Chapter 989 The Big Plan

Shayla was not scared of Corrin at all. She looked at him with disdain and asked, "Corrin, have you lost your mind? Do you really want to go against the rules and take us all on? Do you think the people you've brought are up for that?"

Corrin just looked at Shayla with a smirk, saying nothing while still smiling. As Corrin clapped his hands, another large group of people burst in from the underground battle ring.

These people were Dunbar's crew. Now, diving into the underground brawl, they were all Primogem Warriors!

Both groups quickly took over the entire space of the underground arena.

Just then, Dunbar appeared, standing next to Corrin, making his stance clear without saying a word.

Shayla got the message loud and clear. This was their big move!

Corrin looked around with pride and said, "Now, do you understand our strength? With Dunbar's and my men, breaking the rules is a piece of cake."

Shayla's expression turned grave. She hadn't seen the alliance between Corrin and Dunbar coming.

Meanwhile, Liam was assessing the newly arrived fighters.

Even though Dunbar and Corrin were the top dogs as fifth-level Primogem Warriors, there were plenty of second and third-level Primogem Warriors forming the core of this big group.

They might not be the strongest, but their sheer numbers were a force to reckon with.

However, Liam remained calm, aware that there were now four factions within the underground battle ring. Maureen and her crew hadn't taken a side yet.

Liam wasn't concerned about whether Maureen would side with Shayla. His main goal was to ensure Maureen stayed out of this matter!

Corrin and Dunbar were well aware of Maureen's unique position at the moment. They realized clashing with Maureen could push her into allying with Shayla, which was something they wanted to avoid.

So, they chose not to target Maureen. Corrin made it clear, saying, "Maureen, this situation doesn't concern you. Stay out of it, and once this is over, I'll reward you with a share of the Primogem mine!"

The reason they avoided conflict with Maureen went deeper.

Rumors had it that Maureen had a powerful protector, one even mightier than the guardians of the Saint Society. And this protector was known to fiercely look out for his people.

Should anything untoward happen to Maureen, the protector would undoubtedly unleash his wrath. Therefore, provoking Maureen was off the table for Dunbar and Corrin.

Maureen's face was hidden behind a mask, leaving her thoughts a mystery to those around her.

In the end, Maureen decided not to get involved. She simply nodded and led her group to the side, making it clear she was staying out of the conflict.

Seeing Maureen's decision to remain neutral pleased Corrin greatly. He believed he had now removed the biggest unpredictable element. Who else in the underground arena could challenge him and Dunbar now?

Corrin seized the moment and, with a smile, offered Shayla a choice, saying, "Shayla, because I fancy you so much, you have two options. You can either give in and be mine or face death today! And to the man standing next to Shayla, carrying a coffin, listen well! I'm going to teach you a lesson. Your arrogance in my presence is unacceptable! I swear I'll be the one to put you in that coffin you're so fond of carrying!"
