

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3403—“Master, you are always like this. You hang up on me after I tell you to. You’re old, but you still eat so much barbecue and drink so much alcohol. I’ve told you many times, but you don’t listen.” Bianca complained.

Ignoring the fact that every time they went back to see Ezequiel, they would bring him good wine and delicious food,.

When he gets old, he becomes like a child.

He just likes eating and drinking.

Anyway, with Dr. Carden and her apprentice here, they didn’t have to worry about the health of those old guys.

The next morning, the York family arranged for several luxury cars to come and pick up several seniors.

Only Old Mr. Jimenez was not in good health, so he stayed with the Stone family.

Audrey called Mrs. Lewis last night and made an appointment to meet her that day.

After having breakfast with Old Mr. Jimenez, Audrey called Serenity.

Audrey asked Mrs. Lewis to meet her to talk about Liberty and Duncan. Although Serenity was the younger sister, as her parents had passed away, she was one of the few relatives of her elder sister. For her elder sister’s future happiness, Serenity naturally had to go with them.

“Seren, are you up?” Audrey asked.

“Auntie, I’m on my way to your house, but I haven’t had breakfast yet. Please save some breakfast for me, and I’ll eat it when I get there. You don’t need to save too much—just a bowl of porridge and some pickled cabbage. I really like pickled cabbage now.”

After Serenity got pregnant, she mostly liked to eat sour food.

Audrey smiled and said, “We have everything you want to eat. Since you like sour food so much, your daughter’s dream is ruined.”

“They say sour boys and spicy girls.”

Serenity said, "This is not true. When my sister was pregnant with Sonny, she loved to eat meat, both sour and spicy. My sister had all the symptoms that many people talk about for having a girl, but she gave birth to a son."

"Okay, I'll ask the kitchen to prepare some pickled cabbage for you now. We haven't eaten pickled cabbage for a long time. Only Alice loved to eat it when she was pregnant, but after she gave birth, she doesn't even want to touch it now."

The things you loved to eat when you were pregnant may not necessarily be liked anymore after you have the baby and your appetite returns to normal.

Audrey asked, "Are you here alone, or is Zachary accompanying you?"

"Zachary and I are going back to Wildridge Manor. The old seniors are all there, and Zachary's brothers have to go back to accompany the old seniors."

"Mr. and Mrs. Bucham are also coming back today. They will be at Wildridge Manor soon. They heard that the old seniors had come to Wiltspoon, so they flew back in the early morning."

Julian had to wait until Kiera was on vacation before returning to Wiltspoon.

Kiera asked Julian to come back first, but he refused.

The relationship between the two is stable. Julian hoped to get the marriage certificate before the New Year, but Kiera thought it was too rushed. Finally, they decided to get the marriage certificate after the New Year and held the wedding in March.

Julian pursued his wife; it was really a quick and decisive battle.

Kiera was also a straightforward person.

After she was sure that she fell in love with Julian, both sets of parents were very satisfied. When Julian said he wanted to get married, she got married.

She was truly worthy of being the person who would save Julian; she was a straightforward person.

Audrey said, "They are back. They are not spending the New Year in Yonsburg. I thought the whole family stayed in Yonsburg for the New Year."

Serenity smiled. "They heard that several seniors had come to Wiltspoon, so they rushed back immediately."

What the Bucham family did was closely related to Ezequiel (Silver Fox) and his men. Occasionally, they would ask Ezequiel's disciples for help, and they had private dealings with them.

Many people thought that those old seniors were no longer alive.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3404-All they knew was that their disciples were spread all over the place, and they were bigwigs in various industries and very powerful.

There were only a handful of people who could meet some of the old seniors.

Suddenly they all came to Wiltspoon, and even Old Lady York was so excited that she hurried to the Stone house to invite people, not to mention the head of the Bucham family, Walter.

Audrey smiled and said, "That's right. I will serve you a bowl of porridge first. When you get here, it will be just right for you to eat. It doesn't have to be too hot for your mouth."

"Auntie, you're so considerate. Thank you, Auntie." Serenity thanked her sweetly.

This made Audrey laugh so hard that her teeth were showing.

Elisa touched Remy beside her and whispered, "Ever since my mother found her nieces, her gentle and bright smile has been exclusive to her nieces."

"Don't I love you? You little heartless girl, I love you the most, and yet you're jealous of me."

After Audrey finished the call, she heard her daughter's words, glared at her with amusement, and then got up to help Serenity serve the porridge.

"Why don't you two go out and keep the old people waiting for too long." Audrey urged the two of them to go out and head to Wildridge Manor.

"When your niece comes over, you kick your daughter out. Mom, you still say you're not partial." Elisa said this deliberately, but she picked up her bag and said to Remy, "Remy, let's go. We'll come back when my mother remembers me as her daughter."

Remy: "Let's go. Mom will have some peace and quiet when you're not home. It's impossible for mom to have quiet in her ears. The baby will cry when he wakes up."

Elisa then said to Remy, "During the confinement period, babies would sleep after eating and eat after waking up. He seemed very easy to take care of. I thought that if babies are so easy to take care of, we should have more babies in the future so that our home will be more lively. Who knew that as a baby grew older, it would cry more and more.”

Of course, Elisa was an aunt who loved her nephew the most.

There were only adults at home, and not a single child was crying or making a fuss. It was so quiet.

Remy has a deep understanding of this. He has several nephews at home.

The eldest brother (Ben) has a son (Enzo) and a daughter (Avah). Avah is quiet and loves to laugh rather than cry. Every day she is woken up by Enzo’s crying, and then she watches Enzo perform his crying skills.

His second elder brother (Carter) also has two sons. They are one year old now and can walk and speak a few simple words. But they are really naughty kids. If they make a mistake, they can cause trouble. The house is made a mess by these two little kids every day.

Fabian is currently the youngest and cries the most.

The fourth brother (Tim) often said that Fabian was a little crybaby. Strangely, Fabian liked the old doctor very much. As long as the old man came back to take him with him, he would be very obedient. He would sleep after eating and look around with his eyes open if he couldn’t sleep. The old doctor would tease him by talking to him.

The grandfather and grandson were babbling; neither of them knew what they were saying.

The old doctor always complained about Tim and Dr. Carden, saying that they didn’t have the patience to take care of the baby and didn’t accompany the child attentively, which was why the baby cried. He said that babies needed someone to play with them.

“I’ve seen so many babies, but our Avah is the most obedient.” Remy loved his little niece deeply.

Not to mention Remy, everyone in FC Manor loved Avah the most.

Laurel (Carter’s wife) often told Jane that she wanted to change, and Jane asked her to have another child, also a lovely daughter.

Laurel was scared by the troubles caused by her two sons. She refused to give in and was determined not to have another child, fearing that the child would be a boy.

Carter did on Laurel. He thought that since they already have two sons, if Laurel doesn't want to have another child, then that's fine. He also doesn't want to have so many children and divert Laurel's attention.

Laurel, who was already very career-oriented, paid Carter less attention, not to mention that they had two naughty sons. Carter's position in Laurel's heart had dropped from first to third, with his two sons occupying two places.
