“Crap...”

Liliana retreated while accessing her surroundings, trying to find a suitable tool.

Unfortunately, there was nothing else in the alley apart from a pile of stinky garbage emitting a foul odor.

“Aren't you going to keep running?”

“Liliana, you chose this path yourself, hahaha...”

“Why couldn't you just be a good girl instead of going against us? What are you after?”

“Liliana...”

The high school boys surrounded her with sinister smiles. They grinned widely as they sealed the entrance of the alley.

“You...” Liliana looked at the boys and said coldly, “Good things won't come to bad people! One day, you'll...”

“Enough!”

Liliana was interrupted by a voice..

The crowd of high school boys parted ways at the sound, and a somewhat elegant young man walked through. He wore branded clothing and tilted his head, looking quite sloppy. His name was Justin Conway, and he was the one who set things up today!

Justin's gaze swept over Liliana's curvy figure, a greedy glint flashing deep in his eyes. He said mockingly, “Hurry up and hand it over. Don't waste my time, or I don't mind. personally searching for it on you!”

It was clear that Justin had his people surround Liliana because she had something he wanted.

“In your dreams!” Even in dire straits, Liliana looked determined. “I risked my life to find this. It has clues about what harmed my family's company, what caused the company to go bankrupt, and the death of my family. I'll never hand them over!”

It turned out that Liliana's parents were once successful merchants in Jurith who had built a large business. However, they encountered a great change one day.

Their company was maliciously ruined, and they were repeatedly threatened and intimidated, leading to mental instability and eventual suicide.

Liliana always felt that there were many suspicious points in this matter and that someone. deliberately framed her family. Therefore, she had been investigating secretly over the years.

Recently, she found some clues.

Unfortunately, before she could verify and analyze them thoroughly, she caught Justin's attention.

Coincidentally, it was Justin's father, Louis Conway, who took over the Jones' family business. It was clear that there was a conspiracy involved.

“You're not going to hand it over? Then, I'll have to get it myself!” Justin narrowed his eyes at Liliana, licked his lips, and then gave a signal to the high school boys beside him.

“Grab her.”

As soon as he spoke, the eager boys immediately rushed forward.

“How dare you oppose Young Master Justin? You really don't know what's good for you!”

“Damn, you have a lot of guts!”

“Behave yourself!”

iliana...”

The group rushed forward.

“Hmph!” Liliana knew a bit of self-defense, so she refused to be captured easily. She immediately threw a punch at the fastest-approaching boy, causing him to scream in pain.

“Shit! How dare you fight back?!”

“Everyone, get her!”

“Damn it...”

Liliana's punch was like igniting a powder keg.

All the boys swarmed her.

Although Liliana resisted desperately, there was a saying that two fists were no match for four fists. She was severely outnumbered and soon forced into a corner, ultimately subdued.

The boys pinned her arms behind her.

Liliana's well-developed figure was vividly highlighted, causing Justin's finger to twitch. “Liliana!”
