

Chapter 893 Regrets Over Provoking Liam

Nolan's revelation sent shockwaves through the room, leaving Julie's eyes brimming with disbelief.

Only when Nolan disclosed the truth did she grasp that the supposed coincidences were all orchestrated by Liam!

Cowan couldn't help drowning in regret, suddenly recalling the principal of Oracle Kindergarten urging him to watch over and care for Asher.

Little did he know, Asher was the child of a distinguished five-star general.

Bitterness etched across Cowan's face. This time, he had seriously angered Liam. His was doomed.

But Klein was the one who harbored the most profound regret.

He had been deriding Liam as a loser, only to discover Liam was, in fact, a five-star general.

It turned out he had been the fool all along.

As regret continued to flood his heart, Klein finally realized that he had provoked a big shot this time.

Chapter 893 Regrets Over Provoking 🎁 +120 Points at most
Nolan's revelation sent shockwaves through the room, leaving Julie's eyes brimming with disbelief.

Only when Nolan disclosed the truth did she grasp that the supposed coincidences were all orchestrated by Liam!

Cowan couldn't help drowning in regret, suddenly recalling the principal of Oracle Kindergarten urging him to watch over and care for Asher.

Little did he know, Asher was the child of a distinguished five-star general.

Bitterness etched across Cowan's face. This time, he had seriously angered Liam. His was doomed.

But Klein was the one who harbored the most profound regret.

He had been deriding Liam as a loser, only to discover Liam was, in fact, a five-star general.

It turned out he had been the fool all along.

As regret continued to flood his heart, Klein finally realized that he had provoked a big shot this time.

With fear gripping his every nerve, Klein abandoned his arrogance and tremulously implored Liam for forgiveness.

"General Hoffman, I'm very sorry. I acknowledge my mistake. It's entirely Cowan's fault. He came up with the idea. Please spare me, General Hoffman!"

Chapter 893 Regrets Over Provoking 🎁 +120 Points at most

After a moment of hesitation, Nolan said, "General Hoffman, considering Julie's distress, I'm willing to offer fifty million as compensation this time. Could you please consider..."

Liam's expression turned icy, cutting Nolan off mid-sentence. "Anyone daring to covet Julie must face the consequences."

With that, Liam fixed his chilling gaze upon Cowan, pressed to the floor.

"You've offended me multiple times, and I won't stoop to your level to argue about past grievances. But your involvement in Asher's kidnapping demands retribution. You must die!" Liam said.

Upon hearing Liam's words, Cowan's face drained of color, and he couldn't help but tremble violently.

Fear filled his eyes as he pleaded desperately.

"Liam, I understand I've made a mistake! If you could grant me mercy, I... I'll give you all my assets!"

Liam remained unswayed.

There was only one thought consuming his mind.

Those who kidnapped Asher deserved death!

Liam planted his foot on Cowan's head, exerting tremendous force until it burst open under the pressure.

Cowan's brain, mingled with blood and fragments of intracranial cartilage, scattered across the floor.

The hotel room was instantly engulfed in the strong scent of blood.

Chapter 893 Regrets Over Provoking 🎁 +120 Points at most

Surveying Cowan's lifeless form with an expressionless gaze, Liam's anger seemed to diminish slightly.

Witnessing the tragic fate of Cowan, Klein, who had also offended Liam, went pale with shock.

For the first time, Klein was overcome with a deep sense of terror.

Witnessing this, Nolan couldn't help but sigh inwardly.

It appeared that resolving Klein's situation would prove challenging.

Despite everything, Klein was still his child, and Nolan couldn't bear to witness his demise.

Contemplating this, Nolan's eyes were filled with desperation as he turned to Liam, saying, "General Hoffman, I'm ready to surrender all my assets to you. Please, for the sake of the respect and assistance I've always offered you, spare Klein's life! We'll be eternally grateful! Rest assured, I'll ensure strict discipline for him in the future! If he ever dares to offend you again, I'll be the first to take action against him!"

Glancing at Nolan, Liam pondered for a while before saying, "I do remember everything you've done for me. However, your son has crossed a line he shouldn't have crossed. I can't spare anyone who dares to covet Julie! For the sake of what you have done to me, I won't take his life, but he will pay the price for his Chapter 893 Regrets Over Provoking 🎁 +120 Points at most actions!"

Upon finishing his statement, Liam retrieved a dagger from a member of the SWAT team's waist.

A glint of blade light swept across the room. Suddenly, Klein's agonizing cries echoed as blood streamed from his lower body.

In despair, Klein gazed at his severed penis, trembling uncontrollably under Liam's merciless action.

Liam's voice was cold as he stated, "Nolan, I have no interest in your assets. Your son deserves this lesson. If he ever provokes me again, no amount of pleading will save him!"

Nolan's expression darkened as he swiftly picked up his son's severed penis, wrapping it up. A hint of resentment began to fester in his heart toward Liam.

Suppressing his emotions, Nolan dared not reveal his resentment and hastily departed the hotel with Klein.

As Nolan carried Klein away from the hotel, a pang of heartache gnawed at him.

After pondering for a while, Nolan's gaze grew distant, and he murmured to himself, "Yes! I could seek help from the man behind the Kingland Group! I've provided favors for him in the past. He should be able to help save Klein!"

With this in mind, Nolan swiftly got into the car and

Chapter 893 Regrets Over Provoking 🎁 +120 Points at most headed towards the Kingland Group.

Seated in the back, he gazed at the unconscious Klein, tormented by excruciating pain. The resentment in his eyes was now unmistakable.

"Liam, you will pay for this! Even though you're a five-star general, the person behind the Kingland Group isn't intimidated by you!" Nolan muttered to himself.