only refused to help but also spent a long time persuading his mother to stop causing trouble. Frustrated, Melinda hung up the phone herself.

After considering her options, she impulsively made a voice call to Jodie. To her surprise, the call connected. Melinda didn't hide anything and told Jodie about hiring a warlock to deal with Simone. However, she clarified that her motive wasn't personal resentment towards Simone. Instead, she couldn't bear to see Simone bullying Jodie and wanted to seek revenge on her behalf. Jodie had already witnessed the online disputes between the Stewards and Melinda, so she didn't fully trust Melinda's words. Nevertheless, she expressed gratitude and thanked her.

Melinda explained why she had contacted Jodie. She knew that Jodie was harboring the most hatred towards Simone. Thus, she asked Jodie to find a way to obtain a strand of Simone's hair. If possible, getting Simone's blood would be even better. Jodie truly despised Simone to the core at that moment. She wished she could drink Simone's blood and devour her flesh. After hearing Melinda's request, she realized that both Salma and Leon had failed to obtain the hair. She didn't have much hope for Melinda either, but she agreed to try and find someone.

After ending the voice call with Melinda, Jodie pondered and thought of someone she could utilize. She put on a hat and a mask and left the geomancy association. The person behind her had solved her problem, so she was no longer held captive, and she was free to go out occasionally as long as she wasn't discovered. In a little while, she would be completely free again. As she walked down an alley, someone suddenly covered her mouth and dragged her into another alley. Jodie was initially startled, but when she saw that it was her three former teammates from the polo team, she suddenly calmed down. She felt a sense of joy. It was true that good fortune often comes when least expected. These were the three people she had been searching for. She had been wondering how to find them, but who would have thought that they would come to her on their own accord? Fate was still favoring her.

111

Jodie pretended to be scared and asked, "What do you want from me?"

The fierce team captain coldly replied, "Because of you and your siblings, we lost the match. So, tell us how you plan to compensate us." He had already discovered that Jodie and her siblings came from a wealthy family. Their previous loss in the match had caused them to miss out on the prize money, and they held Jodie and her siblings responsible for it. They hadn't been able to find Jodie before, but today, they coincidentally ran into her, so naturally, they wouldn't let her go.

Jodie inwardly criticized them. It was only because these three were incompetent that they lost the match. Now, they were shifting the blame onto them. However, people like them were easily dealt with. She put on an innocent look and said, "It was Simone who cheated, which caused us to lose the match. So, you should go find her."

The team captain sneered, "We saw what you did with our own eyes. Don't play innocent. We know exactly who you are." He grabbed Jodie's chin with his hand. "So don't take us for fools

Simone was busy recording a live variety show and was difficult to catch. Besides, she had already distanced herself from the Gray Family, so she definitely didn't have the wealth that Jodie possessed by staying behind. Only fools would let a rich prey right before them go.

Hearing his words, Jodie knew that they wouldn't fall for any weak act. She didn't beat around the bush anymore and asked, "Do you want money?"

The team captain smiled and said, "You're quite clever." Jodie asked, "How much do you want?" After thinking for a moment, the team captain said, "Give each of us 150 thousand as compensation, and we won't pursue the matter any further."

Jodie thought to herself that these people had such small ambitions. Four hundred and fifty grand was nothing to her. She no longer concealed her true intentions and straightforwardly said, "Alright. But you have to do something for me" Seeing the captain's ugly expression, she added, "As long as it's done, I'll give each of you 300 grand."

The captain's interest was piqued, and he asked, "What do you want us to do?" Jodie said, "Just help me obtain a strand of Simone's hair." After a moment of consideration, she added, "If you can get her hair and blood, I'll give you a million and a half." She confidently asked, "How about it? It shouldn't be difficult, right?" With the hair and blood, if the warlock Melinda had hired couldn't deal with Simone, she could seek help from her uncle and hire an even more powerful geomancer to handle Simone.

Upon hearing the offer of a million and a half, excitement sparkled in the eyes of the captain and the other two individuals.

"It's just hair and blood; it shouldn't be difficult for us," they acknowledged.

"Alright, we'll do it," the captain agreed.

He added, "But you have to pay 450 grand as compensation first, as a deposit. Once we provide you with Simone's hair and blood, you can pay the remaining money."

He feared that Jodie would deceive them.

If she were to run away and they couldn't locate her, it would be a waste.

Jodie understood his concerns and readily agreed, "No problem."

She then requested the captain's account number and transferred 450 grand to him.

She simply hoped that these three individuals would be trustworthy and successfully obtain the items.

After receiving the money, the captain no longer bothered Jodie and allowed her to leave.

They then made preparations and sought an opportunity to capture Simone.

After discussing, they decided to make their move once the variety show live broadcast concluded, as it would be the best opportunity.

Over the next two days, Simone and her group continued to explore the ancient city with the audience in the live broadcast room.

They searched for hidden places and new ways to play that were not documented online.

Two days later, this episode of the variety show came to an end.

The production team then inquired about the guests' departure plans from the ancient city so they could arrange their flights.

Simone informed the production team not to book her ticket as she wanted to postpone her return to Cebros for two more days.

She also needed to retrieve the items her master had sent to the geomancy association.

Zac initially wanted to stay with Simone, but she declined.

Simone had a feeling that Leon's mother had hired a mystical arts practitioner to target her.

And she knew that someone would be watching when she retrieved her master's items from the association.

#11

So, she might encounter danger and trouble later, and she didn't want to involve Zac.

Zac didn't insist when Simone refused.

He asked her to keep in touch and departed with the other guests.

Leon and Aaron chose not to leave.

Aaron planned to go to the hospital and return to Cebros with Andrew once his condition stabilized.

Leon stayed because he knew his mother had come to the ancient city.

He was concerned that his mother would cause trouble for Simone, so he claimed to accompany her, but his true intention was to keep an eye on her.

Bailey returned to his residence in the ancient city and invited Simone to stay. However, Simone politely declined.

Later that day, after nightfall, Simone left the inn and headed alone to the geomancy association. Unexpectedly, she was intercepted on the way by three men.

Chapter 345 Really Scared.

Simone noticed the three individuals blocking her path, and a hint of amusement appeared on her lips.

These three people couldn't have been called by Melinda; it must be Jodie.

"What do you mean by this?" she asked.

The captain smiled and said, "Miss Simone, I apologize, but we need your assistance."

"What kind of help?" Simone inquired.

The captain replied, "Could you provide us with a strand of your hair and a few drops of your blood?"

As he spoke, he took out a glass test tube filled with blood from his bag.

Simone raised an eyebrow. "And if I refuse to help?"

The captain's smiling face instantly turned serious. A fierce aura emanated from him. "Then we'll have to take it by force. So, Miss Simone, it would be better for you to cooperate."

Simone pursed her lips. "I'm not the type to cooperate, so go ahead and do whatever you can."

The captain didn't expect her to remain fearless even after he released such a strong aura. She even wanted to confront them head-on.

His expression turned grim. "Miss Simone, let's go to the nearby alley and talk."

After he finished speaking, the other two immediately reached out to grab Simone's arms.

Clearly, they intended to take her to a secluded alley.

The eyes of the two men looking at Simone were filled with lust.

This girl was incredibly beautiful and had a great figure.

Since she wasn't willing to cooperate, they wouldn't be polite either.

They had assaulted many women before, but none of them were as beautiful as this famous star.

Today, they would indulge in their desires.

O

It was already evening, and the alley over there was very secluded, with no one passing by.

Alternatively, they could take turns guarding outside the alley, and each would have a chance to assault Simone..

The more they thought about it, the more their gazes toward Simone became heated and lecherous.

The captain knew his two subordinates very well. Seeing their expressions, he became interested as well.

Not only could they make money from this, but they could also have some fun with Simone. Perfect.

Simone's gaze turned cold, and she evaded the hands reaching out to grab her.

She took the initiative to walk towards the alley, saying, "I'll go by myself."

The three of them were stunned. They didn't expect Simone to walk there on her own.

This girl was truly audacious.

She hadn't experienced the darkness of human nature! So, they would let her "experience" it.

Soon, the three of them followed closely behind and entered the alley.

There were a few lanterns hanging in the alley, but the lighting was dim.

As they walked in, for some reason, all three of them shivered.

They saw Simone lazily leaning against the wall, looking at them with a smirk that seemed to conceal something.

Although she was smiling, they felt no warmth in her eyes.

The three of them inexplicably felt a sense of danger.

But because Simone was a woman, they were accustomed to being ruthless and wicked, so they suppressed this feeling and walked past her

The captain glanced at Simone and said, "Hey, pretty, how about having some fun with us. tonight?" Simone smirked and replied, "Sure, I guarantee it will be unforgettable."

The captain laughed. "I didn't expect you to be so bold. Then I won't hold back."

After saying that, he reached out to Simone.

III

But when his hand was about fourteen inches away from Simone, he couldn't reach further.

He even felt that his hand had become stiff and couldn't move anymore.

When he tried to take a few steps back, he found that his body couldn't move either.

He exclaimed in horror, "What's happening to me?"

Simone raised an eyebrow. "Didn't the person who hired you inform you geomancy master?" The captain was stunned.

any

"She didn't mention that."

These outlaws only cared about committing evil deeds and making money; they had no interest in the entertainment industry.

Although they knew Simone was recording a live variety show, they were not interested in watching it.

So, they never bothered to watch.

As a result, they had to miss witnessing how Simone dealt with Banny and his gang.

Otherwise, they wouldn't have recklessly come to capture Simone.

Simone exuded a hint of wickedness. "Then let me show you."

After saying that, she moved her fingertips, and strands of negative energy entered the bodies of the three men.

The three of them suddenly felt a chill all over their bodies, and for the first time, they felt fear in their hearts.

Then, the scene in front of them suddenly changed, and it was all bloody darkness, with decaying corpses reaching out towards them.

"Ah! Ah!" The three men's pupils shrank, and they started flailing their arms and legs. The captain could move again, and his face became fierce. "Stay away, don't come any closer. I'm going to kill you."

As they fought, the three of them ended up huddled together, fighting each other.

Simone stood by and watched.

These three men were all outlaws, with heavy negative energy surrounding them, and had committed numerous crimes.

111

That day at the polo field, she had sensed something amiss in their auras and had initially considered anonymously reporting them to the police.

But after the match, she felt that these three men might soon cross paths with her.

So, she waited for them to come to her.

This ancient city had stood for many years and had experienced multiple wars.

Therefore, there was no shortage of negative energy, which could be easily manipulated.

She not only tapped into but also amplified the amount of negative energy that penetrated the bodies of the three individuals.

From now on, these three would not only have nightmares every day, but in a few days, they would also lose their virility.

They would be plagued by serious illnesses and misfortune.

After being tormented to the point of exhaustion, any criminal activities they had committed would be exposed, and they would spend the rest of their lives in prison.

When the three individuals were almost done beating each other up, Simone snapped her fingers.

Gradually, the three of them stopped their actions and regained their senses.

Then, they felt intense pain all over their bodies and remembered what had just happened.

Apart from the fighting, the things they saw were truly terrifying, and their hearts were still pounding.

They looked at Simone in horror, and their previous lewd thoughts had vanished.

No wonder she dared to follow them into the alley. It turned out she possessed these terrifying mystical arts.

As people who roamed the world, they naturally knew that there were truly extraordinary individuals out there.

If they provoked them, the consequences were usually dire.

The captain was a sensible person.

So, with a flattering expression, he said to Simone, "Miss Simone, we were foolish and ignorant. We were mistaken. We will never dare to seek your assistance again. We will leave now."

After the three of them had finished speaking, they attempted to leave unnoticed.

Simone scoffed disdainfully, "Do you think this is a teahouse where you can come and go as you please?" The captain's back was drenched in cold sweat as he silently cursed Jodie's ancestors multiple times.

He inquired, "So, what is it that you desire?" His entire body felt cold and achy, and he was still trembling from the earlier fright. He was genuinely terrified.

Simone replied, "Were you sent here by Jodie?"

Chapter 346 Another Spectacular Show

Upon hearing Simone's words, the captain realized that this woman was extraordinary.

He quickly recounted the incident where Jodic approached them to Simone.

Simone looked at him and said, "I can spare you if you want. "However you want to treat me, treat Jodie the same way."

The captain immediately responded, "No problem. That woman dared to deceive us, and I won't let her off easily."

He believed that Jodie knew from the beginning that Simone was a skilled

She wanted to use Simone's help to deal with them.

geomancer.

The remaining money was just bait to lure them to their deaths. She had no intention of actually giving them the final payment.

This made him furious.

Simone could tell that this man misunderstood Jodie's intentions.

But she didn't explain and thought it was better this way.

She took out a small packet from her purse and pulled out a strand of hair from the noodles inside.

She handed it to the man and said, "Here's a strand of hair. Give it to her."

The hair Simone gave to the captain was Jodie's hair, which she obtained from Tina.

She continued, "As for blood, just get a few drops somewhere and give it to her. When the time comes, just say that you took it from me."

Jodie wanted her hair to be given to Melinda for some witchcraft.

Let the other party reap what they sow.

The captain's eyes lit up. "Miss Simone, I understand."

By doing this, they could also get their hands on the final payment.

Simone suddenly smiled and asked, "Don't you want to make more money?"

The captain was confused for a moment, then asked with interest, "Of course we do. What do you mean?"

Simone reminded him, "Jodie is wealthy. What's one and a half million compared to that? You can turn her money into your own. People like you should have bank accounts overseas, right?" She suggested, "Once you receive the money, immediately transfer it out. Then she won't be able to touch it."

After Jodie turned Andrew into that state in the ancient city, with Steven's character, he probably wouldn't keep her at home anymore.

After kicking her out of the Gray Family, he would also cut off her financial support.

If Jodie conspired with Melinda against her, she naturally had to pay her back in kind.

It would be satisfying enough to turn Jodie into a pauper.

With Jodie's personality, she wouldn't dare to approach Steven if she had no money.

But she would definitely cling to Salma and her brothers, who could still give her money. And that would be another spectacular show.

Of course, these three people wouldn't have a good ending either.

She wouldn't let them enjoy this money.

After the money was transferred, she would embezzle it and transfer it to the account of the charity fund to do good deeds.

The captain's eyes lit up as they had done many things to transfer money from other people's accounts to their own.

They would resort to various threats and coercion.

He nodded and said, "We are good at this. Thank you for reminding us, Miss Simone."

If Jodie wanted to plot against them, they would not hesitate to take action.

Simone thought for a moment and asked, "Besides this, you have another way to make money."

The captain asked, "What is it? We are all ears."

Simone said, "You should know that Jodie and Andrew had a falling out because of a kickball match. Actually, all you need to do is collect Jodie's hair and blood and send it to the hospital to Andrew. I believe he would be very interested and willing to buy it from you."

To retaliate against Jodie and regain their luck, Andrew would ask for Bailey's help.

2.4

The effect would be even better if he also used Jodie's hair and blood.

Since Andrew was bedridden and cursing himself, he would definitely be willing to buy it.

Then, they could witness another drama of the siblings fighting each other.

Although the captain was skeptical of Simone's words, he thought it was worth a try.

Since they were already planning to cause trouble for Jodie, they might as well make some money by collecting hair and blood. It was a profitable deal.

He clasped his fists and said to Simone, "Miss Simone, you are truly kind-hearted. I apologize to you once again for what happened today."

This girl was still too soft-hearted. She only scared and threatened them but didn't really harm them.

She even provided them with two ways to make money.

Although they were being used to plot against the siblings, it was the most beneficial for them.

What a good person!

Simone glanced at him and said, "Just go away."

In a couple of days, these people probably wouldn't be able to speak anymore. She had been kind enough.

After dealing with the three of them, Simone went straight to the geomancy association.

She found a place specifically used for storage.

Sure enough, she sensed a fluctuation of the aura of a formation in the surroundings.

After sensing it, she realized that this formation had been set up for many years.

This ancient city and the geomancy association were definitely not as simple as they seemed.

The gate of the association was open, and Simone walked in directly.

Inside, she saw an old man with white hair sitting under a big tree near the entrance, dozing off.

When he saw Simone, he stood up and walked over, examining her.

He asked, "It's late, what are you doing here? Simone took out the key and showed it to him.

"I'm here to retrieve something."

The old man glanced at the key and the number on it. "Go directly to Room 7 in the third courtyard to retrieve it from the storage cabinet

Simone nodded. "Okay!" There was only one old man guarding this place.

But she could tell that the old man was a highly skilled geomancy master.

With the formation here, there was no fear of anyone daring to rob or anything.

This was a large courtyard of ancient buildings with several courtyards, each with many rooms.

Simone didn't stop and walked to the third courtyard, finding room number seven.

Chapter 347 Important Information Left by the Master

Room number seven was locked, but on the adjacent wall, there was an embedded stone box.

Simone opened the stone box, and inside, she found two recessed areas.

She took out the master's identity seal and the key and placed them inside.

Soon, the door to the room opened automatically, and Simone entered, taking the items with her.

Inside the room, there was a wooden cabinet with a talisman hanging on it.

Simone infused the energy from the master's identity seal into the talisman.

After a moment, the talisman attached to the cabinet spontaneously ignited and turned into ashes.

The cabinet, which had no lock or visible seams, slowly opened on its own.

Simone saw that inside the cabinet, there was only a small square wooden box with a talisman attached to each of its four corners.

There was also an ancient-looking lock on the wooden box.

Simone carried the wooden box and felt a familiar aura emanating from it, confirming that it belonged to the master.

Instead of opening it here, she decided to take it with her.

As she was leaving through the gate of the courtyard, the old man with white hair glanced at the wooden box in Simone's arms, his eyes flickering.

He emphasized, "Once you retrieve the contents, as soon as you pass through this gate, you will have no further connection with us. If you lose it on your own, we will not take responsibility."

Simone looked deeply into the old man's eyes,

She nodded and said, "I understand!" Then she walked out of the courtyard gate, carrying the wooden box.

still

Just as Simone had left, in another courtyard of the geomancy association, at the entrance of the main room, a person walked over and knocked on the door.

And at the door, they said, "Master, Simone has already obtained the item."

A voice came from inside the room, "Wait until she leaves the ancient city and then retrieve the item."

"Yes!" This situation was not limited to just one courtyard.

Along the way, no one appeared to snatch the wooden box.

This was within Simone's expectations.

On the territory of the geomancy association, if she had taken out the stored item and it was snatched away, no one would dare to store anything here anymore.

But once she left the ancient city, the situation would be different.

Back in her room, Simone locked the door.

Still, inside the room, she set up a formation that could not be detected by others,

Only then did she approach the wooden box and unlock it with another key.

Then, she pricked her finger and let a drop of blood fall onto the talisman attached to each of the four corners.

The blood instantly merged into the talisman, and the talisman then ignited, turning into a wisp of smoke.

“Crack!” The wooden box made a sound and opened automatically.

Simone looked inside, and there were only two things in the wooden box.

On top of the noodles, there was an ancient jade button emitting a quaint aura and a strong auspicious energy.

The jade button was intricately carved with complex patterns, and in the center, there was a vividly carved miniature winged serpent.

Simone picked up the ancient jade button and examined it carefully. It was a top-grade magical artifact.

However, she had a feeling that this item was more than just a magical artifact.

Beneath the jade button, there was a letter.

Simone reached out and took the letter.

There was also a talisman attached to the envelope. As soon as Simone’s hand touched it, the talisman spontaneously ignited and disappeared.

She knew that this was a contingency left by her master. This was a talisman that served as a verification.

Only by sensing her aura could the letter remain unharmed.

If anyone else tried to take this letter, the talisman would also ignite.

But it would burn along with the entire letter, destroying it completely.

Even the wooden box containing the items could not be opened without her blood.

If forced open, the wooden box would be destroyed.

Therefore, even if someone coveted the items left by her master, they would never be able to obtain them.

Simone opened the letter and read it, tears streaming down her face.

Her master had divined that she would face life-threatening challenges, so he used secret techniques to seek a lifeline for her.

The secret technique had ultimately succeeded, but he didn't know what form her lifeline would take.

Since birth, she had been cursed, and in order to break free from the shackles, she had to first destroy and then rebuild.

So, this life-threatening challenge was not entirely a bad thing; fortune and misfortune were intertwined.

It also informed her that the Geomancy Association was not as simple as it appeared to outsiders.

There were righteous individuals, but there were also those who harbored dark secrets, and she was advised not to get too involved.

She was also advised to avoid setting foot in the ancient city as much as possible, as it was a prison and not a good place.

Her master listed a few names in the letter, saying that these individuals could be trusted.

When she saw two of the names, Simone was surprised.

Her master also mentioned the jade button, saying that it had been passed down from his ancestors.

It was said that this jade button held a secret, and once it was unlocked, it would bring great opportunities to a geomancy and mystical arts practitioner.

III

Her master had never been able to unlock this secret in his lifetime, but it had attracted the attention of others.

As a result, he had been targeted and attacked several times, leading to severe and incurable injuries.

The fact that she was able to obtain the wooden box indicated that she had survived that major calamity and gained the ability to protect herself.

She was instructed to keep the jade button safe, and a clue for deciphering its secret was also provided.

It was emphasized that for her, this could be a chance to break free from her current situation and change her destiny.

The individuals plotting against her were powerful, and she was advised not to confront them directly.

Unless one day she reached the Divine State, she would have no hope of resisting them.

If she couldn't reach this level, she would be sent abroad to avoid danger, which would at least save her life.

In the end, her master said he had reserved a Cebros courtyard for her and wrote down the address.

The deed was in her name and placed inside the courtyard.

He had set up a formation in the house, and she could make some adjustments to it when she moved in, which would help enhance her strength.

He had also stored a lot of high-quality medicinal materials that had aged in that house specifically for her.

Lastly, it was his hope.

He hoped that his only precious disciple could live a safe and peaceful life.

Simone's tears fell onto the letter, and she was unable to speak.

Her master was the best person to her in this world, and he was the only family she recognized.

At that moment, the letter spontaneously combusted into ashes.

Clearly, her master did not want anyone else to see or discover the contents of the letter.

It turned out that her master's injury was the result of a deliberate attack, and she would seek revenge for him.

From the letter, it appeared that her master knew who was conspiring against her, but he could not write it down or inform her directly.

However, it did provide an important piece of information.

That individual had already achieved the Divine State, and their name was not among those trusted by her master.

Simone threaded the jade button onto a red string and wore it around her neck,

And in that moment,

Jodie once again left the geomancy association.

She headed alone to the inn location that the captain had just informed her about.

Chapter 348 Her Own Medicine

Jodie entered the inn and headed straight to the third floor.

She knocked on the door of a room.

When she saw the captain, who opened the door with a face full of injuries, she was surprised.

Then she remembered that Simone was very skilled, so these people must have been beaten up.

She didn't care about their injuries, but she was concerned about whether they had completed the mission.

The captain said, "Come in."

Jodie walked in, closed the door behind her, and deliberately locked it.

Jodie asked, "Did you get the items?"

"Yes, we obtained them."

The captain pointed to a strand of hair and half a bottle of blood on the coffee table.

The blood was dropped by one of his subordinates.

Jodie's eyes lit up when she saw this, and she carefully picked up the items and put them in her bag.

"How did you acquire these items? Did she give them willingly?" With Simone's personality, it was impossible for her to give them willingly. Jodie was testing the three of them.

Upon hearing her words, the captain's face darkened. "How could she give them willingly? We obtained them after we forcibly drugged her and took them from her."

He then intentionally looked unfriendly and questioned Jodie.

"Why didn't you tell us earlier that Simone is so skilled? When we tried to stop her, she beat us up."

If we hadn't brought the syringe and injected her while she wasn't paying attention, we would have lost our lives."

Simone had previously mentioned that she wanted Jodie to believe that the hair and blood belonged to her.

So, he said it like this.

Sure enough, when Jodie heard these words, the suspicion in her heart disappeared.

Judging from the appearance of the three of them, they probably didn't assault Simone, which was a pity.

Jodie pretended to be innocent and said, "I'm sorry, I didn't know she was so skilled."

The captain impatiently said, "Enough with the nonsense; transfer the remaining money to me."

However, Jodie said, "I can only give you 300 grand for now. After I verify that this hair and blood indeed belong to Simone, I will give you the rest."

Although she basically believed the words of the three people, she still had to be cautious.

If these were not the items she desired, she would definitely not give them the money.

And if these people dared to deceive her, she would make them return the money they had taken before.

The captain had originally planned to whoop Jodie, but now she had taken the initiative to challenge him.

He reached out and grabbed Jodie by the neck. "You think you can fool us, you b*tch? We've been beaten up, and you haven't paid us yet, and now you want to avoid paying."

Jodie looked displeased. "I never said I wouldn't give it to you. As long as the verification is correct, I'll transfer the remaining money to you!"

She would hand over the items to Melinda and wait for the warlock to take action.

If it wasn't Simone's blood, it must be these three.

If they faced misfortune later, it would serve them right to try to deceive her.

The captain sneered, "Where can we find you later? Transfer it now, or I'll kill you."

He finished speaking, and another person immediately took out a dagger and pressed it against Jodie's head.

Jodie didn't expect these people to turn on her so quickly.

But she truly felt an indescribable sense of danger.

Her sixth sense had always been accurate.

If she didn't transfer the money, these people might actually harm her.

III

She could only say, "Fine, I'll transfer it to you."

These three dared to treat her like this so she wouldn't let them off.

Under the gaze of the three, Jodie could only take out her phone and transfer 1.05 million to the captain's account.

"Is it okay now?" She looked at the captain and said, "We're even now; I'm leaving."

The captain suddenly smiled, "Do you know what we used to do?" Jodie had a bad feeling, "What did you do?" The captain leaned closer to her ear and said, "Robbery, extortion, fraud, assault, we did it all. You can leave if you want; just transfer all the money from your account to me. And then spend a night with us; I guarantee you'll leave unharmed in the morning."

He still had lingering fears about what happened before.

This girl had crossed them, so they had to make up for it.

Let her have some fun with them and vent their frustrations; it was only fair.

Jodie couldn't believe it. "You dare."

These people not only broke their promise but also shamelessly wanted all her money.

And they wanted her to spend a night with them as if they were worthy.

The captain could see through Jodie's thoughts with just one glance.

He slapped her directly. "I'm not a soft-hearted person; you better be smart."

Jodie covered her face and glared at the captain. "If you dare to do such a thing to me, you won't have it easy either."

The captain sneered, "That's a problem for later

It was clear that Jodie was unwilling.

So, he gave a signal to his two companions.

The two immediately grabbed one of Jodie's arms each and dragged her into the room.

And they threw her onto the bed.

But they didn't directly harm her.

Instead, they used their previous methods to torture Jodie first.

O

They made her unable to bear it and forced her to transfer all the money in her account to them.

She was Miss Gray from the Gray Family, so her cards are all unlimited transfer types.

The captain saw millions of dollars added to the account and squinted his eyes, "Indeed, she is a wealthy young lady. We have never been with a wealthy young lady before, so let's try it today."

A hint of disdain appeared in Jodie's eyes.

The men she had been with before were not lacking in looks or social status.,

These three men were far behind.

But looking at their appearance, she knew she couldn't escape their clutches today. Resisting might even get her into more trouble.

Anyway, she wasn't exactly innocent, so she could only accept her fate.

However, Jodie didn't know that the three men secretly recorded a video.

They planned to use the video to blackmail this wealthy heiress once they ran out of money.

Finally, the captain used a special technique to press Jodie's head, and she fainted.

The three men pulled out a few strands of her hair and dropped a few drops of blood into a glass container.

Then, they simply left the room.

Chapter 349 This Is the One I Raised?

The guys weren't worried that Jodie might call the cops

After all, she was the one who paid them off first

If it were exposed, it wouldn't benefit her.

And since they had always been on edge, they weren't afraid even if she called the police,

They were prepared to go to the hospital, sell their hair and blood to Andrew, and immediately leave the ancient city.

Then, they would go to the border and pay to smuggle out of the country.

With that much money, they would be able to live freely.

When the money ran out, they would come back and use the video to blackmail Jodie.

At the same time, to be safe, they followed Simone's advice and transferred all the money to an anonymous foreign account.

Then, the three of them went to the hospital.

M

Andrew was in pain all over and couldn't sleep.

After his streak of bad luck, he suffered various torments every day in addition to the pain.

His left cheek was still swollen.

This time, it wasn't from a collision but from a wisdom tooth and inflamed gums.

Steven had business to attend to and returned to Cebros in the morning.

Because they had hired a nurse to care for him for the night, Aaron went back to the hotel to sleep and wasn't around.

When they heard a knock on the door, the nurse opened it.

They saw three fierce-looking people standing at the door.

He was startled, "What are you doing?"

The captain said, "We're looking for Andrew."

The nurse let them in after they mentioned the employer's name.

III

O

1/4

Andrew recognized the three of them, but he was puzzled.

“Why are you looking for me?”

The captain said, “We have something important to tell you. Let the nurse leave first.”

Andrew wasn't afraid of the three of them, and he was also curious, so he asked the nurse to leave.

“Now you can speak.”

The captain walked over and asked with a smile, “Your current situation is all because of Jodie. I'm sure you must have a lot of resentment towards her.”

With each day of misfortune and pain, Andrew was on the verge of collapse.

His resentment towards Jodie was growing stronger.

She used to be his beloved sister, but now she was the person he resented the most.

He frowned, “What do you want to say? Just say it.”

The captain didn't beat around the bush either, “I heard that you need Jodie's hair and blood. So today, we brought these two things and are ready to sell them to you.”

Andrew was taken aback, “When did I say I needed Jodie's hair and blood?”

The captain replied, according to Simone's words, “Aren't you planning to deal with Jodie? This can come in handy.”

He actually didn't know how hair and blood could be used to deal with someone.

Why were these siblings interested in hair and blood?

However, it was said that some wealthy people have peculiar hobbies, and this brother and sister should be one of them.

Upon hearing this, Andrew instantly understood.

He wanted to retaliate against Jodie, and using blood and hair would probably be more effective.

Andrew's last bit of affection for Jodie had already been exhausted by recent torment.

As for what would happen to Jodi any remorse.

after the retaliation, he no longer cared, nor did he feel

He inquired, "How do you know about this?"

The captain replied with a stern face, "You don't need to worry about that."

"Just tell me, do you want it or not."

Andrew pondered and said, "How do I know if its Jodie's hair and blood?" There's no name written on it. What if these people are deceiving me?

The captain was prepared for this, as he wouldn't have believed it either.

So, when they collected Jodie's hair and blood, he recorded a video.

He opened his phone and showed it to Andrew.

Andrew was shocked to see the video, and he asked, "What have you done to her?" In the video, Jodie had her eyes closed and appeared unconscious.

The captain smiled, "Don't worry, she's just tired, so she fell asleep."

Andrew was puzzled, "Tired?" The captain thought for a moment and played a short segment of the video showing Jodie willingly screwing with them.

After watching this short video, Andrew's eyes widened with disbelief.

He never expected that the innocent-looking Jodie would be like this behind their backs.

That appearance was repulsive to him.

This is the woman we've been spoiling all these years? I guess everything about her is an act.

"Fine, I'll buy it." He asked, "How much do you want?" After watching the video, he already believed that it was Jodie's hair and blood.

The captain and his team had already discussed this, "A million and a half."

If Jodie was willing to give a million and a half, as the biological son of the Gray Family, Andrew certainly wouldn't lack that amount of money.

Upon hearing the amount, Andrew sneered, "That's daylight robbery. I don't want it; you can leave."

He wasn't a fool to spend a million and a half on this.

Besides him, these three wouldn't find any other buyers.

The captain was a bit stunned by his reaction.

III

It was clear that Andrew thought it was too expensive and didn't want it.

How could this young master be stingier than a fake lady?

They pretended to turn around and leave, "Alright, if you don't want it, forget it."

But when they reached the door, Andrew didn't react.

The captain couldn't help but turn back, "Then how much are you willing to pay?" Besides Andrew, no one would buy this thing, let alone accept it as a gift.

They then negotiated the price, and Andrew ended up spending 75 grand to buy the hair and blood.

The captain and his two teammates were speechless, but they had no choice but to sell it.

However, the other party only offered this price, so selling it was still better than keeping it and losing money.

After receiving the money, the captain couldn't help but comment, "You're really stingy; Jodie is much more generous than you."

Upon hearing this, Andrew couldn't help but ask, "What do you mean? Explain it clearly."

Chapter 350 What Can I Do?

The guys were leaving anyway, so they weren't worried about letting Andrew know of this.

"Jodie paid us a million and a half to obtain Simone's blood and hair. Isn't that much more generous of her?" He looked at Andrew with disdain and said. "A grown man and a young master from a wealthy family, yet so stingy. That's impressive to an extent."

Andrew: "...". Not all young masters from wealthy families are fools.

Unable to resist, he asked. "Did you give it to her?"

The captain smiled and replied, "Of course; otherwise, how could Jodie give us a million and a half?

You should learn from your sister in the future.

After saying that, he departed with the other two.

Once they left the hospital, the three of them didn't stop.

They immediately hired a car and headed for the border city.

After their departure.

Andrew pondered for a moment and asked the nurse to dial Simone's number for him.

At the inn.

Simone saw Andrew's call and roughly guessed his intentions.

She chose not to answer.

Then Andrew sent her a message inquiring if someone else had taken her blood and hair.

She assured Andrew not to worry about it.

Andrew had no choice but to remind Simone that Jodie would harm her.

Since Jodie wanted her hair and blood, she should be cautious.

Simone replied with an 'I know' and didn't continue the conversation.

Although the scum sent her messages as a reminder, Simone remained unaffected.

However, from this, it can be inferred that Jodie's blood and hair had already been taken by those three.

Simone then hacked into the captain's phone.

Not only did she trace the foreign account where the transfer was made, but she also discovered those videos.

Simone transferred them to her own email.

Then, she hacked into the captain's foreign account.

Using the captain's identity, she dispersed the money and donated it to several legitimate charitable foundations.

She had previously verified that these charitable foundations genuinely carried out charity work without any embezzlement or misuse of funds.

The captain's foreign account was an anonymous account specifically used for money laundering.

Therefore, after transferring the money using his identity, it would be impossible to trace it back.

They could only accept their fate.

As for the purpose behind these people recording the videos, Simone could also make an educated guess.

Upon discovering that the money in the account had been donated, those three would likely target Jodie once again.

She looked forward to seeing how Jodie would handle the situation when she had no money and was being threatened.

Jodie definitely wouldn't want such videos to be exposed.

So, she would either have to find a way to raise money for the three of them or find a way to eliminate them.

They would undoubtedly continue to fight against each other.

The next morning.

The sunlight streamed in as Jodie woke up and opened her eyes.

Then she remembered what had happened before, and her expression changed.

She quickly sat up and looked around, only to realize that the three of them had already left.

Due to being lost in thought while the three of them drew blood with needles, she hadn't noticed the mark.

She was filled with anger and hatred towards the three of them.

She took a shower and got dressed before returning to the geomancy association.

She was still not free and was also out of money.

Once she returned to Callington, she would spend money to have someone deal with the three of them and retrieve her money.

With so much money, the three of them couldn't possibly spend it all in a short period of time.

However, this incident left her feeling disgusted and resentful.

Fortunately, she managed to obtain Simone's blood and hair.

She then messaged Melinda and asked her to come to the ancient city to pick them up.

Melinda was being watched by Leon at the hotel, so it was inconvenient for her to retrieve them herself.

She sent her assistant to the ancient city to collect the items and wait there.

Once the warlock arrived, she would hand them directly to him.

Melinda didn't leave the ancient city but stayed to witness Simone's misfortune.

Noon.

An overweight middle-aged man entered the ancient city.

He checked into the inn that Melinda's assistant managed.

Without wasting any time, he performed the ritual after obtaining the hair and blood.

Meanwhile, Simone went to find him based on the address provided by Bailey.

Bailey resided in one of the courtyards at the headquarters of the geomancy association.

When he saw Simone coming to visit, he wasn't surprised.

“Come in.”

The two of them sat in the courtyard.

Bailey poured a cup of tea for Simone. “Do you have something to tell me?” Simone smiled and said, “Bailey, I’m planning to return to Cebros tomorrow. Are you interested in joining me for a visit to Cebros?”

Bailey raised an eyebrow. “Do you think I can leave the ancient city?”

Simone thought to herself, Called it.

She looked at him and asked, “You can’t leave the ancient city?” Master said that this ancient city was a prison, and she couldn’t help but think of Bailey.

He was trapped here, deeply connected to the ancient city, unable to leave.

Bailey knew that she had figured it out. “Yes, I can’t leave.”

He glanced at her neck, “Whether I can leave in the future will depend on you.”

Simone was taken aback, “Rely on me?” Then she realized, “So this is the reason why you created a chance encounter with me?”

Bailey smiled, “You’re very clever.”

That was an admission.

Simone laughed, “Bailey, have you been misled by someone? Your strength surpasses mine, yet you can’t break free and leave. What can I do?” She never felt any malice from Bailey towards herself. But she was certain that he knew the people behind Jodie.

So, she didn’t understand why he approached her but didn’t help Jodie.

Now, she suddenly understood.

Bailey looked at her with a smile in his eyes.

With a confident tone, he said, “Simone, don’t underestimate yourself; you can do it!”
