

An Understated Dominance Chapter 2336 - 2340

Chapter 2336

“You can try.” Grace’s face was expressionless.

“I don’t know whether to live or die!” Conor was angry. Just when he was about to take action, Cassidy suddenly stepped forward and stood between the two of them, saying angrily, “What are you two doing? My sister is in danger now; do you still want to fight here?!”

“Cassidy! That guy’s medical skills are not good at all, and he treated your sister for vomiting blood. If you let him continue to torture her, your sister will definitely die.” Conor started to fan the flames.

Kassidy looked back at Dustin; a flash of hesitation flashed across her face, but she quickly regained her determination. “I invited Dr. Rhys, and I believe in his medical skills. If anything goes wrong, I will be responsible.”

There was no turning back when she opened her bow. With her last hope, she invited Dustin here.

Regardless of whether it works or not, she has no reason to blame the other party.

“Kassidy...”

Conor frowned, and when he was about to say something, Cassidy raised his hand to stop him: “Okay! Stop talking! She is my sister, and I have the final say in everything!”

“You are so confused!” Conor sighed, as if he hated iron.

But seeing Cassidy’s resolute attitude, he could only choose to retreat.

On the hospital bed, Dustin did not pay attention to the troublesome Conor but concentrated his energy and quickly suppressed the restless voodoo in his body.

Then, with one hand, he pulled Noemi’s head up, took out the elixir he had refined before, and fed it into her mouth.

Dustin refined an elixir that was not an antidote in the conventional sense, but rather a poison.

Because time is tight, if he wants to quickly crack voodoo, he can only use this method of fighting poison with poison.

Let two different poisons fight and devour each other in Noemi's body, thereby achieving the effect of rapid consumption.

Of course, compared to normal treatment methods, fighting fire with fire carries great risks.

One mistake, and the patient will explode and die. This will test Dustin's strength.

He must always use his true energy to shield Noemi's heart from serious harm.

The finishing work could not begin until the two poisons had nearly consumed each other.

An ordinary doctor would not be able to do this, and only a master-level expert like Dustin would be able to carry out such a risky treatment.

As Dustin expected, when the poison from the elixir and voodoo met in Noemi's body, there was a fierce collision soon.

The two poisons began to devour and fight each other, causing meridians and blood vessels to rupture everywhere they passed.

The surface revealed that Noemi had begun to experience nosebleeds.

Although Dustin could not guarantee that Noemi would be intact, He could only protect the opponent's main meridians to the maximum extent to prevent serious injuries.

As for the final outcome, it all depended on Noemi's own destiny.

Chapter 2337

As the fight between the two poisons became more intense, Noemi's nosebleeds increased more and more, and her body began to convulse slightly.

Dustin sat motionless, pressing his palms on Noemi's back, constantly instilling mystical pure energy into it.

The meridians in Noemi's body were broken again and again and repaired by Dustin again and again.

The cycle repeated like this and lasted for about one stick of incense.

After one stick of incense, the two poisons in Noemi's body had been exhausted, and he became calmer. His expression was no longer painful, and his nostrils no longer bled.

Although his face was still pale, his pulse was steady, and his breath was long, indicating that he had obviously passed the critical period.

Only then did Dustin slowly let go and stop the treatment.

"The voodoo poison in Noemi's body has been cleared, and there is nothing serious for the time being. However, he still needs to take good care of himself in the future, and he must not use force." Dustin stood up and warned.

At this moment, he was sweating profusely, and his face was pale. It was obvious that he had consumed a lot of energy.

"My sister, is she really okay?" Cassidy's beautiful eyes widened, with a bit of nervousness and apprehension.

"If there's anything wrong, you can go over and see for yourself." Dustin didn't explain too much. He slumped down on the chair and started drinking tea.

Continuously using a large amount of energy was a bit overwhelming, no matter how good his foundation was.

Fortunately, Noemi was successfully rescued in the end, and Dustin's hard work was not in vain.

Kassidy took a deep breath, walked carefully to the hospital bed, and began to check Noemi's physical condition. It was not until she found that Noemi's breath was even and strong and her pulse was beating normally that she finally smiled.

"Great, great! My sister is finally safe and sound!" Cassidy burst into tears of joy.

She had cleaned up Dustin before, just to treat a dead horse as a live doctor, and did not have high expectations. She did not expect that the other party would actually cure her sister.

It's true that people can't be judged by their appearance!

"Dustin, thank you for your hard work." Grace breathed a long sigh of relief and finally showed a smile on her face.

Others might not know it, but she knew very well how much the people in front of her had paid to save Noemi.

It was no exaggeration to say that Dustin was risking his own life.

The reason why the other party put so much effort into it was largely because of her face.

Thinking of this, she couldn't help but feel a little moved.

Chapter 2338

"Saving one life is better than building a seven-level pagoda. It's not a big deal." Dustin smiled faintly.

"Is it really cured?"

Conor's face was full of shock, and he couldn't believe it.

He immediately stepped forward, stretched out his hand to explore Noemi's wrist, and soon showed a strange expression.

Because he was surprised to find that Noemi's weak pulse had become strong and powerful, no different from that of a normal person.

how so?

Could it be that that boy, Dustin, is really some kind of miraculous doctor?

"Doctor Rhys, oh no! Divine Doctor Rhys!" After Cassidy confirmed that her sister was out of danger, she quickly walked to Dustin and bowed, "Thank you for saving my sister. Your great kindness will be remembered by our world. In my heart, no matter what your needs are, we will try our best to meet them."

"I was invited by Miss Linsor to come here for treatment. If you want to thank her, just thank her." Dustin took the opportunity to pass the credit to Grace.

"Sister Linsor, thank you very much!" Cassidy clasped her fists at Grace.

If before she was still a little prejudiced against the person in front of her, now she is deeply grateful.

"You're welcome; Noemi and I are close friends. How could I stand by and watch something happen to her?" Grace smiled slightly.

“No matter what, you two are great benefactors of our Celestial Alliance. If you two need help in the future, our Celestial Alliance will definitely help you.” Cassidy assured with a serious look.

“Wait...” At this time, Conor suddenly asked, “Although Noemi’s vital signs have returned to normal, why has she not woken up? What is the reason?”

Although, on the surface, Noemi was saved, Conor still had doubts in his heart.

Maybe the other party used some strange means to give Noemi a brief flashback, thereby achieving the effect of deceiving the superiors and concealing the inferiors.

“The patient’s body is too weak. Although she has been cured of the voodoo, she still needs a good rest.” Dustin explained calmly.

“Hmph! These are all your one-sided words. How do I know you are not lying? What if Noemi never wakes up?” Conor squinted his eyes with a suspicious look.

“What do you mean? Are you deliberately looking for trouble?” Dustin frowned slightly.

Conor was really an annoying green-headed fly.

Since the beginning of her treatment, Conor has been chattering beside Dustin and has never stopped.

Now that Noemi was out of danger, he was still messing around here. He deserved a beating.

“I did it just in case, to prevent some liars from fishing in troubled waters.”

Conor said with a righteous look, “You said you cured Noemi; yes, as long as you let her wake up today, I will admit your medical skills and generous rewards!”

At this point, Conor suddenly changed the topic: “Of course! If Noemi can’t wake up, it will only prove that you are a liar. Then, don’t blame me for being rude!”

Dustin said calmly, “First of all, let me correct you. I don’t need your recognition, let alone your reward. Aside from that, I treat diseases and save people, and it’s not your turn to point fingers here. If you don’t accept it, you can give it a try, but I want to see how capable your Celestial Alliance disciples are.”

At the end of the sentence, a cold light flashed in Dustin’s eyes.

He was not a fussy person, but Conor's repeated attempts to find trouble made him intolerable. Despite exhausting all his energy, he was capable of handling the opponent.

With a sour expression on his face, Conor said, "Why are you so angry because I poked you in a sore spot?" I knew you were a liar! Boy, you have cheated us all. You are so courageous. It seems that if I don't teach you a lesson today, you don't know how powerful we are in the world."

After saying this, Conor suddenly took action and grabbed Dustin's throat.

"Stop!"

Kassidy's expression changed, and it was too late to stop him.

Conor was significantly stronger than her, and his sudden attack left her completely unprepared.

"You don't know how to live or die!" Dustin's face turned cold as he was about to strike back.

A beautiful figure suddenly stood in front of him, using a silver hairpin to accurately stab Conor's acupuncture point on his palm.

Conor groaned and immediately retreated in pain.

He looked down and saw that someone had poked a bloody hole in the palm of his hand.

"Huh?"

Conor frowned and looked up at Grace's expression, which was a little more shocking.

He must know that the iron-sand palm she practiced was invulnerable to weapons, water, and fire. When attacking, she was completely fearless of head-on collisions with weapons, so when Grace made her attack just now, she did not dodge.

However, he didn't expect that Grace would only use a silver hairpin to break his body-protecting energy and pierce his iron-sand palm at the same time.

Despite the power of the weapons, one could not underestimate the opponent's strength.

"We came here with good intentions to treat illnesses and save people. Is this how you treat guests in the world?"

Grace had a cold face and a cold tone. The silver hairpin in her hand was still dripping with blood.

Chapter 2340

"I'm really sorry to both of you." It was my senior brother's impulsiveness just now that caused me so much offense. Please don't hold it against me!"

Kassidy first apologized to Dustin and the others, then walked up to Conor and pushed him hard. She said, "Conor! Are you crazy? Dr. Rhys rescued my sister from h-e-l-l. Even if you are not grateful, you actually plan to hurt others. You have brought shame to our world!"

"Kassidy! This guy is a liar. He didn't cure Noemi's disease at all. Don't be fooled!" Conor defended quickly.

"shut up!" Kassidy angrily rebuked, "To be a liar, it should be the doctor Wang who was invited. After struggling for a long time, not only did he fail to cure my sister's disease, but I almost lost her life. If Dr. Rhys hadn't arrived in time, I'm afraid my sister is dead!"

As soon as these words came out, Zizi's face froze, looking a little embarrassed and guilty.

"Kassidy! You can't just look at things on the surface. Noemi hasn't woken up yet, indicating that she's not at all cured. What if the light comes back? We have to take precautions!" Conor looked solemn.

"What's the matter? That's nonsense! Although I don't know medical skills, I'm not blind yet." Kassidy shouted.

Since spitting out the poisonous blood, Noemi's face and physical signs had returned to normal, and she behaved very calmly.

Compared with the previous ups and downs during Zizi's treatment, there was obviously a huge difference.

Furthermore, Dustin used a lot of energy when receiving treatment.

It was definitely not a fraud.

"It's useless to say all this. Unless this guy can revive Noemi, I will never believe in his medical skills." Conor said it angrily.

"You...you are so unreasonable!" Kassidy looked angry.

“Actually, I think what Mr. Conor said is quite reasonable. Human life is at stake, so we can’t be careless. If Dr. Rhys is really capable, then it shouldn’t be difficult to revive the patient, right?” At this time, Zizi said it coldly.

“You quack! How can you speak here?!” Cassidy turned around and glared.

“Cassidy! Don’t be rude! Doctor Wang is a leader in the medical field. Although he made some small mistakes this time, it did not hinder his knowledge. Furthermore, he considers your sister’s safety. We can’t take any risks!” Conor said it righteously.

“This...” Cassidy frowned and hesitated.

Although Conor’s attitude was a bit excessive, in the final analysis, he was worried about Noemi’s safety.

Before Noemi fully woke up, there was indeed some controversy.

“Dr. Rhy, I would like to ask, How long will it take for my sister to wake up?” Cassidy turned around and asked.

“Your sister is very weak right now.” It’s normal for her to go to sleep for three to five days. When she wakes up, it depends on her physical condition.” Dustin said calmly.

“She needs to sleep for three to five days? Isn’t this... a bit too long?” Cassidy frowned slightly.

“Cassidy! Did you hear that? This guy is just stalling for time. If he had to wait three to five days, he would have escaped long ago.” Conor fanned the flames.

“If you insist on your sister waking up now, there is nothing you can do. It’s just that she has to recover more slowly in the future. There may be some hidden diseases left. Of course, it’s up to you to choose how to do it.” Dustin said.

Noemi was extremely weak, and forcefully awakening her would cause a hundred harms but no benefit.
