

Chapter 1057 Dead End

Liam adopted a serious expression as he faced Zoya and Kolton charging towards him, preparing for a fight.

Realizing he could no longer conceal his identity, Liam understood the gravity of the situation.

In response, he resolved to abandon the pretense! He schemed to seize the moment when the others were caught off guard, intending to unleash his full strength suddenly and flee with Laura.

Moments later, Liam unleashed all his power.

The immense power of a level-six Primogem Warrior sent both Zoya and Kolton staggering backward. Seizing the opportunity, Liam swiftly grabbed Laura's shoulder and dashed out of the main hall with her.

In the aftermath of being pushed back by Liam, Zoya and Kolton were both stunned and incensed. They turned to look at Mr. Jenkins, shouting, "Mr. Jenkins! This guy must be Liam!"

Recognizing Liam's inability to conceal his identity any longer, Maureen grew apprehensive and uncertain about the situation.

With a hint of fear in her gaze, Maureen turned her attention to Mr. Jenkins, who remained seated on the throne in silence.

In the next instant, Mr. Jenkins' expression turned cold as he sneered. With a gentle gesture, he conjured a white barrier out of thin air, effectively blocking Liam's escape route!

The moment Liam collided with the barrier, it felt akin to crashing into an exceptionally thick wall. Emitting a muffled groan, he abruptly halted his movement.

Simultaneously, Liam racked his brain, searching for an escape strategy.

Despite his best efforts, Liam couldn't devise a solution. Mr. Jenkins' strength exceeded his wildest imagination!

Despair filled Liam's heart as he questioned whether this was the end for him.

Having narrowly escaped Adamson's clutches, Liam now faced the dilemma of not having rescued Julie and the others from the Duncan family. Would he die here today?

Refusing to concede defeat, Liam gazed at Laura with desperation, akin to a drowning man grasping for a lifeline. In a hushed tone, he inquired, "Do you have anything that could aid our escape?"

Laura's complexion was drained of color, and she shook her head in response to Liam's inquiry.

Little had she anticipated facing such a dire situation shortly after leaving Genesis Island.

At that moment, Mr. Jenkins's voice reverberated through the main hall, commanding, "Cease your resistance. Unmask yourselves."

Immediately after those words, a menacing aura emanated from him, shredding the disguises worn by Liam and Laura and revealing their true identities to all present.

Yet, unnoticed by all, Mr. Jenkins wore a faint smile.

Upon glimpsing Liam's true visage, Zoya and Kolton were ecstatic, showering Mr. Jenkins with praise and seeking reward for uncovering Liam's identity.

"Mr. Jenkins, your power is unmatched! With your guidance, our Saint Society is destined for success! We humbly request recognition for uncovering Liam's true self."

Upon hearing this, Mr. Jenkins sneered and said, "Ah, you must be referring to Adamson's reward. Very well, I'll deliver it on his behalf!"

With those words, two beams of frigid white light streaked through the main hall.

In the blink of an eye, Zoya's and Kolton's heads rolled to the floor!

They remained in a state of shock until their very last breath.
