

Married At First Sight Chapter 3342

Married At First Sight Chapter 3342-Although the maid was overthinking, she still asked carefully, "Girl, we don't have your old man here. Can you tell me what your old man's name is?"

The girl said, "I don't remember his name. I have never heard anyone call him by his name. Everyone calls him by his code name, and his code name is Silver Fox."

The old man sent me a message and told me that he was here and asked me to come find him."

The maid heard that the girl said she was looking for Silver Fox. Although she didn't know who Silver Fox was, she was sure that the girl was not looking for her husband. The maid was relieved.

The maid said, "Girl, we don't have Mr. Silver Fox here. Are you sure you didn't come to the wrong place? This is the Stones's mansion."

"It's right here. The location the old man sent me is here. It's correct. He said he was in business."

As the girl spoke, she took out her mobile phone from her handbag, clicked on Whatsapp, found the location the old man sent her, and then asked the maid to take a look. She said, "That's right, it's right here."

When the maid looked at the address, she knew it was really here.

She suddenly remembered the several distinguished guests who came here this morning and asked, "Girl, whom you are looking for were a few old gentlemen who came here this morning."

"Yes, yes, it's them. These old guys ran away without even saying hello, making it difficult for us juniors to find them." The girl complained.

The maid then opened the door and said while opening the door, "Several old gentlemen have rested for a while and have already gotten up. Girl, you told me earlier that you were looking for Mr. Silver Fox. I thought you were looking for Mr. Stone."

The girl was stunned for a moment, then said a little speechlessly, "Auntie, do you think of me as Mr. Stone's illegitimate daughter, or a little b*tch raised outside? No wonder you looked at me when I said I was looking for the old man. They're not friendly anymore."

To guard against her was like guarding against thieves.

The maid smiled sheepishly and said, "Girl, you suddenly showed up and said without a clue that you were looking for your old man. The only person who can be called an old man here is Mr. Stone."

The girl said, "Well, Auntie, I couldn't explain clearly. I don't blame you for overthinking."

In the future, when she goes to a stranger's home to see her old man, she has to make it clear to avoid being misunderstood that she is an illegitimate daughter.

"Girl, Please come into the room. Several old gentlemen are in the room. It's a coincidence that you came; it happens to be lunch time."

The maid enthusiastically invited the girl to go to the main room.

Those old gentlemen were all distinguished guests. Seeing how much the host valued them, the maids knew that those old gentlemen had a lot of background.

Not only did the host family value them, but the cousin and his wife also came to see them.

The maid asked, "Girl, what's your name?"

The girl replied, "Everyone calls me Bianca, so Auntie, you can also call me Bianca."

The maid smiled and said, "Bianca, you must be very favored at home."

Bianca said, "It's not bad. Several old men worked together to raise us. I have older brothers and sisters and a few younger sisters. There are too many brothers and sisters."

Maid: "It's okay. There are many brothers and sisters. We are all older, and our relationship will be very good. It will be lively when we get together."

"This is true; everyone gathers together; it's really lively, but usually everyone is busy working and going their separate ways. I don't know how many years have passed since we got together."

The maid said as she walked, "That's right. When we grow up, everyone is busy working and making money, and there are fewer and fewer opportunities to meet. It's really difficult to get everyone together. I used to say that everyone would get together during the New Year. Together, many people don't come back to celebrate the New Year now, and some people have to travel again during the New Year."

Bianca smiled and said, "Yes, it would be great if half of us could come back for the New Year."

